JOSEPH J. GEHRING EXPLAINS WHY H. L. CASTLE HAS FAILED TO DISCUSS PRUDENTIAL TRUST

In a Letter to Assignee of Defunct Bank, He Tells of Questionable Transaction Concerning a State Deposit.

In light of the startling statements made by Joseph J. Gehring in an open letter to the Mercantile Trust Company, assignee of the defunct Prudential Trust Company, it is not difficult to understand why Homer L. Castle has been afraid to discuss from the stump his connection with this wrecked financial institution.

Castle has been traveling up and down this state making charges against banks and individuals in connection with state deposits. While he charged all sorts of things against others, he thought the skeleton of his Prudential transactions was safely concealed in the closet.

Castle was a director in the Prudential Trust Company. He says he was of the dummy type, but according to the letter of Mr. Gehring he was quite active when it came to certain things. In an interview published in The Gazette on October 24, 1905, in which he was asked if the Prudential had a state deposit, Castle replied:

CASTLE AND GEHRING DIFFER.

"It had at one time a small amount, but at the time it closed it had none. There are no state moneys tied up at present in the receivership."

Why there are no state moneys tied up in the receivership is explained by the following letter of Mr. Gehring to the Mercantile Trust Company:

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 2, 1905.

Mercantile Trust Company,
413 Wood Street, City.

Dear Sirs:

As one of the creditors and depositors of the Prudential Trust Company of this city, which, through its board of directors, decided, on Tuesday, June 21, 1904, to close its doors on account of its insolvency, I desire to call your attention, as assignee of said trust company, to the following facts:

On June 20, 1904, as will appear by my bank book, I deposited with the Prudential Trust Company the sum of $2,050, which, with previous deposits, makes the amount I had on deposit when the company closed its doors, $6,720.76. I am informed, on what I believe to be reliable information, that at the time of the failure of said Prudential Trust Company the state had on deposit with this company the sum of $5,000; that Homer L. Castle, Stephen Stone and others were on the bond to the state for such state moneys as might be loaned to said company; that they were at this time counsel for, and members of the board of directors of said Prudential Trust Company; that on June 22, 1904, after the trust company had decided to close its doors, $5,000 of its funds were removed, and on the same day, the state treasurer, by draft, drew on Homer L. Castle and Stephen Stone, individually, for the amount which had been withdrawn from the funds of the Prudential Trust Company, and due the state, namely, $5,000, and on the next day Mr. Stone went to the deposit vaults of another trust company, where he had a private box, and took therefrom, in cash, the sum of $5,000, and paid over the same in satisfaction of the state treasurer's draft on him and Homer L. Castle, and in exchange therefor received the bond which the state held against them and others.

I am advised that the removal of said funds from the Prudential Trust Company, under these circumstances, was unlawful, and as a creditor I ask that you take the proper legal steps to compel the repayment of said $5,000 to the Prudential Trust Company, or to you as its assignee, for general distribution to myself and other creditors.

If you desire further information on this subject, please call on my counsel, John C. Haymaker.

Very truly yours,
JOSEPH J. GEHRING.

After one has perused the above letter it will be difficult for the reader to agree with Castle there were no state moneys in the trust company when it decided to close its doors. The letter also shows that Castle has been suppressing the most interesting story in his possession touching on the question of state deposits. The Gazette has repeatedly asked him to discuss the affairs of the Prudential on the stump. He has dodged it, preferring to talk of the "battle for the enthronement of righteous in civic affairs."

Castle Has Been Silent.

In his speeches he has talked of banks which are real banks. It is probable that he did not mean the Prudential. Probably he did mean the Prudential when he said it was a badge of dishonor to have a state deposit. He has been careful to say nothing about the right or wrong of banks which make the state a preferred creditor, especially when the directors are on the bond of the commonwealth for the safety of the state money.

The letter of Mr. Gehring will be interesting to the depositors of the wrecked bank. They now see an opportunity to get a chance to share in the $5,000 which apparently belonged to the depositors.

Castle has run wild in this campaign, shooting the bullets made for him by others. He has cared nothing about the truthfulness of his statements. For a number of them he will have to answer in a court of justice after this election. If the Mercantile Trust Company takes note of the letter of Mr. Gehring, he will also be given an opportunity to explain the serious allegations made therein. In view of the assertions made by Mr. Gehring, coupled with the fact that Castle has been afraid to discuss the affairs of the Prudential, it is not probable the people of the state will put much credence in the slanderous statements made by him throughout this campaign.

Defense of Castle.

The following telegram to The Gazette from its Philadelphia correspondent last night shows what Castle has to say, but not from the stump:

"Homer L. Castle read the letter of Joseph J. Gehring just before he made his address in the Academy of Music. Mr. Castle was on the stage, but came out when told that The Gazette correspondent had an important message for him. In the pressroom he very carefully read the Gehring letter and then said:

"'I do not propose to answer this from the stage, if that's what you want.'

"'The Gazette wants your answer. It makes no request for a declaration from the stage,' Mr. Castle was told.

"'Well, all I have to say is that the state treasurer did not at any time make a draft upon me for state deposits in the Prudential Trust Company. Neither, so far as I know, were any drafts made upon Mr. Stone.

Remembers of Some Money.

"'The Prudential Trust Company, I remember, did have some state money on deposit. The state treasurer asked for this money, and I think it was paid back in installments of $5,000 a month, all of it being returned to the state treasurer before the bank closed its doors. This is my recollection of the transaction, but I am certain that the treasurer made no draft upon me and I did not personally have anything to do with the payment of $5,000 mentioned in this letter.

"'I am not acquainted with Mr. Gehring and know nothing in regard to his having had an account with the bank. This is all I care to say on the subject.'

"Though Mr. Castle was much interested in the Gehring letter, he was not anxious to discuss it, and what he did say was prompted by direct and persistent questioning."

Attorney Stephen Stone, of the firm of Stone & Stone, when asked to make a statement regarding the letter of Mr. Gehring, said:

Stone Does Not Deny.

"I am not certain that Mr. Gehring had a deposit with the Prudential Trust Company, though he may be a depositor. I have stated, and it is still my opinion, that the Prudential Trust Company will pay out dollar for dollar.

"This matter cannot be definitely stated until a great many of the assets of the Prudential Trust Company have been realized on and turned into cash. We have been spending a great deal of time and thought in working out these assets, and it is a slow process to convert them into cash. However, I have not lost hope in the matter. Considerable cash has been realized already and just as soon as sufficient cash has been received to declare a 50 per cent dividend to the depositors it is the intention of all concerned to make the payment.

"This statement which has been shown me is apparently gotten up with the idea of its having a political effect and of creating a greater panicky feeling in the minds of depositors than now exists. Therefore, rather than go into a controversy in the newspapers relative to the matter I decline to say anything whatever."

"Matters such as this," continued Mr. Stone, "should be kept quiet, at least for a time, as the affairs of many of the banks of this city are in such a shape that a continued 'rehash' of the circumstances connected with the failure of several institutions will cause great embarrassment, if not serious trouble, so I think it would be well if officials concerned and the newspapers of the city were to quiet the public until affairs have assumed a normal condition."

ORGAN'S TRICK AT FOUNDER'S DAY CAUSES FUN

Smallest Audience in Years Attends the Annual Celebration at Carnegie Institute.

The big organ in the Pittsburgh Carnegie music hall at the tenth annual Founder's day celebration yesterday afternoon played the comedian in a fashion that quickly transformed a dignified assemblage into a riot of levity. After Gen. A. W. Greely and Melville E. Stone had made the addresses of the day and President W. N. Frew of the board of trustees of the institute was reading the names of the prize-winners in the art galleries competition, a deep bass pipe in the instrument let go a long hoarse note that sounded like the dying throes of an agonized diplodocus.

The startling sound continued half a minute and interrupted Mr. Frew just as he announced that the bronze medal offered as the third prize had been awarded to Childe Hassam for his painting entitled "June." The picture is weirdly impressionistic and is distinguished as being the only canvas in the collection which shows nude figures. The applause lasted several minutes after the strange music ceased, and Mr. Frew, who was at first picturesquely embarrassed, remarked that the organ had furnished a gratuitous number on the program.

"After Mr. W. K. Steiner has played the postlude, the audience will be dismissed to inspect the collection in the art galleries," said Mr. Frew, resuming his seat.

Organ Was Silent.

Mr. Steiner walked down to the organist's seat and commenced tramping the pedal keys. Then he tried the finger board. Not a sound was heard. He worked the stops and tramped again. The organ refused to respond and Mr. Frew announced that the exercises were at an end.

Everybody enjoyed the joke and the audience filed out laughing at the peculiar prank of the instrument, while the men on the platform were puzzled to find a reason for the rolship.

"It's very plain," said Col. Samuel Harden Church, addressing Mr. Frew and Mr. Stone. "You were interrupted just the moment you awarded the third prize to that Hassam picture, which some of the visitors on press night said was the dizziest in the galleries. Are you surprised that the organ could remain silent after that? This is a good, quiet community."

The organ's trick was the only thing

ARRESTS IN SUIT CASE MYSTERY ARE MADE

One Prisoner Confesses to Disposal of Susan Geary's Body After the Other Cut It Up.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Boston's suit case murder mystery was cleared up today by the arrest in this city of Louis Crawford, alias Albert H. Emery, a theatrical agent, and of William Howard, alias William Hunt.

Howard made a complete confession tonight. He said that on the night of September 20 he and Crawford dropped from a ferryboat leaving East Boston after 9 o'clock the dismembered body of Susan Geary contained in two dress suit cases and a satchel.

According to the story told by Howard, although he did not see the operation performed on Susan Geary, there is little doubt in the minds of the police that it took place in Crawford's rooms at 178 Tremont street, Boston.

Crawford told him, Howard says, that a woman had died in a hospital and he had hired to get rid of the body. Howard asked how much there was in it for him.

"I'll give you $100 if you'll help me out in the affair," Howard said Crawford told him. The arrangement was made.

Crawford told Howard that two leather suit cases in a corner of the room contained the body of the young woman, whose name up to that time had not been mentioned to him. On a sofa was a hand satchel, Howard declares, Crawford told him held the girl's head. That satchel has not been recovered.

TO TESTIFY IN BOSTON.

Inspector McGarr Completes His Investigation Here and Returns Home.

Police Inspector James E. McGarr of Boston, who has been in this city investigating the dress suit case mystery, left for home yesterday. McGarr said he completed his examination of the members of "The Shepherd King" Company.

Rita Marie and Eleanor Barron, members of the company, who were intimate friends of Susan Geary, the dead girl, told the officer they knew the girl's condition when she disappeared and that she intended to submit to an operation. These girls will be summoned to Boston when the trial is called.

Vienna, Too, Has a Mob.

VIENNA, Nov. 2.—Great disorders, in which 80 persons were injured, occurred tonight as the result of a great Socialist meeting in behalf of universal suffrage.

FLAG OF FINLAND RAISED AGAINST THE CZAR

The Polish Capital Is Also the Scene of Bloody Demonstrations.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

HAPARANDA, SWEDEN, Nov. 2.—The Finnish flag was hoisted Wednesday at Tornea, Kemi and Uleaborg, Russia.

HELSINGFORS, FINLAND, Nov. 2.—The crisis here continues. About 4,000 volunteers have been enrolled and the hotels transformed into hospitals, under volunteer Red Cross detachments. The excitement is high and there has been much bloodshed.

WARSAW, Nov. 2.—There was fighting during the course of the day at several points, the infantry firing on and the cavalry charging the crowds. Three persons were killed and 42 wounded. Swords and butts of rifles were freely employed in the dispersal of the demonstrators. The barristers met today and sent a telegram to the emperor protesting against the massacre of the people and demanding the withdrawal of the troops, and the abrogation of martial law.

Thirty persons were killed and over 100 wounded during conflicts here last night. The Social Democrats this afternoon issued a proclamation calling for a revolution. Polish flags were displayed from many balconies.

ROSTOFF-ON-DON, Nov. 2.—Despite the appeal of a Jewish deputation to the governor from Vladikavkes, it is reported that 15 persons have been killed in the riots and that the Cossacks and soldiers are sharing the plunder.

WANTS GRAVES KEPT GREEN.

Widow of Four Husbands Provides Well for Their Care in Her Last Testament.

READING, PA., Nov. 2.—(Special.)—Marriage was not a failure with Mrs. Polly Fisher, whose will has just been probated. She tried it four times, and that she never forgot it to her dying day is evidenced by the peculiar bequests in her will.

Her estate is valued at $5,000. She leaves one-fifth of the estate to each of four churches, in each of whose yards one of her four husbands are buried. The churches are: Leesport, where No. 1, Daniel Naragong, lies resting; Zion, where No. 2, George Hoffman, awaits the trumpet; Moslem, where No. 3, William Heffner, lies under the sod, and Epler's, where William Fisher, the last, is at ease.

CARNAGE AT ODESSA

Jews Are Butchered and Their Stores and Homes Looted by "Loyalists."

CHILDREN HACKED TO PIECES

ODESSA, Nov. 2.—The massacre of Jews continues. They are being hunted down in the streets and killed and beaten, while their shops are given over to pillage. The streets are in possession of a wild, disorderly mob of roughs. Several bombs have been thrown.

Anarchy is rampant here. Killing and plundering by bands formed of hundreds of "Loyalists" continued this morning. Attacks on Jews are incessant. The night was made hideous, bodies of "Loyalists," with whom the police are fraternizing, marching through the principal streets, bearing national flags and portraits of the emperor, singing the national hymn, smashing everything in their way and looting shops and houses. Hospital wagons passed through the streets incessantly, carrying off the killed, wounded and mutilated. The populace is panic-stricken.

The troops wreaked terrible vengeance on the residents of three houses from balconies of which shots were fired by unknown persons upon the soldiers. The latter immediately stormed the houses and with unheard-of barbarity massacred all the inmates.

Policemen Fire on Cossacks.

It is persistently asserted that the unknown persons who fired on the troops were disguised policemen, who purposely provoked the troops.

The city is a dismal sight. The streets are filled with Cossacks, patrols and flying detachments of the Red Cross, which follow the bands of murderous rioters. The firing has been uninterrupted the whole day.

Many hundreds have been killed or wounded today. The Cossacks eagerly attack the student militia, which is courageously trying to stem the bands who are massacreing and pillaging principally in the Jewish quarter. The looters openly divide the goods, the Cossacks in many cases participating in the proceeds of the robberies.

The rector of the university has sent a telegram to Count Witte imploring him to immediately dismiss Gov. Reinhardt, who is held responsible for the outbreak, as otherwise a catastrophe is unavoidable. Count Witte's answer has not yet been received. Even the telegraph offices were closed most of the day for the first time since they opened.

Women and Children Butchered.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—A dispatch to the Evening Standard from Odessa today says: The city rings with the reports of rifles and revolvers and occasionally a volley is fired. Every house and tenement is bolted and barred. The infantry patrols are doing their duty perfunctorily, declining to fire on the mobs unless they themselves are attacked. The Cossacks are said to have lost over 100 men by bombs and shots from windows. Cossack patrols carry carbines and have their fingers on the triggers. The streets are absolutely unsafe for civilians.

The casualties yesterday are believed to have amounted to 5,000 killed and wounded. In the Jewish quarters bodies still strew the streets and sidewalks. Jewish woman and children were strangled and hacked to pieces in the streets, where the mobs gained the upper hand. A Red Cross doctor says: "The Kishineff horrors were repeated a hundred fold. The students alone saved the city from wholesale sack and massacre. The military are now placing 100 machine guns at various points. Twenty-six carts full of wounded have just passed my door."

ANDREW CARNEGIE INDICATES GROWTH OF TECHNICAL SCHOOLS

Skibo Castle, Dornoch, Sutherland.
October 13, 1905.

My Dear Mr. Church: I am delighted to hear of the forthcoming Founder's day celebration, and congratulate you upon your two distinguished speakers. I am happy to know that the ceremony can be held in the hall and that we have a right to expect the opening of the new building next November. I am also happy to think of the Technical school adjoining the Institute. Visitors will be able to see it in operation—the beginning of a work which is to grow with Pittsburgh's growth, and that is not to be small. I am looking forward to the opening next year with deep interest, when I shall have the pleasure of greeting a Pittsburgh audience for the first time in several years. Always very truly your,

ANDREW CARNEGIE.

of the palace this morning by 3,500 "Loyalists," carrying imperial portraits and ikons and singing the national hymn. The general earnestly entreated the assemblage to disperse and go home, but with ringing cheers the "Loyalists" resumed marching through the city.

The sound of firing is again moving westward toward the Jewish quarters. The mobs swear they will not leave a single Jew alive.

A dispatch to a news agency from Odessa says that martial law was declared there this afternoon. The whole garrison has turned out and now occupies the city. Police control has also been reestablished. All citizens are forbidden to leave their homes after 9 o'clock in the evening, at which hour all lights must be out. Maxim guns have been placed in positions commanding a hundred streets.

Massacres in Many Towns.

KIEFF, Nov. 2.—During demonstrations within the municipality today five persons were killed and 45 injured, six of them seriously.

RIEHSON, Nov. 2.—Workmen carrying the emperor's portrait attacked the Jewish shops yesterday and plundered the market. The governor threatened but did nothing. The Jews are in hiding.

SEBASTAPOL, Nov. 2.—Six persons were killed and 60 were wounded during the rioting yesterday. All the banks, schools and stores are closed and the houses throughout the city are boarded up. The Black Sea squadron, with Vice Admiral Biroleff's pennant flying, arrived here today from the Turkish coast.

RADOM, Nov. 2.—The anti-government demonstrations yesterday ended in widespread rioting. A mob destroyed the telegraph poles, burned government property, barricaded the streets and threw bombs at the troops. The soldiers fired volleys at the rioters. There were many victims both civilians and soldiers.

ROSTOVE-ON-DON, Nov. 2.—The whole town today is in the hands of rioters who are plundering by wholesale. Firing is frequent in the streets. Many persons have been killed or injured. Wounded people are being taken to the hospital every moment. The clergy left the churches in attempts to pacify the rioters, but their efforts have been unavailing.

Funerals Every Half Hour.

MINSK, Nov. 2.—Doctors of the Jewish hospital worked all night on the wounded brought in from the railroad station, where the troops fired volleys at the demonstrators, killing many and wounding great numbers. All work is at a standstill. The shops are closed. Funerals are of half-hourly occurrence, the bodies being conveyed in wagons. Already 54 persons have been interred in the Jewish cemetery.

OREL, Nov. 2.—Anti-Jewish riots have broken out here. Shops have been looted and many people have been killed or injured.

TASHKEND, Nov. 2.—Peaceful celebrations of the issuing of the imperial manifesto granting Russia a constitution were dispersed by troops yesterday. Cossacks and soldiers fired three volleys. Many were killed or wounded.

VIAZMA, Nov. 2.—During the celebration yesterday of the granting of a constitution to Russia, Jewish demonstrators marched to the prison and compelled the release of a few political prisoners. The procession was set upon by a mob with shouts of "kill the Jews." A free fight and a panic followed. The mob then hurried to the Jewish quarter, sacked the shops and broke into the residences, destroying everything and committing horrible atrocities. The authorities were powerless. The rioting continued all night and is still in progress.

MOSCOW, Nov. 2.—A party of students returning from the prison with liberated political prisoners today met a crowd of patriots and in a fight that followed 10 persons were wounded by revolver shots.

TVER, Nov. 2.—A rioting mob set fire to the lower story of the zemstvo building today, but the occupants escaped. There have been encounters between the troops and rioters and many have been injured.

To Discuss the Russian Problem.

The local Fraternal Russian Revolutionary Aid society will hold a mass meeting in the Forbes Street Turner hall at 8 o'clock tonight. Dr. H. Jidlovsky, a delegate of the revolutionary party in Russia, will speak on "What the Revolutionists Want and the Jews' Interest in Russia." The local society has sent $1,500 to the aid of the revolutionists.

Celebrants Busy in Allegheny.

Allegheny held its postponed mardi gras parade last night. The affair was largely confined to the streets in the lower part of the city, but it was a success in every particular. Several thousand masqueraders were out and made merry for several hours in costumes that were as original as varied.

FIRST ORCHESTRA CONCERT PLEASES

Opening of the Eleventh Season Auspicious Despite Signs of Nervousness in Spots.

WARM RECEPTION FOR PAUR

By CHARLES N. BOYD.

The eleventh season of the Pittsburgh orchestra was opened last night at Carnegie Music hall, when Emil Paur's baton fell for the first bar of the "Oberon" overture. As the soft notes of the fairy music welled forth the audience settled down with a comfortable feeling of relief after the excitement of Founder's day and the bustle preceding the concert.

Pittsburgh audiences always seem nervous over the opening of the season, as if the orchestra would fail to materialize or as if something unpropitious were in the air; perhaps it is the excitement of the moment. But at any rate such apprehensions are soon quieted, and are succeeded by an air of satisfaction; satisfaction that Pittsburgh has such an orchestra, such a conductor and such a pleasant series of concerts in prospect.

As the men filed out on the stage many familiar faces were noted. Here and there was a man who made his debut in the Pittsburgh orchestra last night. Popular appreciation of the concertmaster was audibly shown on the appearance of Mr. von Kunits.

Ovation for the Conductor.

Mr. Paur was given an ovation in which both orchestra and audience joined, and a stranger would have no difficulty in perceiving the esteem in which the conductor of the Pittsburgh orchestra is held. After many pleasant acknowledgments of his welcome Mr. Paur turned to the orchestra and the music began.

The commendable policy of the orchestra commitee is to dispense with the soloist at the first concert of the season, in order that attention to the orchestra itself should be undivided and that any honors be shown to the organization itself. Consequently last evening's program was a purely orchestral proposition. The choice of the program was wise and excellent, for it included selections to please every taste; Weber and Beethoven for the classicists, Wagner for the Wagnerites and Strauss for the ultra-moderns. Every number on the program had in it that which appeals to the so-called "popular" taste, and still the program was a model of musical propriety.

First Time in Pittsburgh.

The Strauss "Love Scene," from the one act opera "Feuersnoth," was heard last night for the first time in Pittsburgh, but Mr. Paur introduced it to New York several years ago. With the other numbers Pittsburgh audiences are more or less familiar, if the occasional performances of these standard works may be allowed to constitute familiarity.

The performance was not perfection, but the shortcomings are what might be expected with the comparatively short time for rehearsal and the nervousness incidental to the occasion. Some of the most difficult things of the evening were faultless and some comparatively easy figures proved misleading. A lack of proper balance and occasional faulty intonation were the main difficulties. These and other shortcomings will, of course, be remedied by Mr. Paur before the season progresses far. Had Mr. Paur's intentions been fully realized last evening the performance would have been an unalloyed delight, for his readings were con amore, and evidently the selections were those for which he has a strong preference. He dispensed with the scores for the Weber overture and the symphony.

Wagner Would Have Been Pleased.

The opening of the overture light and dainty was beautifully done, the crash was duly unexpected, and the allegro generally very well done. Wagner would have been pleased with Mr. Paur's interpretation, the modifications of the tempo especially being just as Wagner insisted they should be. The symphony did not fare so well since it lacked that sureness and repose which is so essential. The introduction was occasionally uneven as if there was some unfavorable premonition in regard to the first movement. The allegretto, being the most familiar and least exciting movement of the symphony, was less strenuous for the players, and was well done. The scherzo also sounded well, and met with hearty appreciation. But the first and last movements are difficult propositions for a first concert, and the customary unanimity of the Pittsburgh orchestra was not always in evidence in these sections.

The Richard Strauss "Feuersnoth" scene should be heard again at these concerts, for it was not appreciated at its first hearing as it should be. In it the orchestra appeared to excellent advantage, and the gorgeous scoring was adequately reproduced.

At Home on Wagner's Scores.

The Wagner numbers, the "Funeral March" and "Siegfried's Rhine Journey" from "Die Goetterdaemmerung," seemed to find the orchestra still more at home, and the nervousness of the first part of the evening seemed to disappear. The interpretation of the "Funeral March," that most eloquent of funeral orations, was magnificent, and a more impressive performance is seldom heard. The "Rhine Journey" was properly enthusiastic, and its difficulties were easily overcome by the orchestra, the French horns in particular being fortunate in those places where disaster sometimes lurks.

By the next concerts the orchestra will doubtless be in much better fettle, and the standard set by Mr. Paur last year more nearly attained. The programs for next week are entitled "First People's Concert," and include the fifth symphony of Tschaikowsky, two modern French symphonic poems, Mozart's "Figaro" overture, and the second rhapsody of Liszt. Jean Gerardy, 'cellist, will be the soloist.

Last evening's program will be repeated tomorrow afternoon at 2:15. Tickets will be sold at the downtown ticket office until Saturday noon and at the music hall after 1:30 p. m. The concerts of next week will be according to the usual arrangement of Friday evening and Saturday afternoon.

SENATOR KNOX HERE FOR TONIGHT'S BANQUET

Other Guests for the Chamber of Commerce Event Will Reach the City This Morning.

The annual banquet of the chamber of commerce will be held at the Hotel Schenley tonight. Although the Chinese minister, Sir Chentung Liang Cheng, is the guest of the evening, interest centers in the speech which Senator P. C. Knox will make on the President's ideas on railroad rate legislation.

The welcoming speech of the evening will be made by John Eaton, president of the chamber of commerce. Congressman John Dalzell will be toastmaster. Gen. A. W. Greely will speak on "The Army of the United States—the Civil as Well as the Military Factor in the Country's Development." The Chinese minister will speak on "The Commercial Relations Between the United States and China." Melville E. Stone, general manager of the Associated Press, has chosen as his subject, "High Court of Public Opinion." Senator Knox will then speak and Congressman James E. Burke will close with an address on "The Chamber of Commerce." More than 250 guests will be present.

E. B. Taylor, fourth vice president of the Pennsylvania lines west, and George H. Anderson, vice president and manager of the chamber of commerce, left for Washington yesterday in Mr. Taylor's private car. They will return with the Chinese minister this morning. The party will leave the train at Shadyside and Sir Liang will be taken on a special train over the Pittsburgh Terminal Company's lines to view the industries of Pittsburgh. At 1 p. m. Samuel Harden Church will entertain the Chinese minister at luncheon at the Country club. It is probable that in the afternoon the Chinese minister will meet informally his own countrymen who are residents of Pittsburgh.

Senator Knox arrived last night. He got off the Chicago Limited from the east at East Liberty and was met by Judge James S. Young. Mr. Knox was driven to the Hotel Schenley.

EDWARDS FACES A GRAVE CHARGE

DEFENDANT MAKES A DENIAL

Select Councilman Edward J. Edwards of the Second ward was charged yesterday with corrupt solicitation by County Detective Robinson. The offense, Robinson says, consisted in Edwards approaching two clerks in the county commissioners' office and asking them for official election paraphernalia for the purpose of using them at the election on Tuesday.

The information was sworn to by Robinson on information received before Alderman S. J. Toole. The warrant was handed to Constable Thomas A. Joyce, who immediately went to hunt for Edwards. The latter was found on Fifth avenue at 7 p. m. and gave $1,000 bail before Alderman J. V. McMasters for his appearance at the hearing to be held tomorrow between 2 and 3 p. m.

Robinson said that two clerks, later learned to be David Davies and Samuel McClatchey of the county commissioner's office, told District Attorney Robert E. Stewart and his first assistant, John S. Robb, Jr., that on Wednesday Edwards came to them individually in the county commissioners' office and asked them to furnish him with a duplicate assortment of official ballots, registry lists, return sheets and tally sheets; that is, the clerks were to give Edwards personally, Robinson says, as many official ballots as were to be turned over to the official election board, besides a duplicate assortment of the other papers.

Serious Infraction of the Law.

It is against the law for any person other than the commissioners and the election boards to have an official ballot in his possession, and it is unlawful for the persons charged with the care of such ballots to give any of them to others than those entitled to them, therefore, Robinson says, District Attorneys Stewart and Robb considered the alleged act of Edwards to be corrupt solicitation and drew up the information charging him with that offense.

Councilman Edwards was seen last night. He said:

"All I know is that I was told an information had been made against me before Alderman Toole, charging me with corrupt solicitation. I absolutely deny the charge. I am in the county commissioner's office every day and know all the boys there. I was there every day this week. I absolutely deny, however, asking any of them for any duplicate ballots or in any way intimating the desire to have any of them."

The commissioners usually print twice the number of official ballots needed, so as to have a supply on hand in case any are destroyed by accident or design. In fact, on election day double the number of ballots needed are sent into each election district, but the election board is required to keep a strict account of them and to return all the unused ballots and even the mutilated ones.

How the Information Reads.

That the defendant above named did, on the first of November, A. D. 1905, in the county aforesaid, in the office of the county commissioners thereof, unlawfully, willfully, fraudulently and corruptly solicit certain officers and employes, then and there charged with the duty of preserving and caring for the official ballots, return sheets and tally sheets for the general election, to be held on Tuesday following the first Monday of November, A. D. 1905, to furnish to him, the said Edward J. Edwards, prior to the date for the holding of the said general election, duplicates of return sheets, tally sheets, registry lists and official ballots in like number as by law required to be furnished by said county commissioners to the election officers of the several precincts of the Second ward, city of Pittsburgh, for the use of said officers and the voters thereof at said general election for state and county officers, contrary to the act of the general assembly of this commonwealth.

PRINCE LOUIS ADMIRES THE YANKEE MIDSHIPMEN

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ANNAPOLIS, MD., Nov. 2.—Glasses clinked with a ring of good fellowship at the dinner of Admiral Evans on board the Mayflower tonight, to Admiral Prince Louis of Battenburg, and the officers of his squadron. Prince Louis proposed the health of President Roosevelt and Admiral Evans the health of King Edward.

The dinner was the concluding feature of the second day of Prince Louis' visit to America. The spectacular feature of the day was the review of the brigade of midshipmen on the parade ground this afternoon, followed by dress parade and the reception of Admiral Sands for the British and American officers.

At the review of the midshipmen Prince Louis, it was noticed, closely scrutinized each man. He was frank in his expressions of congratulation to Admiral Sands over the excellent appearance and bearing of the future American commanders, saying: "I have heard much of your academy, but what I have seen this afternoon confirms all and bears additional witness to the thoroughness of your system."

OUTSIDE OF BIG CONCERN.

Denial Is Made of Steel Corporation Having an Interest in LaBelle Purchase.

The connection of the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company with the deal for the LaBelle Iron works of Wheeling and Steubenville was positively denied yesterday at the offices of the company in the Frick building.

The deal is asserted to be with interests which do not propose to identify the properties with the United States Steel Corporation. In a statement by the directors of the LaBelle concern, it was said that the options are being given to "Mr. Ols, a prominent iron man of Pittsburgh, Youngstown and New Castle."

Alexis W. Thompson, the former president of the Republic Iron and Steel Company, who is credited with a plan to enter the steel business again on a large scale as an independent, is being prominently mentioned in connection with the project.

CHARGES NOT SUSTAINED.

Complaints Against Captain Oursler Collapse Before the Court of Inquiry.

The charges against Capt. Howard B. Oursler of Company I, Fourteenth regiment, N. G. P., accusing him of mutilating state property, of padding the rolls and of altering official papers, collapsed at last night's session of the court of inquiry held by Maj. John C. Dunkle and Lieut. Samuel L. Johnston of the Fifth regiment. The testimony will be forwarded to Maj.-Gen. Charles Miller and thence to Adjt.-Gen. Thomas J. Stewart, and the captain's exoneration is almost certain to follow.

Private Arthurs, a former member of the company, who brought the charges, was his worst witness and nothing was proved to show that Capt. Oursler was guilty.

PATRICK DOLAN TALKS OF HOSACK

FROST FOR JOHN B. LARKIN

Patrick Dolan, president of the United Mine Workers, was the principal speaker at a big Republican rally in Carnegie last night held under the auspices of the George Z. Hosack Republican club. There were 1,500 voters present.

The meeting was presided over by William A. Love of Carnegie. The first speaker, Attorney Ulysses G. Hogan of Pittsburgh, said he was a Citizen formerly and had made 30 speeches for that party which made him feel like 30 cents.

Patrick Dolan said this was his first political speech. He said:

"This meeting was called in honor of your illustrious townsman, George Z. Hosack, candidate for county treasurer, but I came here in the interest of William Dodds."

Somebody asked: "How about Hosack?"

Mr. Dolan replied: "If you think enough of Hosack to vote for him I have no objection. When Hosack opened and controlled the mine at Bridgeville there is no getting away from the fact that he was as fair a man as was in the country. He is a creature of circumstance. Through his ability he was made president of the Cleveland Gas & Coal Company and it is unfair for any man to say that he should do more than he is doing for the workingman. He is paying more than his competitors."

Asked for Republican Votes.

The speaker declared the whole Citizens party ticket was a bunch of "soreheads" and that he did not want to be identified with them. He also advised the workingman to go out and get votes for the Republican ticket.

Congressman A. J. Barchfeld made a strong appeal to every citizen to vote for the soldiers' memorial hall, and likened the campaign to the Russo-Japanese war, in which he said the Republican Jap would beat the Citizens bear.

Red fire, a brass band, street parade and good speakers were the features of the opening of the Republican campaign in Sharpsburg last night, and the Y. M. C. A. auditorium could not accommodate the audience. Michael Coza, a Sharpsburg Italian, addressed his countrymen in the audience; J. Winfred Holmes, a colored attorney, was accorded an ovation by the local colored Republican club, and Major A. B. Hay, Perry A. Shaner and William M. Benham made addresses. Burgess George S. Walters opened the meeting with a brief address and Dr. S. W. S. Dinsmore presided.

Frost for Larkin.

Controller John B. Larkin climbed Mt. Washington last night to discuss the issues of the campaign. When as an Orphan he appeared in the Thirty-second ward, Maennerchor hall was packed. Since he has deserted and signed up with the Bigelow-Verner machine, the good people of that locality have deserted him. Last night he spoke to less than 200 people and most of them work for the city and county. The Republican ticket will receive a big majority in the ward.

The Republicans of the Sixth ward held a meeting last night in the Forbes school, which was attended by over 400 voters. Great enthusiasm was displayed throughout the meeting.

Representative Laurence B. Cook, who is Chairman of the Sixth ward Republican committee, presided, and opened the meeting with a brief address in which he asked the loyal Republicans of the ward to get out and work faithfully on election day for the success of the straight Republican ticket and the result would not be in doubt.

Assistant District Attorney Albert J. Edwards made a strong address in which he attacked the record of the Citizens party during its administration for its failure to fulfill the promises made three years ago.

Irwin K. Campbell, candidate for county commissioner, in his address compared the candidates on the Republican ticket with the Citizens candidates and made a strong plea for votes for the soldiers memorial hall. Addresses were also made by Attorney A. C. Stein and Robert P. McKee.

Allegheny Meetings.

Three well-attended Republican meetings were held in Allegheny last night. One was held in the Colored Baptist church on Scott street, in the Fourth ward, and was presided over by Tony Thorton. Another was in the clubhouse of the Republican Progressive association of the Tenth ward on Charles street, while the third was in Hall Grove school house in the Fifteenth ward. Ex-Judge Elliott Rodgers, L. K. White and Committee Chairman Thomas J. Ford, made four of the meetings, and each delivered addresses. The Republicans of the Fifth and Sixth wards, Allegheny, will hold a meeting tonight in the Sixth ward school hall, which will be addressed by ex-Judge Rodgers, Committee Chairman Ford and others.

A special meeting of the True Blue association will be held tomorrow night at Forty-third and Butler streets. Jury Commissioner John Harvey is president and William Lee secretary of the organization.

Following are among the Republican meetings which will be held this evening; Rose street school, Thirteenth ward; Brownsville road and Carbon street, Mt. Oliver; East street school, Tenth ward, Allegheny; North Homestead school, Twenty-second ward, Pittsburgh; Beltzhoover school, Thirty-eighth ward; Bank hall, Coraopolis; Avalon borough hall, Avalon; Springfield public school, Twelfth ward, Pittsburgh; E. B. Gray's hall, Sewickley; Brushton avenue school, Thirty-seventh ward, Pittsburgh; Sixth ward public school, Allegheny. In addition to these many more meetings are being held under the auspices of ward, borough and township committees.

CASTLE GREATLY MODIFIES HIS ATTACK ON PENROSE

No Longer Attempts to Connect Him in Any Manner With the Failure of Enterprise National Bank.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 2.—Homer Castle was the star attraction at the Academy of Music mass meeting tonight. W. H. Berry spoke and so did John C. Winston of the committee of 70. While Castle made a bitter attack on the private character of Senator Boise Penrose, he did not attempt to connect him in any manner with the Enterprise National bank failure.

Castle's speech was remarkable in many respects. One moment he was appealing to high heaven, the next he was telling a story so vulgar it cannot be repeated. From the sublime to the vulgar is but a breath with Castle, and the impression he made on the women who heard him must be left to imagination.

The meeting was opened with the singing of the "Battle Cry of Freedom" by the audience, led by a choir of students from the University of Pennsylvania. While Chairman Kline was delivering his opening address he was interrupted by the entrance of three men in costume representing the "Spirit of '76," who, with flag, rifle and drum, marched down the main aisle to the orchestra.

Wilkinsburg Republicans Rally.

Assembly hall, Wilkinsburg, was last night the scene of one of the liveliest mass meetings ever held in the borough. Republicans of the three wards filled the big hall. The meeting was preceded by a parade of the G. A. R. with two bands. The principal speakers at the hall were the Hon. James Francis Burke and Joseph A. Langfitt, Esq., who were cheered to the echo.

Pastor Lectures to Men's Club.

The first meeting of the Men's club of the Shady Avenue Baptist church was held last night in the lecture rooms of the church. The pastor of the church, the Rev. Dr. D. Stanton, lectured on "The Odds and Ends of European Travel." Music and a buffet lunch followed the lecture. This was the first of a series of winter meetings to be held by the club.

B. & O. TURNS IN FOR CITIZENS

STILL FINNEY IS NEUTRAL

Employes of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad are receiving instructions to turn in for the fusion county ticket in the Twenty-third ward. The company has about 1,500 men working for it and about 1,100 of the number vote in the Twenty-third ward.

A majority of the men who work for the railroad were until recently supporting the Republican candidates for county offices because they believed their election would insure honest government. Now they are told to switch their politics. The company expects favors from the city administration.

Robert Finney, general superintendent of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company in Pittsburgh, claims that he is neutral in this contest. He said the same thing in the February fight, while underlings in official capacities were busy seeing that the employes in the Twenty-third ward voted the Citizens ticket. They are doing the same thing today.

Next winter when congressional committees are investigating railroads, they will probably give some attention to the coercion of employes in their rights of franchise. The matter will also be discussed tonight at a Republican meeting held at Second avenue and Almeda street, Twenty-third ward. Despite the fact this powerful corporation is trying to deliver the ward to the Bigelow-Verner machine the Republican ticket will receive a majority of the votes cast next Tuesday.

Why Machine Wants to Win.

The Lincoln party in an address to the people of the county yesterday, said in discussing the county contest:

We submit as a reasonable proposition that the election of the Citizens-Democratic county ticket, backed as it is by the Bigelow-Wyman city rings, will make it practically hopeless to elect clean, independent men as mayors of the two cities, and capable and decent men to councils, and will encourage a still wilder carnival of franchise stealing, grafting, gambling and other crimes that have flourished under the protection of the two dishonest city administrations.

We cannot impress upon you more forcibly the direful situation confronting the people of Pittsburgh than was done by City Controller John B. Larkin in the following statement, given to the people on July 29, 1905:

"No man can restore the Citizens party to confidence while it has stolen goods in its pocket. There must be a true repentance and that repentance must include restitution by the repeal of the boulevard, bank and water grabs. Until this is done, the Citizens party cannot hope to enjoy the confidence of the voters of the city of Pittsburgh."

The statement is signed by the executive committee of the Allied Independent parties, composed of E. B. Clark, H. P. Davis, W. S. Guffey, John A. Martin, Joseph McClure, H. S. Paul, W. C. Reitz, George H. Stengel, W. H. Stevenson.

Purging Registry Lists.

Attempts to purge the registry lists of the city are keeping the courts busy. Hearings were held yesterday on petitions filed by the Republicans to purge the Second, Third and Fourth districts of the Seventh ward; the Third of the Fifth, and applications were filed by the Republicans to purge the lists of the First, Second and Third districts of the Ninth ward, the First of the Second, and the First and Second of the Fifth. The register assessors in these districts who are ruled to appear in court today are respectively: Frank Sweeney, James J. Logan, Thomas Murphy, Andrew Ramsey, John Galton and Max Lora.

The Citizens party filed petitions to purge the lists of the First, Second and Fourth districts of the First ward, where the register assessors are respectively: M. S. Joyce, Thomas O'Hara and Thomas Smithson. They ask that 265 names be stricken off. The hearings are set for 1 o'clock today, following the ones filed by the Republicans.

At yesterday's hearings many witnesses were called, the majority being women, keepers of boarding houses. Over 50 names were taken up and witnesses called to show that the majority of them had moved since the September registry. One of the witnesses, Mrs. Sallie Bates, colored, of 149 Elm street, did not respond when her name was called, and it was explained that she had refused to come. An attachment was issued for her and when she was brought into court she pleaded ignorance and said she did not know what they were talking about. Judge John A. Evans told her that made no difference, she should have obeyed the subpoena. He said she would have to pay the cost of the attachment.

Decision Reserved.

The exact number of names stricken from the various lists by the court will not be known until the court hands down its decision, for a mistake was discovered on the petitioners' lists and several names were asked to be stricken off that were not on the lists of the register. Most of those stricken off were men who had been boarding at the addresses given, but who had left since September.

Mrs. Clark, who keeps a boarding house at 13 Scott street, is moving today, and she does not know where her boarders are going. One, she said, is going to still board with her at No. 1308 Wilson street.

Marie Smith of No. 1 Federal street said that there was a number of names registered from her house of men who were not boarding there. She now has no boarders, but thought the men might have boarded in the rear of her house, which was known by the same number. It was not occupied now, she said, and on her testimony all those registered from that number were stricken from the list.

Deaths of a Week.

There were 113 death in the city last week, as compared to 119 in the same week last year. The principal causes were: Pneumonia, 10; consumption, 8; typhoid fever, 6; scarlet fever, 3; diphtheria, 5; heart disease, 7, and violence, 10. During the week there were reported 80 cases of typhoid fever, 28 of scarlet fever and 17 of diphtheria. Twelve cases of typhoid fever, 7 of scarlet fever and 6 of diphtheria were reported yesterday.

Catholics Observe All Souls' Day.

All Souls' day was observed in the Catholic churches with masses and special prayers for the dead yesterday morning. Masses were offered at 6:30, 7:30 and 8:30 o'clock, the last mass being a solemn high mass of requiem, at the Church of the Epiphany. The Rev. Father O'Connell, rector of the church, preached the sermon at the last mass. All the masses were attended by large congregations.

War Veterans Will Attend Meeting.

The Allegheny War Veterans' association will hold a meeting at their hall, North Diamond street, this evening. Tomorrow evening the old soldiers will show their loyalty to the Republican party by gathering at their hall and marching in a body to Carnegie hall, where the big Republican meeting will be held.

Eagles Hold Social Session.

Pittsburgh Aerie of Eagles held a social session in their hall, Fifth avenue and Smithfield street, last night in which professional talent from all the local theaters participated. WORKMEN STRUGGLING FOR RUSSIAN REPUBLIC

The Railway Men's Union at St. Petersburg Decides to Continue the Strike.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 3.—The council of the workmen's delegates at midnight issued a notice pointing out the necessity of arming workers for a decisive struggle for the convocation of a constituent assembly based on universal suffrage with a view to the formation of a democratic republic.

The council decided to suspend the political strike at noon today, but on the condition that it be resumed if their demands were not granted. The council decided also that only those newspapers may appear whose editors will entirely ignore the censorship. Compositors have refused to work except under this condition and newspapers not complying with it will be confiscated, their presses destroyed and their workmen boycotted.

The railway men's union, however, has decided to continue the strike, mainly through a desire to prevent the transport of troops to Finland. The union of unions has resolved to demand complete amnesty for political prisoners, the immediate withdrawal of troops from St. Petersburg and their replacement by militia drawn from the people. The proceedings of the workmen's council appear daily in a secretly printed newspaper which today contains an article saying:

"Freedom of meeting, but the meeting surrounded by troops; freedom of speech, but the censorship remains; freedom of learning, but the university occupied by troops; inviolability of person, but the prisons full; Witte given, but Trepoff remains; constitution given, but autocracy remains; all given, nothing given."

It was officially announced last night that the censorship of press telegrams had been abolished. It was stated that officers and privates who met at the university on October 29 formally resolved to use arms against the autocracy, which was striving to strangle the proletariat who had now reached the last act of the revolution.

SORE AT THE PRESIDENT.

State Federation of New York Women's Clubs Hears Him and the Stork Roundly Abused.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Nov. 2.—At a meeting of the New York State Federation of Women's clubs here today Mrs. Matilda Childe Dorr of New York spoke contemptuously of President Roosevelt's well-known ideas about women and children. She said:

"When Mr. Roosevelt is not settling disputes in football and wars he devotes a few minutes to his other hobby and settles the destiny of women." In regard to the "new woman" she said: "The only difference between the new woman and the old woman is that the old woman worked for her board and the new woman works for wages."

SHARON BREAKS RECORDS.

Carnegie Mills Have Phenomenal Output for October and Best Previous Figure Is Outdone.

SHARON, PA., Nov. 2.—(Special.)—At the plants of the Carnegie Steel Company at South Sharon during October, records for production were broken at the blast furnaces and at the open-hearth department.

The largest output for a 24-hours' run at the three blast furnaces was made Tuesday when 1,513 tons of Bessemer iron were produced, beating the previous record by 62 tons. Stack No. 1 had the phenomenal output of 636 tons. During October 42,832 tons of steel were produced against 36,347 tons made last May, the previous best record.

HOLDS BOY FOR COURT.

Youth of 14 Who Killed a Man Must Appear Before the Grand Jury.

Edward Cook, the 14-year-old boy accused of killing Joseph Zeiver on the Anderson farm, South Fayette township, October 18, was held to await the action of the grand jury by a coroner's jury yesterday morning.

A sister of the boy testified that she had heard Zeiver threaten to put a "lead bullet" into her brother just before he appeared with a shotgun and fired the fatal shot. Young Cook was later released in $2,500 bail by Judge Marshall Brown, the boy's father going on his bond.

The date of Mme. Emma Calve's Pittsburgh appearance was announced yesterday. She is to sing in concert at the Pittsburgh Carnegie music hall on Monday evening, November 20. This is the first season this celebrated singer has made a concert tour of America. She makes it when she is in the zenith of her power and popularity.

STEVENSON TELLS OF OTHER SCHEME

Is Convinced That Two Railroads Want Elevated Tracks on Water Street Wharf.

TO EXCLUDE FUTURE RIVALS

That the scheme to have an elevated railroad line on Liberty street includes the revival of the formerly much-talked-of Baltimore & Ohio railroad's plan of an elevated railroad on Water street from the Baltimore & Ohio station to the Point, is the belief of W. H. Stevenson. Mr. Stevenson buttresses his opinion with a little clause in the ordinance giving the Pennsylvania a franchise for elevated tracks in Duquesne way, a clause which attracted his attention when he was in common council and the ordinance was up for consideration. He could then get no satisfactory explanation, but now a great light has dawned upon him, he says.

Mr. Stevenson is more positive in his assertion that the city administration contemplates granting a franchise on Liberty avenue to a syndicate which will afterward dispose of it to the Pennsylvania railroad, which, in turn, will use it for conveying freight to and from the big warehouses now in course of erection on the Point. Yesterday he said he was in possession of more facts regarding this scheme.

"I was informed on the best authority," he said, "that last week the plans for the Liberty avenue elevated line were in the city. The information comes to me through one of the largest structural steel concerns. The plans provide for an elevated line from the Point warehouses up Liberty avenue to Fourteenth street. There are to be at least two tracks between the warehouses and Eleventh street, and from there to Fourteenth street a network of tracks that will leave only a narrow strip of street unoccupied and constitute an extension of the Union station yards.

"But that isn't all of it. When the ordinance granting the Pennsylvania railroad the right to construct elevated tracks on Duquesne way was up I noticed that the railroad had bought a private right-of-way from Duquesne way to Liberty avenue, opposite where Fourth and Short streets come together. The ordinance also contained a provision granting the railroad the right to construct a spur up Short street to Water street. I asked why this spur was wanted, for there were no warehouses on Short street, but I never received an explanation.

"It is now plain as day. I am positive the intention is to build the spur up Short street to Water street, and that later ordinances will be introduced granting the Pennsylvania railroad or the Baltimore & Ohio railroad a franchise for elevated tracks on Water street.

The Baltimore & Ohio railroad is practically controlled by the Pennsylvania, and with the tracks of both railroads thus connected up with elevated lines entering and passing the warehouses those two railroads will forever prevent any other railroad from coming into Pittsburgh, unless at a prohibitive expense.

"I am opposed to this scheme, no matter what compensation is to be paid. The rivermen should take up the subject, for if the scheme that I have outlined is carried out, the wharf will be forever destroyed."

EDGAR THOMSON MILLS AGAIN MAKE RECORDS

Rail Production for October Was 83,117 Tons, the Largest Ever Attained.

By a margin which exceeded the greatest expectations of all concerned the two rail mills of the Edgar Thomson steel works of the Carnegie Steel Company at Braddock, broke all world records for the production of steel rails in a single month. The total tonnage was 83,117. This is the second time in the present year that new rail-producing records have been made in the United States. The old high record was held by the Edgar Thomson works, and was a little over 70,000 tons for a month's run. Last spring the South Chicago mills of the Illinois Steel Company made a record run and set 71,724 as the new high mark. Then the Edgar Thomson works started October 1 to wrest the honor away from the Chicago mills and the total announced yesterday is the result. The margin over the other record is 11,393 tons.

At present the Edgar Thomson mills hold the records for a day, a week, a month and a year's production. The new rail mill, No. 3, recently completed, is now working into form and while it is still in the testing stage some rails are being made. In a short time the new mill will be down to a regular gait.

"The Rollicking Girl."

In her song, "Tricks," Miss Hattie Williams, who heads the 80 singers and comedians supporting Sam Bernard in "The Rollicking Girl," which will appear at the Nixon theater on Monday night, has many happy hints for women. She explains in her own inimitable way how to make the man you care for propose to you, how to get a seat in a crowded street car, and how to keep your husband from straying to the club at night.

CHOOSING A PLEASANT TRIP.

Many Attractions for the Winter Season.

In these days of hustle and bustle one has little time to devote to the planning and arranging of a pleasure trip, and it is in keeping with the times that there exists an organization, equipped with every facility, whose sole purpose is the relieving the busy wayfarer of today of the worry and annoyance of planning a short or long respite from business cares. Right here in Pittsburgh we have a branch of that organization whose name in the east is synonymous with all that is up-to-date in the world of travel—Raymond & Whitcomb Co. Ten special trips have been arranged to California during November, December, January and February, visiting all the many places of beauty and interest in that wonderful state. There will also be two thorough and comprehensive tours by special trains through our enchanting neighbor republic, Mexico. A trip to Mexico in this manner is doubly delightful by reason of the absence of all discomforts, the special train being practically a traveling hotel and running on a special schedule independent of local trains which enables it to visit many interesting and out-of-the-way places not otherwise accessible without considerable discomfort and waste of time. Our new dependency, Porto Rico, offers many charms of beauty and historic interest and there will be a number of cruises all around the island during the winter. The large number of Americans who have visited Porto Rico in recent years can testify to its being one of the loveliest spots in the world. More extended trips to other parts of the world have also been arranged. There will be two trips to Egypt and the Holy Land, including also Turkey, Greece and Italy. The itineraries of these trips, as would naturally be expected from the thoroughness of Raymond & Whitcomb methods, are exceptionally well planned. These countries are not so readily and so easily accessible as to warrant more than one or two visitations in a lifetime, hence it is important that such a trip should be carefully arranged. In addition to these varied tours, one can obtain a fund of valuable information respecting travel anywhere from Raymond & Whitcomb Co., and can secure reservations on steamers of all lines to Europe, Japan, China, the West Indies, etc. The Pittsburgh office is in the Park building.

Friday, November 3, 1905.

One hundred additional large cars on the Pittsburgh Railways system will mitigate conditions during a part of the day if kept moving actively. Greater Pittsburgh is growing more rapidly than its transit facilities.

While Secretary Wilson's rule prohibiting employes in the department of agriculture from having any connection with firms interested in contracts, may look like locking the stable door after the horse is stolen, it has a better significance. Not all of the horses have been taken and others are to be acquired. It is a good rule of conduct for the public service.

The unveiling of a monument to Gen. Phil Sheridan at Somerset, Ohio, yesterday, suggests the comparatively few memorials of that brilliant cavalry leader which have been erected in this country. While in the popular mind his spectacular ride, which has been celebrated in literature, is the foundation of his fame, Sheridan has other claims upon the grateful memory of the nation, and Ohio has done well to rear this beautiful memorial of the hero.

An appalling condition of affairs is reported by Consul Harris of Chemnitz, who writes concerning the large number of suicides in Germany. Of 70,000 suicides throughout Europe during a single year, 11,000 took place in Germany, while during the past 10 years there have been 113,545. Commercial depression, the result of strikes, is attributed by Consul Harris as a cause, but the part played by the peculiar national conditions should not be forgotten.

Arrival at New York of a member of the commission which is to draft a constitution for the Chinese empire follows by a few days the czar's action in granting a constitution to Russia. This new move on the part of China is attributed to the influence of Japanese suggestion. The constitutions of other nations are to be studied so the Chinese constitution may embrace the best features of all. The Celestial kingdom is surely awakening from its long nap. Its rulers have been able to see farther ahead and more clearly the trend of human affairs than the abdicating autocrat of Russia.

Former Cashier Clark's brief letter of explanation is pathetic in the extreme. Though it charges William H. Andrews with malign influence it leaves the inevitable implication of faithlessness to his trust on the part of the man who is dead. Other banks have been wrecked in the same way, by the greed of gain—by the illusion of great fortune to be gained by temporary moral aberration. The lesson ought to be taken to heart by every man who has access to the money of others. At the first step, it is out on the perilous path bounded on one side by the abyss of ruin, disgrace—yea, even death.

The automobile is still comparatively new, so new it has not, as yet, inspired much legislation. That is bound to come in due time. A bill is to be introduced at the approaching session of the New Jersey legislature which provides a fine of $1,000 or not more than three years' imprisonment for any intoxicated person found running an automobile. An automobile is no place for any person not in perfect possession of all his senses, especially if he be the chauffeur. The necessity for a special law of this kind may be questioned, but reckless drivers of machines may easily incite to more drastic measures.

Yesterday the Post gave feeling testimony to the inefficiency and neglect of the Democratic-Citizens administration in Pittsburgh. This incident is typical of many others, the money appropriated lying meanwhile in favored depositories at 2 per cent, for what purpose the Post probably knows. This is the way the Post put the arraignment: "It is now stated that the long-talked-of Bluff street park will shortly become a fact. Plans have been prepared, and bids, it is said, will shortly be asked for the work. It is to be hoped that this prospect will shortly be realized. For years the matter has been agitated, and several appropriations have been made for the purpose, but thus far nothing has been done. The city badly needs all the small parks and playgrounds it can get in the downtown congested districts."

Castle's Bank Record.

Homer L. Castle, former bank director, who has been going about the state scattering incendiary utterances about the treasury and banking systems, stands CHARGED WITH A CRIME. This charge is contained in a letter addressed by Joseph J. Gehring to the Mercantile Trust Company, assignee of the failed Prudential Trust Company, of which Castle was a director. Mr. Gehring charges directly that Castle and others abstracted funds from the failed bank to protect him from liability on a bond to SECURE A STATE DEPOSIT.

This charge is made circumstantially, the case is in the hands of Mr. Gehring's attorney, and The Gazette is informed it will be substantiated. Homer L. Castle is the man who has arraigned the system of making and securing state deposits; the man for whom it has been publicly claimed he precipitated the Enterprise National bank disaster.

Castle has asserted that state deposits and politicians have been wrecking banks for many years. His own connection with a wrecked bank and a state deposit may have lent his inspiration, though Mr. Gehring's recital casts no discredit on the state treasury. The discredit in this case attaches wholly to the bank and its responsible directors, HOMER L. CASTLE being specifically named.

If Homer L. Castle will devote the time from now until election day to explaining his own connection with the Prudential Trust Company and its deposit of state funds, he will be tolerably busy. He will have an opportunity, also, to explain to the assignee and maybe to the court. In the meantime it ought to be apparent this man's tirades against the state treasury and the solvent banks of the commonwealth are ENTITLED TO NO CREDENCE WHATEVER.

Founder's Day.

Each annual observance of Founder's day brings home to the people of Pittsburgh a deeper realization of their debt to Mr. Carnegie for his thoughtful generosity. Yesterday's celebration was notable because of the character of the men who spoke and the representative nature of the audience. The speakers were typical Americans, clean-cut, forceful, enterprising, still in the midst of brilliant careers, of conspicuous though different fields of usefulness. The trustees of Carnegie institute are to be congratulated upon their selection of Gen. Greely and Mr. Stone, co-laborers in the extension of civilization. The character of yesterday afternoon's audience was eloquent of the new intellectual and artistic era upon which Pittsburgh has entered. It was an audience of which any city in the world might be proud, constituting, as in previous years, the most significant feature, after all, of Founder's day.

The evening concert given by the Pittsburgh orchestra provided an appropriate and most enjoyable ending to a brilliant day. It is evident this notable organization is to play an even more important part than hitherto in the uplifting of the community's musical taste. Last night's performance is an earnest of an enjoyable and edifying musical season. It is to be hoped another year will find Mr. Carnegie with us, to receive in person the community's expression of gratitude for his goodness to Pittsburgh.

Russian Possibilities.

Conditions in Russia have grown worse since the concession of a constitutional monarchy by Nicholas. The proclamation appears merely to have relaxed the repressive force of the police—these creatures of the autocracy have joined the rioting. It is not easy to predict the probable course of the ignorant, superstitious Russian.

One thing appears certain. If the present state of anarchy progresses much farther Nicholas will not only be the last of his line, but the vast empire will disintegrate into its constituent elements. A republic of Russia is unthinkable—a segregation into many states is probable. Finland and Poland have never abandoned their national aspirations, they have nothing in common with Little Russia and not much with each other. In the event of disintegration the most harrowing feature would be the uprising of turbulent principalities in the Caucasus, Caspian and Black sea districts, worse than their neighbors of the Balkan peninsula.

Siberia is the land of promise. The land of suffering, of heroism and of undeveloped resources. Of all Russia it is best qualified for democratic existence. In Siberia and in upper Manchuria are the most progressive and best thinking subjects of the czar.

Fatal Initiations.

The deaths of two young men while undergoing initiations into college fraternities, one in Ohio, the other in Illinois, illustrate the dangerous nature of the horseplay which often accompanies such ceremonies. Not many years ago two youths met death at Yale and Cornell in a similar manner, but the authorities were never able to discover those chiefly responsible. At Mount Vernon, Ohio, a Kenyon college student was run over by a train and it it alleged companions tied him across the track, intending, of course, to remove him before the coming of a train. The case is to be presented to the grand jury, although much influence has been exerted to prevent such action. In Illinois a boy while being initiated was killed by the discharge of a rifle which was supposed to be unloaded. In this case it is probable no action will be taken by the authorities.

While not exactly the same as "hazing," as the term is generally understood, since its victims are involuntary objects for the outpouring of class feeling, the horseplay often practiced upon willing candidates for college fraternities would seem to call for restrictive measures. The fraternity is a valuable feature of college life and its abolition is not necessary. College authorities, however, proceeding on the principle of prevention, might well exercise a rigid supervision over initiation ceremonies without impairing their secrecy, which, to the members, is a most desirable feature. Officers of the fraternities could be warned of the danger of imposing too severe ordeals upon candidates, and severe punishment should be meted out to offenders. Now that football is being reformed, it is time some attention were paid to fraternity initiations with a view to lessening the number of fatalities.

Time to Think.

In Allegheny county the contest is for and against a continuance of the reign of the boodlers, grafters and pledge-breakers of the Democratic-Citizens alliance. On the result of this contest depends, in great measure, the prospect for better government in Pittsburgh and Allegheny after the first of next April. That is why the record of graft, boodle and plunder made by the Democratic-Citizens administrations is the clear issue in this campaign.

By their votes on next Tuesday the men of Allegheny county will say whether they want three years more of the unspeakable Wyman and the unspeaking Hays, or whether they desire three years of clean government under executives of whom the cities may be proud. On next Tuesday the voters will indicate whether they desire three years more of franchise grabbing, three years more of protected vice, three years more of graft, three years more of Scandrett, three years more of "Buck" Wallace. They will indicate whether they have been getting the KIND OF ADMINISTRATION THEY DESERVE.

Just looking forward to next Tuesday—it is just four days—can any good citizen contemplate three years more of broken promises and disgraceful conduct of public affairs without a shudder? Glance back for 2½ years on the record of police scandals, stolen franchises, neglected public works, manipulations of public funds, prostitution of public service to factional ends. Recall the scenes in council chambers, the orders for giving away the PUBLIC PROPERTY TO SPECULATORS, the queer movements of men under secret influences, the shameless disregard for pledges that honorable men would hold sacred. Who wants any more years of those nightmares of the past?

Next Tuesday the men who desire the disgraceful orgy to continue will permit the police to march them up to the POLLS IN BLOCKS OF TEN. Each policeman is instructed to deliver 10 votes—somehow. They will try to do it, some of them will, by "bread and butter" pleas, by winking at crime, by "starting a rough house." At just this stage of the proceedings it is time for every voter to stop and inquire of himself whether he is the custodian of his own manhood, or whether he can be delivered by "Buck" Wallace's, or Tom Scandrett's willing, or unwilling patrolmen. It is a serious question and it ought to be decided right, in the interest of better protection for person and property.

A Long Island borough candidate promises, if elected, to devote a part of his salary to the extermination of the mosquito. This would be a winning platform in New Jersey.

It is not in the least surprising to find the Leader and "Buck" Wallace supporting the word of a two-term man against that of a respectable county officer.

If the sultan continues to hang on to the Macedonian finances he may have to be made the subject of a legislative investigation.

Here and there a country paper has taken the name of J. Lee Plummer off the ticket at its masthead. For a consideration, of course.

QUIET OBSERVATIONS ON WAYS OF WORLD

There Is a Charm in the Eye That Cannot Be Made to Order.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

That dreamy, subtle something that defies
The gentlest touch. If you have never seen
My lady's eyes you know not what I mean—
And yet I cannot tell you, words are few—
'Tis not enough to say they're black or blue—
'Tis not the color but the witching spell.
And this, you know, is what words fail to tell.
They're not a bit like brightly-beaming stars
Whose luster comes to one in glistening bars
Of yellow light, though coming from above
They do not seem to whisper words of love.
And this, the magic thing in Nellie's eyes,
That mocks the touch of art which it defies. B.

Almost every feature that aids to physical beauty can be faked, and there are those who do not hesitate to fake them, even though they would scorn to cheat at cards or to tell ever such a little but of a fib.

"I would do almost anything, sacrifice almost anything, in order that I might be beautiful," said a rather good-looking, intellectual and well-cultured woman only the other day.

"I don't know what I would give, or what I would sacrifice, but I do know that I would rather be beautiful than rich, for then I could get a rich husband," replied one of the trio.

"For my part," observed the third, "I wouldn't mind being more beautiful than I am, yet I wouldn't sacrifice great comfort for it."

"But see what pleasure there would be in having your beauty commented on by men, as well as being envied by other women," replied the first lady.

"Yes, and in being first choice at balls, and having such lots of invitations to the theater and to entertainments, for the men always prefer beautiful women to those who are plain, or only passably good looking," said the second lady.

"Yes," began the other in great earnestness," yes, and see what messes beautiful women usually make of marriage. Nearly all of those who apply for, or are sued for divorce, are beautiful, or have been. They are so stuck on themselves that they have no use for anything except trying to look pretty. This is apt to prove too expensive for their husbands, besides they want to be admired by others than their husbands, which sooner or later leads to trouble."

How the discussion ended this trio only knows, for they left the car and passed into a drygoods store noted for its displays of beautiful costumes.

You may not think it, but it is a fact that many young women, and not a few who are not so young, think and feel much as did the younger two of this trio. It may be well to say they were all unmarried, and so fixed that they need not marry in order that they might have homes.

Beauty is certainly worth while, provided it is backed by good common sense, which means a good heart and a well-cultured mind.

To be well cultured one need not be highly educated, or finished off in a popular school. Education is important, of course, but not more so than careful home discipline.

"Beauty is what beauty does," is an old and honored saying, and there is much of truth in it.

* * *

Faked beauty, like most imitations, is not worth what it costs. It is a species of fraud, and all fraud, no matter what its species, is certain to react on those who attempt to perpetrate it.

And then, faked beauty is so apparent than only foolish folks are attracted by it, and even these are apt to soon regret their folly.

Many of those whose complexions, shapes and airs are faked, do not really mean to cheat, defraud or mislead, but are over anxious to be called pretty of face, handsome in form and stylish. They seem to forget that their tricks are likely to be noted by those whom they most desire to attract and to please.

Even if womanly beauty consists in finely cut features, delicately tinted complexion and stunning costume, sensible men, and those fitted to become good husbands, would demand the real thing, just as they do now.

* * *

The expression of the eye is so nearly proof against the counterfeiter's art that it is almost invariably accepted as a safe guide no matter what other features may indicate, or what the tongue may say.

Our poetic correspondent has evidently discovered a pair of eyes whose expression pleases him well, if, indeed, they have not pierced his heart to the core.

And yet it is not safe to depend solely, or even mainly, on the expression of a pair of beautiful eyes, for the possessor of them may be banking on them and neglecting the cultivation of other features of greater practical value.

Other poets have been deeply touched by glances from pretty eyes. Even the great Ben Jonson indicted lines to them: "Drink to me only with thine eyes,
And I will pledge with mine;
Or leave a kiss but in the cup,
And I'll not look for wine."

Right you Are.

This is not especially Mr. Plummer's fight. He is one of the Republican standard bearers. He was nominated by the same convention and by the same influences which named his colleagues. They stand for precisely what he stands for. To fall into the Democratic trap and single him out for adverse action would be to injure the party, not to do him permanent harm. Any slump here would discredit the local leadership and relegate the Republicans of the county to the extreme rear of the column.—Indiana Times.

IVINS' CAMPAIGN IS PICTURESQUE FIGHT

He Goes to Battle Against Tammany Light-Hearted and Gorgeously Arrayed.

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—One of the most picturesque campaigns ever conducted is that of William M. Ivins, the Republican candidate for mayor. His headquarters in the Breslin can be likened only to a bee hive, in which the busiest bee is Ivins. Such restless energy is manifested on all sides that the stranger wonders at the endurance of those who are blazing the way for as light-hearted and battling a candidate as ever gave fight to the tiger of Tammany Hall. Mr. Ivins always walks on the sunny side of the way. No shadows for him, no doubts and fears, no shocks when a Tammany broadside sweeps across his path; none of these things ruffles his even temper or discourages his high hopes. Mr. Ivins gives and takes, and the other fellow generally gets the worst of the argument. He is a fighter from his heels to the top of his head, although he doesn't look it.

His epigrams, his sarcasms, his wit, his arguments, are all works of art. They are finished products molded and fashioned by a nimble brain and seasoned by plain common sense. This "no man's man" has shown his artistic temperament in the selection of his headquarters. He has five rooms at the Breslin, and all of them are rich in color. The general effect is soft to the eye. And the candidate admirably fits into the pinks and greens and blues. He adds to the color scheme gay waistcoats (one at a time)—it was brown with white buttons today—fancy plaid suits, gorgeous neckties, set off with big and brilliant pins, and spats of various shades and textures.

Tammany Desecrates Flag.

American flags, with campaign reading matter attached to them, are still flying over Broadway, in spite of the law and in spite of Mayor McClellan's order that all such flags be taken down or freed from the objectionable matter. The mayor's order was issued yesterday afternoon. But all today an American flag with a campaign motto attached to it has been swinging above Broadway at Barclay street, within plain view of the mayor's apartments in City hall. Above this flag, but attached to it, is the following: "Real estate men for George B. McClellan." Below it is this sentence: "Repeal the mortgage tax law."

Campaign Funds from Pittsburgh.

District Attorney Jerome's friends are not all on the island of Manhattan. At least one of them resides in Pittsburgh. A letter to the editor of the Evening Post proves that. The writer says: "Sir—I want to have the honor of assisting Jerome, will you therefore forward to his campaign fund the enclosed $5 check? Mr. Jerome is fighting the battle for independents everywhere; all reformers and true patriots are praying that he have an overwhelming victory."

Union League Breaks Precedent.

The Union League club will hold a reception Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock in honor of District Attorney Jerome and William M. Ivins, the Republican candidate for mayor. The two candidates will make brief speeches. This reception will be the club's first appearance in the campaign and the first reception in the history of the club in honor of a candidate of the people against party organizations.

Just Like Carnegie.

Borough President Littleton presented today at the Borough hall, Brooklyn, to Patrolman Daniel Gill of the Amity street precinct, the Brooklyn Citizens' gold medal of valor, which is to be awarded each year to the member of the force performing the most heroic deed as a lifesaver. The deed for which Gill was chosen was the rescue from drowning of 12-year-old William Curran of 178 Beard street, August 15.

Another "Boost" for President.

At today's monthly meeting of the chamber of commerce, President Morris K. Jessup had this to say concerning President Roosevelt's trip to the south: "I am impressed with the importance of the trip and believe that it has done more to cement the kindly relations between the north and south than anything else that has happened since the war." Mr. Jessup was authorized to convey to the President the chamber's appreciation of what he had accomplished by the tour of the southern states.

Purdon Clarke Nears Us.

Sir C. Purdon Clarke, the new director of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, is expected to arrive tomorrow from England on the Cedric. Mrs. Hamilton and two daughters, the family of Judge Andrew Hamilton, whose name has been associated with the insurance investigation, are also on board. Judge Hamilton is not a passenger on the vessel. He is said to be returning to this country by way of Canada.

What Plummer Stands For.

The Republicans of Lackawanna county should remember that J. Lee Plummer is the candidate of their party for state treasurer and rally to his support. He is not the nominee of any man or particular set of men, but represents the Republican party in its entirety. Vote for him and thus help rebuke the Democratic politicians who have traduced him without cause.—Scranton Republican.

Meaning of the Appeal.

The attitude of Democratic machine candidates in Berks county in asking for Republican votes in order to secure their election, is one of the pointers in this campaign which should not be overlooked or underestimated. It means that these candidates fear their own defeat.—Reading Times.

NOVEL INVENTIONS NOTED BY CONSULS

Useful Articles from Cow's Milk. New Paving Substance—Bread Making Machine.

Consul General Guenther of Frankfort, Germany, writing to the state department, gives a description of a new hornlike product made from cow's milk, of interest to farmers and manufacturers of this country. The product is called galalith. "Incredible as it may seem," writes the consul general, "galalith is in fact made entirely from cow's skimmed milk, without addition of foreign substances, only by employing a certain process of hardening. The process of manufacture is protected by patents in all civilized countries. Galalith is produced in all colors, various marmorean designs, and imitations; the imitations of turtle-shell, amber, corals, etc., are as similar to the natural product as one egg is to another, so that galalith turtle-shell, for instance, is hardly to be distinguished, even chemically, from genuine turtle-shell. The colors are the finest and most brilliant. Compared with celluloid, galalith possesses the essential advantage that it is absolutely odorless and not at all inflammable. In consequence of its properties, galalith is to be classed with the most precious natural products, but can be procured at much lower cost. It is already used for the manufacture of combs, clasps, hairpins, cigar and cigaret holders, bowls for pocketknives and razors, handles for umbrellas and canes, backs of brushes, snuffboxes, rings, inlaid ornaments for fine furniture, balls and pearls, buttons, penholders, pencils, paper knives, seals, crochet needles, chess figures, dominoes, dice, etc."

New Paving Substance.

The same official reports that a substance called asphaltine and composed of a mixture of tar and iron slag is being successfully used on the streets of London and Stuttgart. He writes: "It is claimed that a new substance called asphaltine, and invented by Prof. Buettner of Munich, is superior to any now in use in the construction of pavements. The journal Bitumen describes it as being so elastic, tough and durable as to resist almost completely both grinding and crushing. Experiments, made principally in England and Germany, have been successful. Asphaltine is a mixture of tar and iron slag. Although the best tar is used the cost is comparatively low. Bad weather during the construction of asphaltine streets is said to have no effect on their durability. Some 40 streets have thus far been paved with this new material in London. In spite of the very heavy traffic on these streets they do not show the least wear. The paving also looks well, presenting the appearance of mosaic marble."

Beats Pittsburgh Pie Foundry.

Consul E. Theophilus Liefeld of Freiburg, Baden, reports that a London baker has invented a bread-making machine which converts wheat into bread without the aid of a hand, thereby effecting a saving which permits of the reduction of the price of a 10-cent loaf to 6 cents. It is not only a labor and time saving invention—it might also be called a machine-saving machine, so greatly does it simplify the process of bread-making. For instance, at present the miller grinds his wheat perhaps as many as 15 times to obtain the best flour. By the new method the wheat is ground only once. This grinding gives three products—flour, middlings and bran. The foremost is conducted to the bin, the bran is mechanically carried and automatically weighed into sacks, while the middlings pass into tepid water, by which all the floury part is washed out. This water, impregnated with nutritive material, flows into the kneading pan, in which the dough is automatically produced. The dough is left to rise for one hour and a half or two hours, is then shaped into loaves, and 40 minutes later an electric carrier delivers the hot bread to the throbbing motor cars that wait impatiently to carry it through London.

Lightning Butter Maker.

Consul Liefeld reports another novelty in machines dealing with food—and this latter is to be seen at the dairy show at the agricultural hall in London—is a churn which makes butter in 60 seconds. The machine is so handy that it might very well be placed on the tea table as an accessory to the cups and teapot, and yet not look out of place. Given the requisite amount of cream, with a temperature of 60 degrees, butter can be made at any time when desired. The "Empire" churn does not even need a special vessel for holding the cream. The cream is placed in the vessel so that the "dasher" is in the center, and about 1½ inches below the surface. The handle is then turned slowly for a few seconds, and then at a good speed, and within one minute butter is formed. If some fresh cold water be poured in and the handle turned slowly two or three times, the butter is ready for washing and making up. The "Eureka" is a second machine of this kind and it also makes butter from cream in 60 seconds.

Notable Victory of Peace.

Peace hath her victories; the poet was right about that. Witness the President's conquest of Col. Henry Watterson. With just a few simple, hearty words about Lee and Stonewall Jackson and the old confederates, Theodore Roosevelt has disarmed the colonel's prejudices and taken him right into camp. The colonel is for having those words written up—"in letters of gold"—beside Abraham Lincoln's words at Gettysburg. "Though we differ tomorrow, never again shall there be from us acerbity of thought or speech," he says.—Hartford Courant.

Bryan Sees the Real Thing.

When Mr. Bryan reached the squid tank in the aquarium at Waikiki Beach, he asked with some amazement what the object was therein. He was told that it was an octopus. Pressing his face close up to the tank, he said:

"Well, that is the first time I have ever seen an octopus, yet I have been fighting them all my life."—Honolulu Commercial Advertiser.

A Prohibition Trick.

It is alleged the Prohibitionists are getting large sums of money from outside sources, through State Chairman McClamont, for use in the local judicial campaign. To divert attention from this the backers of Glenn are accusing the supporters of Judge Criswell of using money. —Oil City Blizzard.

Glad to Hear it.

Democrats in Venango county are going to vote the Republican ticket this year by the hundreds.—Venango Citizen Press.

THE WATCHER.

By the cold gray sea in the early morn
He waits on his pitiful bed of pain,
And pale as the east are the fancies born
Of the golden shore he shall somehow gain.

Will he meet them there, those friends of old?
Will her eyes shine down in his yearning heart?
Is the weary tale of the hard strife told
When the soul and its shadow swiftly part?

The wan face whitens, the tide creeps in,
A sigh goes out o'er the windless deep—
Where now are the dreaming, the toil, the sin,
When man lies down to his long last sleep?

The gray east lightens—with rose and pearl
The dawn falls soft on the far wide view,
High in the heavens the mists unfurl
Forever a new day cometh—'tis true!

On the thin lips, faintly, a smile outshines,
A hope like a lark from the heart upsprings,
And lo, as the ray the rough earth refines,
A promise transfigures all doubtful things.

The clouds roll up from the cold gray sea.
Dark, dark on their bosom, a form—O Death!
And the watcher goes out to the great To Be,
Trusting in love with his last low breath.

—Charles W. Stephenson.

STORIES FOUND IN THE LOBBIES

Interesting Happenings Concerning the People Who Are Traveling.

Vice President Charles W. Fairbanks spent a few hours in Pittsburgh last evening, but his presence in the city had not been foretold and he went about unheralded. He arrived from Indianapolis at 7:20 o'clock on the New York express of the Pennsylvania and went at once to the Hotel Schenley, where he took dinner with his son, Warren C. Fairbanks, who has been sojourning in Pittsburgh for the past couple of weeks. At 9:30 o'clock the vice president of the United States walked alone through the Union station to his car on the New York special, and, while a number of people recognized the tall figure of Mr. Fairbanks, there was no demonstration.

"I am just spending a couple of hours here between trains," said Mr. Fairbanks, when he was approached by the newspaper men. "I am going to Washington to spend tomorrow and Saturday there, and shall return to my home on Sunday.

"I always like to come to Pittsburgh, for I spent many happy days here. But the city is becoming a great deal more smoky than when I was here, or, at least, I think so in my recent visits here."

He was asked for his opinion of the great reform movement that is on in the country, but beyond saying that it was good, he refused to discuss the subject, saying he was not interested directly in it. He also refused to discuss the railroad rate situation, saying that he had given expression on that subject before.

Russian Liberty Due to America.

The Rev. J. Nedzelnitsky, pastor of the Russian Orthodox church, in Roberts street, yesterday returned from New York, from which port his wife sailed on Tuesday for St. Petersburg, Russia, to remain till April with her two sons, who are students at the university in that city. Nedzelnitsky said the uplifting influence of American liberty, as absorbed by M. Witte while in the United States, impressed itself on Emperor Nicholas and explains the liberties granted the Russian people. He said Premier Witte is the man of the hour and the riots in Russia will soon be quelled and order restored. Nedzelnitsky met Archbishop Tikhon and other officials of the Russian church while in New York, where enthusiastic demonstrations were held among the Russian element when the news was received.

His First Trip About Pittsburgh.

Fifth Vice President Henry Tatnall of the Pennsylvania, who has direct charge of the financial and accounting departments of the lines east of this city, arrived here last night with a party of friends from Philadelphia. Mr. Tatnall will spend today in a trip over the Pittsburgh terminals of the company. He will travel in a special train, leaving the Union station at 9:30 o'clock. He will be accompanied by General Agent H. A. Jaggard and other officers. This is Mr. Tatnall's first trip to any extent over the local terminal lines.

LEARNS OF FATE OF MISSIONARIES

Washington County Women Among Those Who Escaped the Chinese Mob.

HOME BOARD IS NOTIFIED

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, Nov. 2.

News of the death at the hands of a Chinese mob of two American missionaries, and the destruction of the Presbyterian mission buildings at Lein Chow reached the headquarters of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign missions in this city today.

A brief cablegram from the Rev. Dr. Henry V. Noyes, who is in charge of the Canton district, gave the names of the missionaries who perished and those who were saved, but contained no details as to the cause of the attack. The cablegram was as follows:

"Lien Chow station has been attacked and Mrs. Machle, Amy Machle, Mr. Peale, Mrs. Peale, Miss Chestnut killed. Dr. Machle, Miss Patterson safe. Buildings destroyed."

Lien Chow station is about 250 miles north of Canton in the interior of the province of Kwang Tung, in a city of 50,000 inhabitants. A handsome new church was completed there last March. Other buildings include two hospitals, two schools and the residence of the missionaries. Of the persons killed the Rev. John Rodgers Peale and Mrs. Peale were new missionaries who started from this city for the far east August 16 last. They had been in Lien Chow only a few days.

Mrs. Machle and Amy Machle were the wife and daughter of Edward Charles Machle, M. D. of Cincinnati, O. Dr. Machle, who escaped was in charge of the hospital. Miss Eleanor Chestnut, M. D., who was killed, came originally from Missouri, and lived for a time in Chicago. Miss Ella C. Patterson, the only woman at the mission who was reported safe, came from Washington county, Pa.

The Rev. John Rodgers Peale was born in New Bloomfield, Pa., September 17, 1873. He was graduated from Lafayette college and Princeton Theological seminary, and in 1901 was Miss Gillespie of Port Deposit, Md.

The Rev. Dr. Arthur J. Brown, secretary of the board, said today: "Letters from the field during the past year have not indicated any hostility or cause for alarm. The outbreak of violence that has now occurred can hardly have been anti-missionary. One of the missionaries who was killed, Dr. Eleanor Chestnut, was a physician who has devoted herself for years to ministering to the sick and injured and she was beloved by multitudes who cared nothing for Christianity. It therefore appears probable the attack was made by some mob which had gathered for another purpose and which gave lawless characters an opportunity for plunder and bloodshed.

"It should be added, however, that nearly all of the Chinese in the United States have come from the province of Kwang Tung, in which Lien Chow is situated, and reports of their treatment here have greatly exasperated many of the people. The letters of the missionaries, however, had not indicated any interference with their work or any disposition on the part of the people to molest them.

WOOSTER, O., Nov. 2.—(Special.)—The Rev. Edward Machle and his wife, the missionaries who were murdered in China, left this city several months ago to return to their work. A son aged 12 and a daughter of 14 were left behind and are here attending school. News of the death of their parents has been kept from the boy and girl until an answer can be received to a cablegram confirming the report.

Elsie, the daughter, this week had a letter from her mother, in which the latter stated she was getting ready to go to the station where her husband was assigned, and where the report says they were murdered.

RECOMMENDS A MONARCHY.

Government of Norway Issues Proclamation to the People—Socialists Want a Republic.

CHRISTIANIA, NORWAY, Nov. 2.—The government today issued a proclamation recommending the people to vote at the forthcoming referendum for a monarchical form of government based on the British and Italian constitutions. The proclamation further points out that the best friends of Norway in Europe declare that the country's relations with the foreign powers can be the better secured by the retention of the monarchy. The Radicals and Socialists also issued a proclamation recommending a republic. Another proclamation was issued signed by 130 prominent Liberals asking the people under the circumstances to support the proposition of the government.

RHODE ISLAND MAKES NEW SPEED RECORD

ROCKLAND, ME., Nov. 2.—A new speed record for American battleships was established today by the Rhode Island on her official standardization trial trip, during which she steamed one mile at the rate of 19.33 knots an hour, and another mile at the rate of 19.27, while the mean time for the 12 runs over the course was 18.98 knots an hour. The contract of the builders called for 18 knots.

UNIVERSAL SUFFRAGE GRANTED TO AUSTRIA

VIENNA, Nov. 2.—It is stated on good authority that Emperor Francis Joseph has decided to grant universal suffrage to Austria and has instructed the premier to draft a measure on a comprehensive basis. The decision is attributed to the emperor's desire to satisfy the Socialists and impress the Hungarian coalition.

NEWS OF THE NEARBY TOWNS AND COUNTRY

SENATOR DAVIS TALKS ON RATES

West Virginia Statesman Opposes Regulation and Public Ownership.

SAYS BOTH ARE SURE TO FAIL

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

ELKINS, W. VA., Nov. 2.—The first annual banquet of the board of trade was held at the Randolph hotel tonight, with former Senator Henry G. Davis as the principal speaker. Addresses were also delivered by Senator Scott, Mayor E. D. Talbott and others.

Senator Davis' address was on railroads. After speaking generally of the great value of railroads in developing the resources of the country, Mr. Davis said:

"Considering how largely railroads enter into the affairs of every citizen, there is but little cause for complaint in their management. Rates on the whole are reasonable, much less than in other countries, and, with regard to freight, bear a fair proportion to the value of the commodity transported. What dissatisfaction exists is principally with the trunk lines on account of discrimination against individual enterprises, localities and lateral roads.

"There has been a good deal of discussion lately on the subject of rate-making and railroad ownership by the government. One seems to be a step toward the other. Should the government undertake to regulate the revenue of railroads, the power to do which is denied by many of the best legal minds of the country, it would practically be one set of people managing the property of another, and would discourage the further building of roads.

"The ownership of railroads by the government would be detrimental to the interests of the whole people. It would stifle competition and retard the development of the country, which so dependent upon the activity of private capital. It would also create a great political machine of over 1,000,000 workers to be used by the party in power.

"As far as tried in this country, where the conditions are very different from those abroad municipal ownership of railroads has been a failure. The people, in some instances, were taxed to help pay their running expenses. Cincinnati owned the Cincinnati Southern railroad, tried to operate it, lost money and then sold it; and Baltimore, after many years of futile attempt to run it at a profit, sold the Western Maryland railroad."

RUN GAUNTLET OF FIRE.

Crew of Freight Train Dash Over Burning Bridge Just in Time to Save Cars.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Nov. 2.—(Special.)—A break in the Standard Oil Company's pipe line at West Middlesex which allowed hundreds of gallons of oil to escape into the Shenango river, caused the destruction by fire this afternoon of the Erie railroad bridge at West Middlesex. The oil was set afire by live coals dropping from a freight engine.

Engineer Brandon and Fireman Charles Foat of Youngstown, in charge of the freight, were barely able to draw their caboose off the burning bridge. The train had 35 cars, and the bridge was almost down by the time the caboose had passed over it. Traffic on the New Castle branch of the Erie was stopped until a temporary bridge could be thrown across late tonight.

East Liverpool Woman Asks for Divorce from James Durkin, the Tragedian.

LISBON, O., Nov. 2.—(Special.)—Divorce and alimony proceedings have been commenced here by Mrs. Jeannette Durkin of East Liverpool, against James Durkin, a New York tragedian. She has been allowed temporary alimony of $200 and $60 a month.

They were married in Phillipsburg, Pa., in 1898, and in the summer of 1904 the husband is alleged to have abandoned his wife in San Francisco, having, it is said, become infatuated with Frances Starr, a member of his troupe. Mrs. Durkin was formerly Miss Jeannette Ashbaugh of East Liverpool, where she is now living.

MARION, O., Nov. 2.—(Special.)—Seeing a 2-year-old baby playing on the track as he rounded a bend near Morral today, an engineer of a Hocking Valley freight train applied the emergency brake so suddenly that the big train broke in two and the engine went thundering down upon the tot.

The engineer and firemen turned their heads to avoid witnessing the accident, when Mrs. E. E. Newman, the child's mother, leaped before the engine and fell to safety with the baby in her arms. Her skirts were torn as the engine dashed past.

Eight witnesses were examined today. The most important testimony was that of H. K. Knopf of Pittsburgh, general superintendent of the Hazel Kirk Gas Coal Company.

Mine Inspector Louttit asked Superintendent Knopf if he or any member of the Hazel Kirk company had told Daniel Griffith, the mine foreman, not to tell the mine inspector anything about the condition of the mine upon penalty of dismissal. The superintendent denied this. Inspector Louttit said Plummer Thomas, who has made damaging statements, had suddenly left town, but that he would be brought back if it took a year.

FARMER POSSE CAPTURES AN ALLEGED HORSE THIEF

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

GREENSBURG, PA., Nov. 2.—A man, who on Monday took a pair of horses from Brant Brothers of White Horse, Somerset county, was captured by a posse of farmers near Livermore this morning.

The man was followed from White Horse to New Alexandria and was caught through a clever ruse of Constable John Armstrong of Livermore. He spent last night at the Pounds home, Salem township. Constable Armstrong this morning started out single-handed to arrest him. He met him on the road before 6 o'clock and asked to be taken into the buggy for a ride. The request was granted, and the constable succeeded in making the man drive into a byroad which leads past the Pounds farm to Livermore.

When he discovered that he had been duped, the man drew two revolvers and jumped from the buggy. The constable whipped up the horses and driving to Livermore notified a posse of farmers who had gathered there. The fugitive was finally cornered in a thicket about noon. He threatened to shoot but finally submitted to arrest. He was taken back to Somerset this evening. He refused to give his name. He is about 50 years old and says he is married.

COKE PRICES RISE WITH IDLE OVENS FIRING UP

Production Increases But Slightly Because of Car Shortage, Which Is More Acute.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., Nov. 2.—Coke prices have advanced sharply for the first time in years, with attendant reports of hundreds of idle ovens having been fired. Although prices have been raised from 40 to 50 per cent during the last two months, there is a difference of about 300 ovens in the active list.

Production in the Connellsville region remains practically at a standstill, as the lack of sufficient cars prevents material increase in the shipments. A summary of the Connellsville region for the week ended October 28 shows a total of 23,253 ovens, of which 21,276 are in operation, a gain of 40 ovens in the active list.

The week's production is estimated at 267,997 tons, an increase of 248 tons over the previous week. The shipments aggregated 11,734 cars, distributed as follows: Pittsburgh district, 4,247 cars; west of Pittsburgh, 6,218 cars; east of Everson, 1,269 cars. The shipments were 271,482 tons, an increase of 1,340 tons over the week previous.

The Masontown shipments aggregated 2,462 cars distributed as follows: Pittsburgh district, 226 cars; west of Pittsburgh, 2,088 cars; east of Everson, 138 cars. These shipments are estimated at 68,080 tons, a decrease of 460 tons.

GUNS SALUTED WAR SECRETARY

HAS TALK WITH OFFICIALS

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

COLON, Nov. 2.—The United States cruiser Columbia with Secretary Taft and his party on board arrived here today. The public buildings are flying flags in honor of the double event, the second anniversary of the establishment of the republic of Panama and the arrival of Secretary Taft.

Secretary Taft landed at 9:30 a. m. and received a salute of 17 guns.

The secretary said he was in good health and that all on board the Columbia were well. They had a pleasant voyage. Shortly after landing the secretary and his party started for Panama by special train to pay their respects to President Amador.

PANAMA, Nov. 2.—Secretary Taft arrived here at noon and was received at the station by a special government commission. In company with Gov. Magoon the secretary this afternoon paid a visit to President Amador and his cabinet. During the conference that followed President Amador asked Secretary Taft whether some arrangement could not be made whereby long leases could be obtained of lots in Colon owned by the Panama railroad so that permanent buildings could be constructed, thus decreasing the danger from fires. Secretary Taft said he thought that the matter could be arranged.

The engineers with Secretary Taft will be very busy during their stay on the isthmus. Their headquarters will be Colon.

Many celebrations have been arranged in honor of the American secretary of war, the majority of which will take place at night and therefore not interfere to any extent with his work. Not much was done today by the secretary except to talk over the situation with Gov. Magoon, Chief Engineer Stevens and Col. Gorgas, the chief sanitary officer.

WILL ADD HUNDRED NEW TRACTION CARS

Pittsburgh Railways Company Preparing for Rolling Stock to Relieve Congestion.

One hundred new cars, larger than any now in the service, will be added to the rolling stock of the Pittsburgh Railways Company within the next three weeks. Twenty-five of these cars are now being equipped in the Homewood car barns under direction of Master Mechanic J. A. Rogan and the balance are expected from the works of the St. Louis Car Company within 10 days.

A feature of the new cars is their equipment with the newest Westinghouse air brakes. Cars now in service of the company are supplied with magnetic brakes, which are said not to act so swiftly as the air brake. The new cars are also equipped with four Westinghouse No. 93 railroad motors, which will supply 200 horsepower to each car. Each car is to be double-trucked and a special building has been erected in Homewood to accommodate these cars and supply a sufficiently large double-truck transfer table to handle the new rolling stock.

The length of the new cars, over all, is 44 feet and 6 inches, which is 12 inches longer than the longest cars now used by the company—such as are in service on the Hamilton and Frankstown avenue lines. The interior of the cars will not be longer than the last named, but the additional 12 inches are divided between the rear and front platforms, allowing each 6 inches additional length. A feature of the interior of the new cars is a new ventilating apparatus and automatic rolling curtains on the rear and front doors. The cars are upholstered in green plush and are numbered from 3400 to 3500. The cars will be distributed over such divisions of the company's lines upon which it is possible to operate long cars. Some divisions, such as the Monongahela, Atwood street and Lincoln avenue lines, pass through streets which are so narrow and over curves which are of such narrow radius that it is impossible to operate long cars because of sidewalk obstructions, which will not permit of taking turns with other than small cars. No cars are to be taken off when the 100 new cars are put on, and the officials of the company believe that much congestion will be relieved.

DEPOSITORS FORM PROTECTIVE BODY

Those Who Had Money in Enterprise Bank Organize and Contemplate Legal Action.

JOHN MARRON GIVES ADVICE

"You depositors won't get 10 per cent, if you get that much. I got this information tonight from one of the directors of the Enterprise bank."

This statement was made last night by Attorney John Marron to about 300 depositors of the Enterprise bank who were assembled in the Manchester (Second) Presbyterian church, Franklin and Market streets.

The meeting was called by a number of depositors, headed by the Rev. D. A. Green, pastor of the church, which has $3,400 in the Enterprise bank. Mr. Green was elected chairman of an organization formed for the purpose of protecting the interests of the depositors wherever such a thing is possible. James P. Wall was elected secretary.

Besides discussing the affair generally, the audience authorized the Rev. Green to appoint an executive committee of 10 to have power to act for all the depositors. The committee will devise means for raising a general fund to engage counsel to carry the fight of the depositors into court. Those on the committee are the Rev. D. A. Green, chairman; J. P. Wall, Dr. Paul B. Doyle, Thomas McBride, George S. Bothwell, W. H. Richey, Michael Kelly, Charles Bragdon, J. H. Levinger and F. J. Gray. The committee meets tonight at 8 o'clock in the same church.

Pastor for Temperate Speech.

In opening the meeting the Rev. Mr. Green said his congregation had $3,400 in the Enterprise bank and had contemplated building a new church when the sum had been increased. He urged that all who talked would be temperate in their speech. His request was complied with, for there was never the slightest excitement.

Attorney Marron, among other things, said:

If the law of 1864, intended to protect national and state banks, had been adhered to in the Enterprise bank it would never have been closed. I think personally that the crooked work in the bank was done after the last report was made to the comptroller of the currency on August 26 last. The law I refer to provides that three directors must take part in the compilation of bank reports and that they with the cashier subscribe to the report made to the national treasury department. If that law was obeyed the comptroller today knows who are the three directors in the Enterprise bank who were in collusion with Cashier Clark. The comptroller of the currency told me the other day that the average amount recovered from stockholders in bank collapses is 65 per cent of the value of the stock. One director of the Enterprise tells me he is certain the bank was a bogus bank four years ago, but he is without evidence to prove this. This collapse was not an accident. It was a deliberate steal. My theory is that most of the money got into the hands of certain men and that they have it yet. It is likely safely hidden. Maybe those who got it are only Cashiffes. If you organize, make this a fight of common interest, and go about it quickly. I think you will get a large part of the money back. I think the money can be located.

Resolution Indignantly Rejected.

Mr. Green read a resolution that was handed to him. He said plainly before reading it that he had no part in its authorship and knew nothing about it. The paper was a villainous attack on the Republican party and ended with a plea for W. H. Berry Prohibition-Democrat candidate for state treasurer.

"I move that paper be thrown into the waste-basket" promptly came from one depositor in the center of the hall.

"That resolution is an insult to everyone in this building" declared another.

"Some one is trying to make political capital out of an affair that concerns only our homes and our families," thundered a third.

Similar expressions were heard from all parts of the church, and Mr. Green reiterated that he had nothing whatever to do with the paper, and was not in favor of it. Some one suggested that it be laid on the table, and this action was taken by a unanimous vote.

United States District Attorney John M. Dunkle said yesterday no preparation had been made for criminal suits as a result of the examination of the books of the Enterprise bank.

"I would not be surprised if some criminal suits were to be started," said Mr. Dunkle, "but Examiner Moxey has not completed his report yet and may not finish for several months."

Andrews Expects to Make Good.

W. H. Andrews, who returned to his home in Titusville Wednesday night, spent a busy day yesterday with his attorney. There remains but about $34,000 to raise since the Venango county property was disposed of Wednesday. It is believed the remaining property in Crawford county will bring half of this, and Andrews is said to have expressed his ability to lay his hands on the balance when the time comes.

The National Cable and Wire Company, of which T. Lee Clark was president and whose suicide is said to have brought about conditions that resulted in an application for a receiver being made by Charles K. Hill and H. W. Klein, has answered the bill of Hill and Klein. On this application of Hill and Klein the court appointed James H. Hunter, vice president of the company, receiver, until further order of court. Yesterday Hunter filed the company's answer, in which the insolvency of the concern is admitted and it is asserted that in accord with a resolution of the board of directors, the company joined in the prayer of the bill for a receiver. It asked that a receiver be appointed to take charge and run its plant and waives all further notice, as required ordinarily.

Another Charge Against McKee.

George McCombs McKee will have to answer another charge of larceny when he faces the court. Mrs. Jennie Mazzetti alleges McKee called at her home several weeks ago and asked to be shown through the house, which was for sale. She says that during her temporary absence from the room McKee picked up two children's banks containing about $40 in silver. He was held for court without bail.

President Will Go Home to Vote.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—President Roosevelt will go to Oyster Bay Tuesday and vote for the Republican nominee for assemblyman for that district. He will return to Washington that afternoon.

WEBBER SCORED BY SENATOR DICK

Ohio Congressman Is Accused of Shamelessly Betraying the Republican Party.

BOSSISM CRY IS EXPLAINED

SPECIAL TELEGRAM FROM
L. W. STRAYER, Staff Correspondent.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 2.—The hottest document that has been issued in this campaign is the open letter sent today by Senator Charles Dick, Republican state chairman, to Judge A. R. Webber of Elyria, the Republican congressman who publicly bolted Herrick and has gone over to the Democratic camp. Judge Webber was elected to congress last fall on the Republican ticket. This year he had been supporting the ticket and had made several speeches for Herrick, but a few days ago he announced in the newspapers he would bolt, and after a conversation over the long-distance telephone with Senator Dick, he addressed an open letter to the chairman, which has been used by the Democrats as campaign material.

In his reply to this letter, Senator Dick not only accuses Congressman Webber of betrayal of his party, but he takes up at some length the cry of bossism and explains the relations between George B. Cox of Cincinnati and the Republican party of the state. Referring to Webber's open letter, Senator Dick says:

"In your open letter to me you are reported as saying you 'phoned me the other day at Columbus and asked me why Governor Herrick keeps silent on the 'Cox' and 'Ohio liquor league' questions, and why he did not come out boldly and proclaim against them. You say I made answer as follows: 'He cannot do this, as he is depending upon them to be elected.'

Calls Statement False.

"I refuse to permit you to put words in my mouth, or by misconstruction of anything I said, furnish you an excuse for joining the Democratic party. Permit me, therefore, to say that this statement you ascribe to me is absolutely and unqualifiedly false.

"You did ask me if there was an alliance between the Republican [illegible] the Ohio liquor league, and I said there was not. You asked me if the league was contributing to the Republican campaign fund this year, and I told you not a dollar had been received from that source.

"You asked why Governor Herrick did not repudiate Cox and the liquor interests. I told you the cry of 'bossism' in this campaign is silly and ridiculous; that the Republican party of Ohio is not bossed by any one; that Governor Herrick is not bossed by anybody, that he is not controlled by any man or clique of men.

"Governor Herrick's attitude on the temperance question has been honest and straightforward and known to all men for 18 months past. You declined election as head of a religious body because that body had passed resolutions condemning the governor. You voluntarily wrote to Governor Herrick commending him and his official record and promised him your support. You offered to make campaign speeches for him and accepted an appointment at the hands of your county committee. The night before you telephoned me you made a Republican campaign speech for Governor Herrick at the hamlet of Huntington, Lorain county. There has been absolutely no change in the situation which justified your sudden change of front. Why then this eleventh hour betrayal of the party which has so highly honored you?"

Discusses Bossism.

Not the least interesting portion of this very pointed letter is that referring to the charge of bossism. On this subject Senator Dick says:

"You talk of a 'boss-ridden' party. The 1,200 delegates in the last state convention representing the 600,000 men who voted the Republican ticket last fall, everyone of whom is just as independent as you are, were selected by the same methods as have obtained since the Republican party was organized. That convention only pursued party custom when it renominated Governor Herrick as its candidate for governor. He had served but one term and by his patriotic, faithful and efficient service was entitled to renomination and re-election.

"You have asked me if I am opposed to Mr. Cox's methods. I don't know what you mean by Mr. Cox's methods, but if you mean the methods by which the Republican organization in Hamilton county has rescued that county from the grasp of Democracy and has rolled up year after year increasing Republican majorities until last year it gave 40,000 for Theodore Roosevelt, then I say I am not opposed to such methods. Never since the infamous Democratic tally-sheet forgeries of 1885, has it been proved there was illegal voting in Hamilton county.

Cox Has Not Interfered.

"I have had no personal knowledge of Mr. Cox's methods, but I do know, that, during the period I have had to do do with Republican politics in Ohio—and that has been for some years—Mr. Cox has never assumed to dictate in any manner the work of the state organization. He has never made a suggestion as to how the campaigns should be conducted. In all the years I have had to do with state conventions, as a delegate and frequently as a member of the committee on resolutions, Mr. Cox, so far as my knowledge extends, never made a suggestion as to what should go into the platform or what should be left out of it. I have never known him to insist upon, or ask for, the nomination of any man. I have never seen him take any interest in matters of legislation or of administration except such as every citizen of the state might as reasonably have concerned himself.

"I say all this in view of the fact that Mr. Cox and I have rarely agreed upon political matters. I was for Senator Sherman in 1886; Mr. Cox was not. I was for Mr. Taylor for secretary of state in 1882; Mr. Cox was not. I was for Harrison's renomination in 1892; Mr. Cox was not. I was for George K. Nash for governor in 1895; Mr. Cox was for Asa S. Bushnell who was nominated and elected. I was for Mr. Kinney for secretary of state in 1898; Mr. Cox was not. Mr. Cox was for Price for speaker of the house in 1902; I was for McKinnon.

Cox's Word Is Good.

"Mr. Cox and I have agreed very seldom on party nominations. However, I have observed that when nominations are made Mr. Cox has always been loyal to his party, and has always stood by the ticket made by the conventions in which he participated as delegate. When Mr. Cox gives his word or pledge of support, it is absolutely good, which is more, Judge Webber, than can be said for you in the present instance.

"I am opposed to bossism wherever it exists, but I contend in Ohio it does not exist in state affairs, and the Democratic candidate for governor knows this to be a fact. I am not defending Mr. Cox. I am not praising him, but am telling the truth about him as I know it from my own knowledge. When you wished information from me, you telephoned me and got my reply. There was no occasion for your open letter, except as you desired by this sort of assault to embarrass the Republican party and to aid in its defeat by adding to the misconception and misrepresentation and vilification in this campaign."

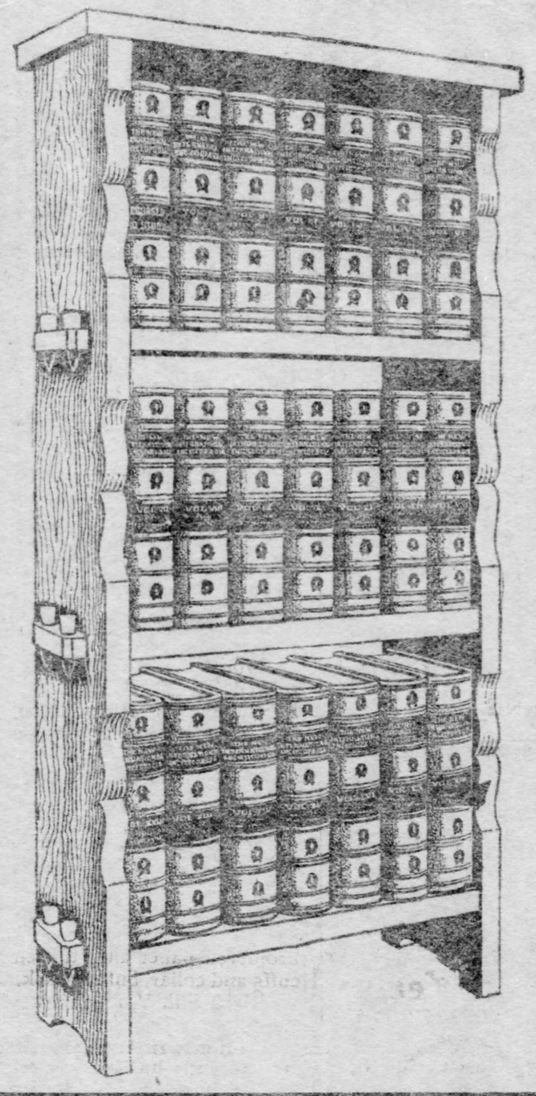
THE VERDICT OF MEN WHO KNOW



And Men Whom You Know

REGARDING THE

NEW INTERNATIONAL ENCYCLOPAEDIA

OPINIONS OF TODAY. NOT THOSE OF 20 YEARS AGO.

Rev. James H. Snowden, D. D., a local divine and editor-in-chief of the "Presbyterian Banner," in his commendation of the New International Encyclopedia, says:

"In completeness and conciseness, in scholarship and authority, in knowledge abreast of the day, in beauty of illustration and mechanical make up, it touches the highest level. We need a new work from the ground up, and we have it in the 'New International Encyclopaedia.'"

Words of praise from Rev. J. H. McIlvaine, D. D., Rector Calvary Episcopal Church, Pittsburgh, Bell Telephone Highland 946L.

"I want to express my very great satisfaction with the 'New International Encyclopaedia.' In the few matters that I happen to know especially, and thought that few others did, I have been surprised at the merit and accurate information given."

From the students of the Western Theological Seminary, Allegheny, Pa.:

"We, the students of the Western Theological Seminary, are glad to give our testimony as to the value of the New International Encyclopedia which we have purchased. Realizing that we could not afford to buy a second, we determined to make an investigation and buy the one best adapted to our needs. An Encyclopedia to be valuable must be up-to-date. All others were written from ten to twenty years ago, and are, therefore, much behind the times."

"A. F. McGARRAH, Secretary of the Purchasing Committee."

FROM LEADING AND WELL KNOWN EDUCATORS

"I do not hesitate to pronounce the New International the best work of an authoritative character in popular form to be found anywhere."—J. D. Moffat, D. D., LL. D., President Washington and Jefferson College, Washington, Pa.

"In a word the New International Encyclopaedia is a most complete and attractive encyclopaedia for both home and school. I am so well pleased with it that I have exchanged my Britannica (Scribner edition) in part payment for a set."—Samuel Hamilton, Ph. D., Supt. of Public Schools of Allegheny County. Bell Telephone—Court 2586.

"For use in the school and home, as well as for the general reader the 'New International Encyclopaedia' is decidedly the best work of reference in the English language. I say this after having carefully and minutely examined the work."—Jeremiah Tingley, Ph. D., LL. D., Head of the Department of Science, Allegheny High School.

THE CLAIMS WE PRESENT FOR THE NEW INTERNATIONAL ENCYCLOPAEDIA:

The Reasons Why the Bright People of Pittsburgh Are Buying the New International Encyclopedia.

First—We clinch the claim with the proof of facts—namely, that there is no reference work in the form of an encyclopaedia that is so complete and so modern and up-to-date as the New International Encyclopaedia. Second—That it is the first and only work of universal reference in the English language accessible to the average reader that can claim to be full in every department. Third—The New International Encyclopaedia is absolutely the final authority in every subject of science and general knowledge—in brief—it goes directly to the heart and core of things and compares, analyzes, defines and illustrates them as they are known to exist at the present time. That's what makes it a valuable and indispensable reference work. An investigation will support these claims abundantly. Through close and careful examination the New International has won the favor of the leading educators and professional men everywhere.

WHAT AN INVESTIGATION WILL SHOW

We appeal to all searchers of knowledge, all students and reflective readers, and ask them to examine the New International Encyclopaedia. We will cheerfully send trial volumes for inspection and allow you sufficient time for a complete investigation. This done, we rest assured that you will have no other work.

Nothing has been omitted, nothing doubtful included.

It is just as useful and comprehensive to the plain people as to the scientist and investigator. It stands the test. We have never known it to fail to show superiority in any comparison with other works of its kind.

It contains 16,329 pages, treating 67,007 separate articles. Every article is newly written. You can go to the New International with confidence that you will find what you wish to know.

A HANDSOME BOOK FREE

We will send to any one who is interested a handsome 80-page book which tells all about encyclopaedias, their advantages and defects, tells how this new encyclopaedia was made and why; who made it and other interesting things about it. It contains maps, full-page colored illustrations and sample pages from the New International.

If you have no encyclopaedia, or have an old one which pictures the world as it was forty years ago, or if you have been tempted to purchase some bargain-counter endition, you should read this book.

We are not offering a work whose only merit is its cheapness. The New International Encyclopaedia is not the cheapest, but the BEST.

TENTH CELEBRATION OF FOUNDER'S DAY HELD AT THE CARNEGIE INSTITUTE

that disturbed the tranquility of the day's program. The smallest audience that has attended a Founder's day celebration in nine years clustered in the hall and gave marked attention to the speakers. The audience was more select than those of former years and was better dressed, but was lacking in enthusiasm. Gen. Greely's address on "Geographical Exploration" was received with interest and respectful silence, and it was not until Mr. Stone, manager of the Associated Press, surprised his hearers by unfolding some of the mysteries of modern newspaperdom that the people in the auditorium made any decided demonstrations of appreciation.

Two Famous Men Were Heard.

The addresses were widely diverse in character. Gen. Greely's fame as an arctic explorer has made him an international figure and his Pittsburgh audience doubtless expected to hear him in detail tell of his experiences at Lady Franklin bay in 1883. However, he took a broad view of his text and spoke of the general effect of geographical exploration from the earliest times.

Mr. Stone is no less an international figure, since his capable handling of the news of the Japanese-Russian war. He is a pleasing speaker and has a fund of dry humor that is irresistible. He talks about figures in a way that is interesting and amazed his hearers when he told how the present day newspaper system enabled the people of San Francisco to read of a battle in Manchuria while the smoke of the hostile guns still hung over the field of carnage. Mr. Stone's comment on the libel laws, in which he declared that the reporter's informants were as often open to a suit for libel as the much-maligned journalist, seemingly found much favor with his hearers.

Because fewer tickets had been issued this year and because a number of ticket holders did not appear, the audience was noticeably smaller than in former years. There were vacant seats on the first floor and whole rows in the balconies were empty. On the stage, where the organ was hidden behind a bank of palms, there was about the usual number of distinguished citizens, including members of the board of trustees, city officials and officers of the various Carnegie institutions. In the front row sat the Rev. W. R. Wedderspoon, pastor of the Emory Methodist Episcopal church, Gen. Greely, Mr. Stone, Mr. Frew and Col. Church.

Divine Blessing Invoked.

Mr. Wedderspoon invoked the divine blessing. He said:

Almighty God, our Heavenly Father, we approach Thee in reverence for Thou art holy, and we bow before Thee in adoration and praise, for Thou art the Fountain of all light and life and power.

We thank Thee for Thy law and Thy gospel, for breaking through the clouds of darkness, sunshine and night and revealing Thyself to us in the face of Thy dear Son, our Saviour and Redeemer, through Whom and by Whom humanity grows rich in all that is true and beautiful and good.

We thank Thee for our age, for advancing civilization, for the land we call our own, for the prosperity which doth crown our nation, our state and our city, for the nation's noble President, who brings fresh honor to our country by his peacemaking spirit, and we pray that the time will speedily come when the nations shall learn war no more, and men everywhere "shall brothers be."

We thank Thee for the grand benefactions of men and for all their high purposes. Especially do we thank Thee for this great Institute.

We pray Thee give Thy richest blessing to its work of enlightening, enkindling and ennobling mankind.

Graciously bless this day and all his days, the founder; may he know Thee, enjoy fellowship with Thee and when his earthly course is finished may he see Thee—the King in His beauty.

Bless all who guide the affairs of this institute. Give Thy favor to those who play a part in the exercises of the day. Bless all who are here gathered. Pardon our sins and shortcomings. Help us "to serve the present age, our calling to fulfill, oh! may it all our powers engage, to do our Master's will," and bring us all in Thy love and mercy to the home of eternal joy and to the pleasures of full knowledge which are at Thy right hand for evermore. We ask in Christ's name. Amen.

After this followed the addresses, the annual report, the award of the art prizes and the organ incident. There were no formalities in the promenade to the galleries, and neither Gen. Greely nor Mr. Stone held public receptions. The crowds at the entrance were admirably handled, and the people soon dispersed at the close of the exercises.

M. E. STONE DESCRIBES THE COLLECTING OF NEWS

Mr. Frew introduced Mr. Stone as follows:

One of the marvels of our modern civilization is the rapidity and accuracy with which the news of the world is collected, forwarded and laid before us. When we compare the fact that but little over 100 years ago George Washington, the foremost figure of his time, died at Mt. Vernon on December 14 and that the news of his death did not reach Philadelphia, where the congress was in session, until December 18, with this other fact that but recently we have sat in our homes and have almost heard Tokyo, St. Petersburg and Washington discussing terms of peace, we can appreciate the tremendous strides that have been made. We have come to expect, and indeed demand, of the daily press that a record of events of even slight importance occurring during the previous day or night in the most remote corners of the earth shall be collected, transmitted over thousands of miles of land and under thousands of miles of water, received, set in type, printed and laid before us at our breakfast tables, and you will notice that no matter whether the occurrence takes place in Europe, Asia, Africa or America, the report of it is presented in carefully worded, well considered English. The great organization concerned in this collection and transmission of news is the Associated Press, and we have reason to congratulate ourselves that we have with us today its able executive officer, who will explain how this wonderful work is accomplished.

Mr. Stone said:

It would be a dull man, indeed, who was unmindful of the high honor of standing upon this platform in this presence. Not only the occasion but the memories which cluster about it, give it a character which must needs appeal to every patriotic soul.

Tribute to Andrew Carnegie.

The distinguished founder of this institution illustrates in a conspicuous degree, and in every phase of his life, the value of our political and social order. Coming here a poor lad, from the bleak hills of Scotland, he has grown to opulence in all that may make for the best type of manhood. He found in this country a land where every man belonged to the privileged class. The wish of the fabled King of Phrygia was his and it was gratified. Whatever he touched has turned to gold. But he has taught us a better lesson than that of Arassiz, who, in the midst of his great work, refused to turn aside for a financial venture with the remark that he had no time to make money. Carnegie has not only had time to make money—he has had the inclination to expend it wisely until the world is dotted with a thousand of his benefactions and from the institutions which he has founded there shall come a host of Arassizs. Yet important as this phase of his life has been, it has scarcely meant more for humanity than the public spirit which he has manifested in his other relations to American life. All honor to him.

Few men have noted as he has that the garnered sheaves of American glory are the fruits of popular education. To adopt a phrase from the late George William Curtis: "The spring of our government as of every popular government is public opinion, and the country is really governed by those who direct it."

Pennsylvania's Journalistic Fame.

It is fitting that one should speak on newspapers in Pennsylvania. Here, on the soil of this commonwealth lived and toiled and won fame for all of us, the master printer of all time, Benjamin Franklin. From here, too, long before the freedom of the press was secured in any part of the world, came old Andrew Hamilton, the people's advocate, from Philadelphia to New York, 89 years old, a volunteer, in 1735, to defend John Peter Zenger, editor of the Weekly Journal, who had been brought to bar on a charge of seditious libel. It was the first cry of the struggling colonies for freedom. Gouverneur Morris said it was "the dawn of that liberty which afterwards revolutionized America." Hamilton pleaded that the truth published with good motive was no libel. The jury acquitted Zenger and the freedom of the American press was established. That is, until the libel laws which was recently enacted in your state. Here in Pennsylvania also was founded the first American daily newspaper, the Daily Advertiser of Philadelphia. And, mark what a power this has become!

There are 24,000 newspapers in the United States and only 18,000 in all the world besides. In this country we have a daily newspaper office for every 20,000 of our people—young and old. The rest of the world has a daily newspaper for each million of people. That is, if the foreign world were divided into nations of the size of the United States, each nation would have but 89 daily newspapers, while we have 2,400.

Newspapers for Everybody.

And if you consider the circulation of our newspapers, the figures become even more striking. We issue a daily paper for every three of our citizens above 10 years of age, who can read. We issue some sort of a newspaper, daily, weekly or monthly, three times a week for every human being in the land. A number of spruce trees, standing in a Maine forest, their leaves dripping dew in the morning sun, have in two hours' time been converted by paper mill and printing press into 10,000 perfected newspapers, laden with the news of the world and delivered to the readers.

Such is American journalism of today.

And each of these papers, at first or second hand, prints the news of the world and for its printing they exist.

To tell you how this news is gathered is the task assigned to me today. As Thackeray said in opening his lecture of the Third George of England, "We are to glance at 60 years in 60 minutes." For it is within the past 60 years—since Andrew Carnegie, a youth, began life as one of the pioneer telegraph operators—that the business of newsgathering, as it exists today, has developed. Well might Morse write, in prophesy as well as in amazement, his first message: "What hath God wrought!"

In the history of the world there have been periods when humanity, in its march of progress, seemed to dash forward at breakneck pace. Such a period was the middle of the fifteenth century, when printing from movable types was invented, and books were published, and people began to read. Such another period was the middle of the nineteenth century, when in a rush came the steamship, the railroad, the telegraph and the cheap newspaper. All of these means for inter-communication had their beginning within the space of 20 years. It was a new birth, not for this nation alone, but for all mankind. We broke the shell and took wing to the uttermost corner of the earth. Wherefore it is that, as you sip your coffee in the morning, or sit peacefully by your fireside in the evening, you weep with the mourners as they deposit the ashes of Irving in the silent chamber of the British Abbey, or joy with those who shout "Banzai!" to the victorious Togo in the streets of far-off Tokyo.

An Army Unconquerable.

Thus have you reached:

"Those turrets, where the eye
See the world as one vast plain and one
Boundless reach of sky."

No place is to remote, no obstacle too fixed, no danger too great to bar the way of the information bureau of the journalistic army. For this service countless thousands are employed. "There she is," said Thackeray, speaking of the press, "she never sleeps. She has poet ambassadors in every quarter of the world, her couriers upon every road. Her officers march along with armies and her envoys walk into statesmen's cabinets. They are ubiquitous. Yonder journal has an agent at this moment giving bribes in Madrid and another inspecting the price of potatoes in Covent garden."

And how is all this done?

By the carefully systematized and cooperative labor of this vast army. Primarily there are four great agencies which divide the world upon natural lines—each gathering and distributing and exchanging the news of its quarter and each exchanging with all the others. The British agency is responsible for the mighty British empire and all her colonies; the far east and the levant; the German agency for the Teutonic, Slav and Scandinavian countries; the French agency for all the Latin nations, and the American agency for the rest of the world, which is the United States and her dependencies.

And the Story Is Told.

A battle is fought upon a hillside in Manchuria, and while the smoke still darkens the sky you have read the story, not written by one pen, but by 20. For the Russian and the Japanese and the British and the American correspondents have all had their share in the work. The Russian telegraphs his story to St. Petersburg, while the Japanese wires to Tokyo. The Briton sends to London and the American to New York. But at St. Petersburg, Tokyo and London are other Americans gleaning from the Russian, Japanese and British stories and from the official reports all that may be of interest to you. But should this composite of all the stories of the Russians and Japanese and Britons and Americans be incomplete there still remain American press representatives at Berlin and Paris and Rome and Vienna and Copenhagen ready to catch and telegraph any stray facts that may be reported to those capitals.

When men now living were lads it took six weeks for news to reach New York from Rome, but when the late pope died, the fact was furnished to the newspapers of San Francisco within 11 minutes. Telegraph and cable lines envelop the earth, touching every spot where human activity plays its part, and wherever there is a telegraph or cable station, there is a reporter for the press. Nay, more, the very air is now vibrant with the news and several of the ocean steamships print daily papers at sea, with information transmitted by wireless telegraphy.

Reporting a Yacht Race.

During the ocean yacht race last summer each captain of a trans-Atlantic steamer, on sighting one of the racers, sent a wireless message to the Associated Press, reporting the latitude and longitude, the weather conditions and the precise hour, so that we timed the boats all the way over and were able to announce that the "Atlantic" was the victor long before she reached the Lizard.

Through our allies, the Lloyds of London, we are watching hourly the myriad of vessels that thread the mighty wastes of ocean, and should an accident befall one of them it is flashed to us. The outlook for wheat in Odessa, the condition of the coffee crop at Rio de Janeiro, the price of tea at Ceylon are equally objects of interest and are reported with scrupulous care. The Associated Press has its bureau in Wall street, where every sale of stocks is reported and from which you are supplied the table giving the opening, highest, lowest and closing quotations.

Eternal vigilance is the price of news. The fixed rules of the Associated Press is accuracy first, promptness second, and in the end, a graphic, but not sensational account commensurate in detail with the importance of an occasion. We do not report gossip, private scandals, or tittle-tattle, but deal only with those events which go to make up the substantial and enduring history of mankind.

They Are Welcome Visitors.

Our representatives are in constant touch with every department of government at every capital of consequence in the world. As a rule they are welcome visitors and are given every facility for the discharge of their duty. Now and again they encounter difficulties.

An American consul was fired upon in Beirut. The Turkish government established a censorship and forbade that any telegrams upon the subject be transmitted. A missionary long trained in our work, wrote the story, mailed it on a passing steamer to Port Said, whence it was telegraphed to New York.

When President Roosevelt set out last week upon his journey to the south, an Associated Press man sat with him in his car, reported carefully every speech and described each incident. At each city visited a resident correspondent filled in the local story. When Memphis was reached the President desired to be alone on his night ride to New Orleans and then I arranged with President Fish of the Illinois Central, and at his request every station agent on the line telegraphed us as the train passed on. At New Orleans our resident bureau took up the story again. And finally, when the President returned on the battleship West Virginia, the flag lieutenant sent us wireless messages hour by hour. Such is the process and thus you see that anyone, anywhere may be enlisted in this work at any moment. No one is quite sure of freedom from capture by this modern press gang.

Everybody Is a Reporter.

Any person in this audience may be made a reporter at any time, and indeed, all of you are reporters for the press much oftener than you imagine. For in the last analysis it is from the great public that we get the news which we distribute and print, and it thus becomes important that, in dealing with the newspapers, you should be fair and accurate reporters. For an intelligent and virtuous press, honest and truthful editors are far less needful than an honest and truthful public. When we live in the coming Utopia, the laws will make it a crime to tell a lie to an editor. My experience leads me to believe that, as a rule, it is not your journalist, but his informant, who should be sued for libel. But, after all denounce the chartered liberties of journalism as you will, you must still admit the truth of the old Spanish proverb that:

Than that which, yet unprinted, waits the press."

With rare exceptions, we of the craft are all striving for a common end—for an honest, truthful and dignified history of the day's doings—which shall be helpful and uplifting. Mindful of the vast influence of our work upon the life of a self-governing people, we cannot escape a sense of the great responsibility which goes with that influence. Surely in this day have the words of the Psalmist come true:

"Day unto day uttereth speech, and night unto night showeth knowledge.

"There is no speech nor language where their voice is not heard.

"Their line is gone out through all the world."

ARCTIC HERO DESCRIBES FRUITS OF EXPLORATION

Gen. A. W. Greely Tells of Its Beneficent Results Upon the World's Civilization.

Introducing Gen. Greely, Mr. Frew said:

I presume that many in this audience, as I myself, have often wondered what substantial good would be obtained if the exact geographical location of the North pole were determined. That results of great importance would follow may, of course, be taken for granted, otherwise, for all those years, individuals and governments would not have lavished treasure, effort and human life in the search. Twenty years and more ago, one of the speakers of today headed a party which reached a point, at that time the farthest north, and after incredible suffering with greatly depleted numbers the few survivors were rescued by a relief expedition sent out by the United States government and under the command of Commodore Schley. Since he willingly contributed his services and almost his life to the cause of science, the leader of the exploring party should certainly be well fitted to inform us as to the value of the work being done by these intrepid men.

Gen. Greely said:

The spirit of human endeavor has found few fields more fruitful in sequential results than that of geographical exploration. As far as may be possible, in the brief period allotted for this address, an endeavor will be made to present the more important results, not only as regards its material prospects, but also as connected with its moral tendencies.

The branches of geography now treated are confined to economic, physical and political phases to the exclusion of bare outlines of land and water distribution and mathematical demonstrations. It is not the mere explorer that engages our attention, but rather the pioneers and settlers, whose close, persistent, practical studies and labors, along agricultural, biological and mineralogical lines, have made known the vast resources of the earth for useful exploitation by the masses.

The growth, development and ultimate limitation of nations are largely influenced if not entirely due to geographical environment. The location of great centers of agriculture and commerce, of special industries, of stock raising, is the outcome of careful exploration of the special economic resources on which their success depends.

It is of interest to note that the necessity and beneficence of explorations are set forth in the earliest recorded history. We read in the Old Testament:

A Scriptural Command.

"Now the Lord had said to Abraham: Get thee out of thy country, and from thy kindred, and from thy father's house, into a land that I will show thee, and I will make thee a great nation, and I will bless thee, and make thy name great."

The prophecy to Abraham outlines the means whereby a great nation was created. Similar results have been not infrequent in the world's history of explorations, whether applied to the Romans, to the Spaniards, or to the Anglo-Saxons. Through such potent agency has come the migration of nations; the transfer of power, whether economic, industrial, or political; the development of mankind, and the growth of civilization.

The work of geographical explorations has usually passed through three distinctive phases; first commercial purposes; second, advancement of knowledge; third, scientific explorations. Prolific as have been the earlier stages, it is the last named which has been the most potent force in the development of America, especially in the past, and which is so rapidly changing Australia and Africa at the present time. All and any of these methods have been. It is believed, fully successful only as far as there have been conjoined therewith moral forces as adjuncts to physical efforts.

In his quaint history of Muscovia, the immortal Milton, passing beyond the common features of geography—as to mountains and rivers, as to longitudes and latitudes—argued that its higher scope included broad phases of earth conditions and human relations well suited for the efforts of a learned and judicious mind. It is notable that with his high ideals the blind poet, clearly discerning moral relations, sharply discriminated between exploration for gain and that for nobler purposes.

Following afar this great master of English speech and forceful fashioner of human thought, it is well to make clear the essential points.

Incentives to Exploration.

As material results are classed those where the outcome is mainly pecuniary and physical, most frequently in the form of commercial or industrial exploitation, in mining gold, silver or copper, etc., the moral results are associated with the generous assimilation and liberal development of discovered regions, under conditions whereby the civilized world benefits in the aggregate, and primitive folk are raised higher in the scale of humanity. In such cases the natural resources of the country and the mental activities of the people are made to increasingly subserve the new regions involved and by reaction similarly improve the rest of the world. Intelligence, justice, temperance, tolerance, fair-dealing and educative methods along the higher moralities are essential qualities of the true explorer. Their practical and successful application is an important factor in the evolution from uncivilized materials of a modern state, so as to justify its admission to international comity.

Marked though it has been by faults largely those of the ages, the geographical history of Spain is glorious to the highest degree, whether measured by its material or moral results. With the discoveries of Columbus and the world-circumnavigation of Magellan, modern geography was born. Indefatigable in purpose, unsurpassed in bravery, unyielding in religion, but deferential to racial prejudices, gracious in manner and courteous in speech, Spanish explorers made an indelible impress from one end of the earth to the other. In the Antilles or South America, in Mexico or the Philippines, they thoroughly implanted their customs and ideals, their administration and religion, their laws and language. The Spanish civil law, whose first Mexican code antedated by half a century any English settlement in the United States, is today, in pure or modified form, second as to area and population only to English law, while the melodious language of Spain is the daily speech of nearly triple its home population. In the aggregate the Spanish explorer, by extending the sway of law over, and instilling Christianity into the hearts of the natives of new lands has exerted a more potent moral influence than has any other nationality.

A Tribute to Livingstone.

Let us turn to a brighter phase of African history wherein the geographical explorations of a single man, David Livingstone, produced moral results of the highest value. In golden words Stanley pointed out that the track of Livingstone's explorations form on the map of Africa the shape of our Saviour's cross.

In these journeys Livingstone impressed the spirit of that symbol on the people of Africa, and ever scattering the words of the Master and patterning his life thereafter, exerted an unsurpassed moral influence on hundreds of thousands of men, and so made the first rift in the ignorant barbarism of a dark continent.

"For 30 years his life was spent in an unwearied effort to evangelize the native races, to explore the undiscovered secrets and abolish the desolating slave trade of Central Africa."

Of Stanley Africanus, as I call him, his African explorations in their potentialities are second alone to those of Columbus. From Stanley's labors have come wondrous results; commerce and religion form beneficent settlements; slavery disappears gradually; inter-tribal wars cease; industries spring up, and there is peacefully organized a vast tropical empire, the Congo Free State, "a civilizing center in the heart of Africa," potential in its possibilities of moral and material development.

I have been asked to say a few words regarding the scope and results of Arctic explorations to which many attach a moral value, while mistakingly, at least, as to its past, considering it to be peculiarly unprofitable. In material results the aggregate value exceeds $12,000,000,000. Most important are the American whale fisheries, $232,000,000 from 1804 to 1876, and the Dutch fishery, 1677 to 1775, over $160,000,000. In lesser order of value follow the British fishery, the fur trade of Northeastern Siberia, the fossil-ivory of the new Siberian islands and the Alaskan seal and fur products.

Turning to the interrelated moral and material outcome, may be cited the northeastern Arctic voyage of Chancellor, who set out, to Quote Hakluyt:

"Either to bring that to pass which was intended, or to die the death."

Of this expedition Milton wrote:

"The discovery of Russia by the Northern ocean might have seemed an enterprise almost heroic if any higher end than excessive love of gain and traffic had animated the design."

Freedom of the Seas.

There was, however, a moral result not foreseen by Milton. It is not alone that this exploration was the beginning of England's mighty maritime power and her commercial supremacy, it initiated a freedom of the seas as highways, it strengthened international comity then in its infancy, it cultivated the spirit of patriotism and elevated the sense of national self-respect.

I speak hesitatingly of my own Arctic work, which was primarily devoted to scientific observations, being one of the 14 international stations occupied from 1881 to 1882. In field work it added 6,000 square miles to our knowledge, and took the honors of the farthest north, held for 360 continuous years by England.

Retreating 40 miles south in 1883, according to orders, it wintered at Cape Sabine, where shipwreck and mismanagement of the home authorities left the party without supplies. In 1884 the seven remaining men were rescued by the relief expedition of our navy.

Of the work and the men I can say nothing new, in this 25th year since the inception of the Lady Franklin bay expedition. By arduous labor, heroic endurance and unflinching fortitude they advanced our national ensign to an unparalleled latitude on both sea and land; they carried out fully the International program of scientific observations, increasing largely our knowledge of the physics of Arctic regions; by a boat voyage of hundreds of miles they brought through a dense polar icepack their complete records, at the price of bodily suffering and dimishing chances of life. Finally they so comported themselves that under most untoward, prolonged and desperate circumstances, their courage, discipline and subordination were almost invariably maintained. As a result the unity of the command continued through nine months of continuous hunger, and five months of polar cold and darkness. Such moral qualities are the basis of fidelity and honor, so that perhaps it is not too much to say that the work they wrought, the courage and devotion they showed, may long live in the memories of men.

It is needless to here outline the explorations by English, French and Americans, which have led to the evolution of civilization in North America. They are well known parts of our history. Cartier, Hudson, Champlain, Allouez, Joliet, Marquette, Iberville, La Salle, Tonti, Hennepin, Carver, Gray, Mackenzie, Lewis, Clarke, Pike, Long and others were the pioneers.

Wealth of American Exploration.

The material results on the continents of America alone are so vast as to defy summary. Suffice it to say that they now involve 82 nations, 150,000,000 population, and various forms of wealth that aggregate many billions of dollars.

In the last half century other geographical problems have been settled with constantly increasing efficiency by Canadian and American scientists. Their explorations are not alone in finding agricultural, forestal and mineral resources, but also in connection with the characteristics of plant and animal life, together with the properties of climate and soil affecting their competitive life struggles and successful evolution.

That the moral results of political geography are keeping pace with material advancement, and that there are corresponding uplifts in the life of the masses yearly entering our national domain, I cannot clearly discern though looking optimistically to the future.

Marked though the phases of geographic evolution have been in America disregard of the rights of aboriginal tribes and at the expense of their development, yet the final outcome has been for the benefit of mankind in general. This is especially true along those lines of individual freedom, which at this moment find successful expression in the last important stronghold of despotism on the continent of Europe.

SECRETARY CHURCH TELLS OF PROGRESS OF THE YEAR

How the Various Departments Have Flourished and Work Planned for the Future.

S. H. Church, secretary of the board of trustees, submitted his report regarding the progress of the year. He said:

While the physical activities employed during the last year in the erection of the new buildings have, in some of the departments, made that period one of arrested development, yet nowhere has there been any indication of suspended animation. It has been a year of vast work everywhere of important progress in all channels, of substantial achievements made under discouraging circumstances. The condition of the building you can see for yourselves. It should be completed in good time for the Founder's day celebration next year, and, costing for construction alone about $6,-000,000, this institute should then take rank, in its architecture and its high purpose, with the noblest institutions in the world.

The library has pursued its work through great difficulties, yet with surprising results. Since November, 1904, the total circulation through the entire library system was 584,000 volumes, and the attendance in the various reading rooms was 335,000. This is somewhat less than the preceding year, owing chiefly to building conditions.

Through the childrens' department 54 schools were supplied with books, while 34 home library clubs and 25 reading clubs were conducted, chiefly among the poorer children of the city.

The training school for children's librarians, maintained by Mr. Carnegie, has been in existence for five years and is devoted exclusively to training young women for library work for the children. Its students come from all over the country, many of them being graduates of our best colleges. The demand for trained childrens' librarians is great, and this work offers a new professional field for women which is worthy of the consideration of active and ambitious minds.

Libraries Are Reaching Out.

Counting all the various activities of the library, including the central library, its six branches, 15 deposit stations, school libraries, home libraries and reading clubs, there were in the course of the year 153 agencies in the city of Pittsburgh for the free distribution of books.

The East Liberty branch was opened within the past month and is by far the largest and most complete of the branch buildings. It has a collection already of 12,000 volumes, and the circulation for the first day was 589 volumes. These branch libraries have been inaugurated with special ceremonies, one by one, and those who visit them must be impressed with their conveniences, and possibilities in the way of culture and character, for each of these branch libraries is a torch of light held out over that part of the community which surrounds it.

The museum has felt the spur of the builders perhaps more than any other department, yet it has been able to do a great deal of work in enlarging its collections and in making preparations for the new and elaborate halls which it is soon to occupy. The museum was closed to the public early in the year and the annual prize essay contest has had to be postponed for that reason. Mr. Carnegie has continued his special contributions to the museum, enabling it to acquire the fine collection of minerals made by Mr. W. W. Jefferis of West Chester, Pa., in which are found a great many type specimens. The museum has also acquired a complete collection of the birds of New Zealand from Sir Walter Buller, and upon which he founded his book upon the birds of New Zealand.

The restoration of the great pre-historic monster, Diplodocus, was completed, and the plaster copy of it, which has been in preparation for some three years, was taken to London by Dr. Holland and his assistants, and under the favor of the king of England was presented to the British museum with appropriate ceremonial.

The scientific expeditions sent out by the museum to the west this year, a work which is made possible only by the special patronage of Mr. Carnegie, have been remarkably successful in the discovery of many objects new to science, which, with other material secured, will throw a flood of light upon the development of animal life on this continent in ancient days.

Recognize Museum Publications.

That the scientific publications of the museum are beginning to be recognized all over the world as containing a vast amount of important information is shown by some 2,000 accounts of the museum and references to its work which have been clipped from magazines, newspapers and books during the past year, all from outside of Pittsburgh, and published in some 15 different languages.

Mr. Church made reference to the opening of the eleventh season of the Pittsburgh orchestra in the evening, and also referred to the art exhibition which he characterized as the only international exhibition held in America. Taking up, in his report, the Carnegie Technical school, Mr. Church continued:

How fast we move! Last year this report recorded the fact that the city of Pittsburgh had purchased a site, consisting of 32 acres, and adjacent to Schenley park, and that this had been graded for the school buildings. Today it can be recorded that these schools are partly built and were formally inaugurated on October 16 last, with a day class of 120 young men who won their entrance in a severe competition of 1,723 applicants. Starting without comradeship and without tradition, less than three weeks ago, these young men have already recited the daily lessons with eager concentration upon their studies, besides showing that they are in mental and physical good health by organizing for athletic pastimes, adopting the Carnegie tartan for their colors, and going out into Panther Hollow to try several specimens of well-recommended yells. The school buildings have sprung up on the adjacent hill in one year's time.

Is there room for such a school here? Sixty-four hundred students answer the question by registering their names and pressing for admission as soon as the school is enlarged to a sufficient capacity. As this enormous registration gives some indication of the public interest in technical education, it seems only proper to offer a very brief description of the school, for the further enlightenment of those who, here or elsewhere, will either listen to this report or read it.

The Carnegie Technical schools embrace four distinct organic divisions, which, together form a comprehensive system of technical education.

First is the school of applied science, which has been designed to administer to the needs of young men of 16 years of age who desire a thorough preparation for some specialized vocation, such as architectural, civil, chemical, railroad, motive power, foundry, electrical and mechanical practice.

Then there is the school of apprentices and journeymen, which offers a course of instruction for the further education of apprentices already at work at their trade, who will receive, at night or at such other times as can be suitably arranged, the technical and theoretical information which will prepare them for advancement to the ranks of skilled mechanics.

After that is the school of applied design, which offers courses of instruction to classes in technical design and mechanical processes of the various art industries.

And last is the technical school for women, which has for its particular aim the training of women in many ways to earn their livelihood.

CHARLESTON WILL REFORM.

January First Gamblers Must Turn Over a New Leaf or Go to Jail.

CHARLESTON, W. VA., Nov. 2.—(Special.)—The municipal authorities have begun a crusade against the gambling fraternity of this city and the order has gone forth that beginning with the first of the new year a fine of $100 and a jail sentence of 30 days will be given each one convicted of operating a gambling resort.

This order follows the action of Police Judge Wertz today in having before him 15 prisoners of gambling dens, who were assessed fines aggregating $600 and notified to close their places of business.

Defense Sets Up Fine Point.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 2.—(Special.)—Magistrate Eisenbrown today heard the evidence in the case of Rudolph Blankenberg, charged with criminal libel by Felix Isman. The defense claimed oral charges are not libellous, and Isman should have sued for slander. On this technicality Blankenberg will probably be discharged. If he is, Isman will proceed on the ground of slander.

OFFICIALS ARE PICKED FOR GAME

Young and Church to Work the Shadyside-Kiski Contest Next Tuesday.

PRACTICE AT W. U. P. FIELD

E. P. Young, Cornell, and Bill Church, Princeton, have been selected to officiate in the championship game between Kiski and Shadyside academy Tuesday afternoon, Election day, at Friendship park. Shadyside chose these officials and Kiski assented, there not being the least semblance of a hitch over their selection.

Coach Park of the Kiski eleven last night sent the weights of his team to The Gazette. The following figures, he says, represents the weights of the men in street clothes just previous to the game at Indiana last Monday. The weights are:

Wagner, center	145
Hayward, right guard	168
Kumler, right tackle	190
Andrews, right end	165
Wilson, quarterback	123
McGregor, right half	165
Graham, full back	148
Average weight	158
Substitutes:
Guthrie	148
Jamison	116
Fink	165
Lamberton	155
Porter	160
Daub	145
Campbell	150

Shadyside had another spirited practice yesterday. The graduate coaching staff was augmented by Bruce Hill, a former captain, who played on the Boston Tech. school; Karl Warhcastle of Yale, and Drax. Drave of Lehigh. Humbird, Ahl and Hall played in the backfield for the scrubs, who scored once on the regulars. Humbird going through the line from the five-yard mark. The regulars scored twice, Herron taking the ball over on each occasion. Bob McCoy retired from the line-up because of a bad knee and Gibson went into fullback. The coaches were pleased with the work of the team and at the conclusion of the practice expressed hopes of a victory over Kiski.

Wups' Fast Work.

A dry field at Exposition park was partly responsible for a speedy practice by the W. U. P. squad yesterday. With the exception of Turner and Swenson the men seemed none the worse for their tumbling in the mud in Wednesday's game with Mount Union. Turner is suffering from a severely bruised hand and wrist. Swenson twisted his ankle in a daring hurdle. After a short period of signal work the varsity and scrubs lined up for a short scrimmage battle. Capt. Thompson was in the scrimmage yesterday and showed good speed. A hot contest is expected with Bethany tomorrow. Bethany has a heavy line and a speedy backfield. The W. U. P. students are making extensive preparations in the rooting line for the big games.

School Game Today.

This afternoon at 3:30 o'clock Allegheny Preparatory school and Allegheny High school will meet in their second game for the interscholastic championship of Allegheny. The High boys have been steadily improving since their defeat by the Preps. The lineup will be:

MILLIONS OF COLLARS FOR MILLIONS OF MEN.

Interesting Facts About the Making of Collars—An Enormous Industry.

Every style of dress demands its particular style and cut of collar, and the man who disregards this has no eye for the fitness of things and debars himself from the ranks of the well-dressed.

Just examine a collar and see how it must be cut to conform to the neck and to the shirtband. Take one of the four collars that are now so popular and spread it out flat. It will surprise you to see how much material goes into a collar of this kind and how the lines and curves must be studied in the cutting to make it set just right on the shirt. The most interesting, as well as the largest factories in the world are those of Cluett, Peabody & Company, at Troy, and Rochester, N. Y.

The perfect-fitting Arrow and Cluett collars of today, which are the two leading brands of this great concern, are the result of a great deal of study and experiment. Until recently one of the hardest things to do was to overcome the natural shrinkage of material and make a collar that would retain its original size after being laundered. Cluett, Peabody & Company overcame the difficulty by inaugurating in their factory a shrinking process now famous as the Clupeco process, and controlled by them exclusively. The Clupeco process shrinks every inch of material before it goes to the cutters. This means that a collar stamped 14½ is a 14½ forever. No amount of laundering can change it.

With the non-shrinking collars came the exact quarter sizes which have contributed so much to man's comfort. The Clupeco process made the exact quarter-size possible, since quarter sizes made from unshrunken material are not practical.

Another exclusive feature of these collars is the tie-loop which is attached to some of the styles. This simple device retains a string tie in its proper position after being tied, overcoming the annoyance of having the tie slip up on the front of the collar and exposing the collar button.

Collars and cuffs are not the sole product of the Cluett, Peabody & Company factories. They are also the makers of Cluett and Monarch shirts, and are the originators of the "Coat Shirt."

The North Braddock and Munhall teams met for the first time last night on the Homestead alleys. The Munhall boys swamped their opponents napping in the second game and beat them by 10 pins, Laird pulling the game out of the fire. It was a most interesting match, the North Braddock lads making a strong finish, getting the highest score of the match in the third game. They were a little careless in the second game, but in the third game every man, except Schmidt, rolled his highest score. Flick improved with each game and wound up with 198, the highest score of the match. For Munhall Murdock made high score by hanging up 181 right off the reel. Scores:

In the Pittsburgh section on the Great Eastern alleys, the Unity and Great Eastern teams met in an interesting contest. No phenomenal scores were made, but the games were interesting on account of the many railroads the players got with the least effort. The Unitys made a clean sweep of all three games, but the undoubtedly congratulating themselves on their good fortune, as Heller team had a cinch on the game until the last frame was played. The Central league boys did themselves gloriously last night and the Costas are the cheeky bowlers to date. All bowlers should glance at their scores if they have the ambition to run up ideal scores among the bowling fraternity. The Costas put up scores that would be a credit to any bowling team in the country, rolling the magnificent average of 863 2-3. In fact, they should have had two good scores, but unfortunate railroads put a damper on their ambitions. Sands of the American Bridge Company was the high bowler of the evening, breaking all records to date by making 236. Jack (the attorney) was the boss bowler, having the splendid average of 200 1-3. The Savoys and Dinling Brothers postponed their game until a later date. The games and scores are as follows:

FOUR CLUBS TO FORM SCHOOL HOCKEY LEAGUE

The Interscholastic Hockey league this season will be composed of teams representing four schools, Shadyside, Pittsburgh High school, East Liberty academy and Wilkinsburg High school, if the latter shows it can produce as good a team as last year. Pittsburgh College may have a team from the "prep." department, making a five-club league.

The usual Saturday afternoon games will be done away with this year. Instead the teams will play Wednesday afternoon. Alan Bright will captain Pittsburgh High school and Charlie Carter the East Liberty team. The other teams have not selected their captains.

BOSTON TEAM NOT YET CHANGED ITS OWNERS

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—There is a merry row on over the transfer of the Boston National league franchise to Frank V. Dunn, who bargained for the club early in the season, posted a $5,000 forfeit and promised to make good on November 1 and receive the goods. Dunn, with two lawyers, met yesterday and, after four hours of haggling and wrangling, adjourned at 6 o'clock, absolutely no nearer a transfer than they were before they met.

Dunn says he was ready to make the final payment, and expected the other parties to deliver the goods. Messrs. Soden and Conant were ready to fulfill their part of the contract, but they claimed that there were a few obligations that Dunn had imposed upon them, and that before any papers were passed Mr. Dunn must settle for the extras, a matter of $2,700.

It seems that about the middle of the season the management thought it wise to retrench, and decided to release Pitcher Wilhelm and Fielder Cannell, what they considered expensive luxuries. They communicated with Dunn, but he refused absolutely to sanction the move.

Then they got a frenzied finance offer of $10,000 for Pitcher Young. They wanted to take it quick, but again Dunn interfered, and they were not allowed to do so. Young at the time was getting $200 per month. He was to get more in his new place. Messrs. Soden and Conant got an idea that Young might possibly jump the club, and at once raised his salary to $300 per month. The sum total of these three salary surpluses is $2,700.

Dunn disclaims all responsibility, but lawyers for the league, men say, he gets nothing until he meets this obligation, and, furthermore, that unless he acts quickly and according to schedule his $5,000 forfeit will be the price of his procrastination.

Then again there is another little matter to settle. The Boston National team is incorporated, under the laws of the state of Massachusetts and those laws are strict as the Boston Baseball association. Mr. Dunn incorporated his new purchase in Maine as the "Boston Baseball club." The corporation laws of Maine are, if anything, worse than those of New Jersey.

The Boston Baseball association is a member of the National league, but the Boston Baseball club is not, and there is a pretty reliable rumor around Boston tonight that it never will be. It is known that before the season closed there was a great deal of talk among the National magnates over Dunn's prospective ownership, and there were a number who were outspoken in their objections. Whether this talk had anything to do with Messrs. Soden and Conant tacking on the $2,700 extras and also bringing up the matter of "association" and "club" in the incorporation is not known, but one thing is dead sure and that is that $2,700 is a mighty small sum to haggle over in a deal that calls for over $400,000 transfer.

Somebody probably owns the Boston National baseball team, but just who is an undecided point, and it's a sawmill to a wooden toothpick that no league umpire can make a correct decision.

AFTER A NEW PLAYER.

Fred Clarke in San Francisco Trying to Land Joe Nealon.

Fred Clarke, manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, is at present in San Francisco. According to reports from there of late he is there to secure Joe Nealon, the big first baseman of the San Francisco team. A dispatch from San Francisco says: "Fred Clarke, manager-captain of Pittsburgh Pirates, and a man who gave to Smoky City three pennants, is here and will make an attempt to land Nealon. Nealon's reputation in the east seems to be spreading, for there are several of the big league clubs anxious to get Joe to affix his 'John Hancock' to a document for his services. Clarke made the trip all the way here from his home near Winfield, Kan., at the request of Barney Dreyfuss, with orders to land Nealon if possible.

Ed Geers was the most successful driver on the Grand Circuit this year. The horses he drove won $36,569.

Ed Cline of New Albany, who umpired in the Central league last season, will be on the staff of the Northern Pacific league next season.

Henry Harris, manager of the San Francisco baseball team, has sold Pitcher Hoy Hitt to the New York American league club for $6,000.

Cy Seymour will not be traded to New York, so says Garry Herrmann. "We can't afford to lose the biggest advertisement we have just now. Harper will be disposed of before spring."

Howard C. Griffith has begun suit for $25,000 damages against ex-President Powers and Secretary Farrell of the Eastern league. He claims these officials summarily dismissed him from the arbitration board without a vote of the league on the case.

YALE MAY NOT USE "TAD" JONES

Quarterback Has Bad Leg and Mack Will Say If He Shall Play Against Columbia.

FROM THE OTHER COLLEGES

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Nov. 2.—Except for a short drill tomorrow afternoon Yale's football eleven is ready for Columbia. The blue team will lineup just as it did in the West Point game unless Trainer Mack decides against the use of "Tad" Jones at quarterback. His injured left leg has been massaged by experts and also given the "baking" treatment, so that he can probably start in the game if the coaches insist.

Field Coach Owsley has invited Head Coach W. T. Reid, of Harvard, and also the Princeton coaches to be his guests at the Columbia game. They will probably confer on Friday or Saturday evening in New York on the matter of officials for the big games.

Today's practice was in the main a scrimmage drill of 25 minutes, in which the varsity offense was well nigh irresistible, several touchdowns being made. The scrubs were reinforced and were able to make headway, but the varsity defense was betterr than a week ago. The shift of Bockenberger to center and Sanders to left guard was tried for a few minutes and seemed a successful aid to defense.

Cornell.

ITHACA, N. Y., Nov. 2.—(Special.)—With the real hard work that Coach Glen S. Warner is now giving his pupils at Cornell in preparation for the Swarthmore game Saturday, the varsity is rapidly being rounded into proper shape for the three big games of the schedule. For two days now the practice has been to give the regulars a hard 20-minute scrimmage with the freshmen team and later to ring in a fresh eleven of sophomores. With these tactics it has been shown that the varsity is weaker on defensive than on the offensive. With Thompson, who has developed into a regular battering ram to gain needed distances and the strong trio of Wilder, Halliday and Mattin, in the back field it will take something like cement walls for it withstand Cornell's attacks. A number of subs were used in the scrimmage today. The sub-regulars failed to score, but they did better than did the varsity yesterday as the sophomores were also prevented from crossing the goal line. In Swarthmore Saturday Cornell expects to meet a hard proposition, but as this game is not of any great importance all efforts will only be made to come out with a winning score.

Harvard.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Nov. 2.—(Special.)—Bartol S. Parker, the heaviest candidate for the Harvard varsity eleven, who played guard in the games against Yale and Pennsylvania last fall, was shifted from his guard berth today and tried out at center, which position he played for five years on the Milton academy eleven before matriculating at Cambridge. Parker tips the beam at 235 pounds and is exceptionally fast for such a heavyweight. He has been working on the left side of the line this fall, but could not accustom himself to the duties of a guard. The playing of Pierce, Burr, Kersberg and Spear in the guard stations recently forced Parker out of the running, as all four weigh more than 200 pounds each and have proved a trifle more aggressive than the former Milton boy. Should Parker make good at center in the next few days, Coach Reid will have 10 of his men picked for the Pennsylvania game and incidentally for the tussle with Yale on November 25. Center and guard assignments have worried Reid considerably, but with Hanley's return to his old form and Bob Guild and Carr having a merry rub also for the honor, it looks now as though the contest for fullback will be settled by Monday. This afternoon the varsity had rather an easy time as Captain Burley and Coach Reid expect a warm engagement with the Carlisle Indians Saturday and no chances will be taken in preparing the men for the battle.

Close Game Won by the Garfields.

The 100-ball match pool game between the Garfield and Crescent teams of the Allegheny County Pool league, at the Crescent's rooms, Wood street, Wilkinsburg, last night was won by the Garfields by the close score of 100 to 96. The game was one of the best and closest ever played by these two teams. The fine playing of Birch of the Garfields and Yohrling of the Crescents was the feature. The same teams will play a return game at the Garfield's room next Thursday evening. Score and lineup:

Second Day Is Blank.

UPPERVILLE, VA., Nov. 2.—The second day's meet of the Middlesex-Grafton hound trials, the English-American match, resulted in a blank. The Grafton hounds were taken out an hour before daybreak today and carried 10 miles to Leighton plantation, where seven minutes after sunrise they were cast into cover. The hounds ran away from the field and judges, and although several farmers testified that the pack raised a red fox and

FRENZIED MINER KILLS HIMSELF

LABORER'S HORRIBLE DEATH

Suddenly appearing with a revolver, Frank Blanchard, aged 55, a coal miner, spread terror in the little mining town at Champion coal tipple, near Sturgeon, about 5:50 o'clock last evening. Blanchard attempted to kill several persons during his mad attack upon the settlement. He was at his home when seized by a sudden frenzy. He drove his wife and five children from the house with his revolver.

After his family fled Blanchard, revolver in hand, started to run down the road toward the home of Ford Haley. Haley and his wife were in the house and Blanchard opened fire on them, both balls going wide. Failing in his efforts to kill someone, Blanchard turned the weapon on himself, sending a bullet through his heart and falling dead within 200 yards of his own home.

"I am going to die. Send word to my brother, O. L. Henry of 1124 Wood street, Texarkana, Tex.," said Charles Henry, aged 26, of Indiana, Pa. He was a brakeman on the West Penn railroad and at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon had both legs and one arm crushed. One hour later he died on the operating table in the Allegheny General hospital. The message was sent last night.

Knocked from Freight Car.

Henry was standing on top of a freight car while the cars were being shifted at Ross station and was knocked from the car in front of another, which ran over him. As soon as assistance reached him he requested Freight Conductor Marieta to send the message.

Hugh, the 5-year-old son of John McGettigan, of Highland avenue, Turtle Creek, died yesterday morning of burns received the day before while playing with a Hallowe'en jack-o'-lantern. The child's mother is sick in bed and a brother has typhoid fever. There was no one to watch the child. He found a pumpkin which had been hollowed out, and in the absence of a candle he poured oil into it and applied a match. His clothing had become saturated with oil and they ignited. The mother and brother, hearing his screams, left their sickbeds and went to his rescue, but he was burned all over the body. The brother, John McGettigan, Jr., fainted from excitement and exhaustion, and it is feared his death will result.

Workman Meets Awful Death.

Joseph Prusch, aged 23, a Polish laborer of Smalliman and Forty-fourth streets, met a horrible death yesterday at Bellevue, his body being transfixed on the handle of a wheelbarrow. Prusch was employed by a contractor, who is clearing and grading the Bellevue extension plan of lots. A big tree was being chopped down by the workmen, and the men were ordered to go to a place of safety until it fell. Prusch remained standing beside his wheelbarrow, thinking himself safe. When the tree fell the branches upset the barrow, driving one of the handles through his body. He leaves a widow and three children.

Harry Berkey, an employe of the Harwick Coal Company who was shot at Cheswick Tuesday night by Frank Kane, died yesterday morning at the Allegheny General hospital. Berkey, with others went to Kane's house to get some beer. Kane ordered them away and, it is alleged, Berkey attempted to force his way into the place. Kane fired through the front door, the bullet striking Berkey in the stomach. Kane is in jail on a charge of murder.

GLASS MEN IN SESSION.

Are Holding Three-Days Meeting Here to Adjust the Wage Scale.

The executive board of the Glass Bottle Blowers association of America is holding a three-days session at the Seventh Avenue hotel with D. A. Hayes of Philadelphia, president, presiding. The object of the session is to adopt the wage scale of last year. This scale was refused by the manufacturers at the board's meeting in Atlantic City in August, the manufacturers demanding a reduction of 15 per cent because of the introduction of automatic bottle making machinery and of non-union competition.

The factories have been started and more men are employed at the trade today than were at work at this time last year. This is taken as an indication that the blowers are to the paid last year's scale. The proposition is to be formally presented to the manufacturers today.

The Importance of Sanitary Environment in the Selection of a Home.

By W. H. MEYERS, M. D.

While the hygienic importance of proper diet, healthful clothing and intelligently directed physical exercise—subjects that for years this journal has treated upon—demands attention from every one who would enjoy life at its best, there is another essential feature in the grand scheme of right living that should receive consideration from every man and every woman who realizes that none but healthful homes can possibly be happy homes. Probably this feature should take precedence of the other hygienic features, for it is the foundation upon which all the others rest, the corner stone upon which is built happy and contented households.

This fundamental feature presents itself in the selection of a location for the erecting of a home, for as is the environment so will be the household—upon the choosing of a dwelling place depends the health, well being and happiness of the family; and, fully appreciating this vital truth, we shall, from time to time, make editorial investigations of various residence secretions and report upon the same from an unbiased viewpoint, in the interests of our readers, who seek proper surroundings for their dwelling places.

The inquiry of a Pittsburgh subscriber has recently directed our attention to Knoxville, a residence section offered to home seekers by the Knoxville Land Improvement Company, and for the benefit of this reader—and for others of our readers wishing unbiased information regarding the hygienic features of Knoxville—we have, through competent sanitary authorities, obtained such unbiased information, regarding the same as every intending home-builder should carefully consider in weighing the relative advantages offered by real estate dealers in their advertisements of residence locations for persons of moderate means.

As regards sanitary environment Knoxville must be conceded worthy of favorable report from the physician and the hygienist, for its exemption from liability to zymotic diseases is assured by the nature of its situation, which offers drainage facilites, soil free from insanitary features, and an atmosphere exempt from the contaminations of a crowded city. Pure air, proper ground on which to build and effective means for the disposal of waste matter and sewerage, unite to make this an ideal residence section, as viewed from the standpoint of health—and expert scientific information was obtained regarding all of these features by the editorial department of this publication as a basis for this report.

No matter how enticingly a residence site may be presented by those interested financially in promoting its sale; no matter how attractive may appear its features to the eye, the careful home-seeker will look farther and demand a "clean bill of health" from competent hygienic authorities before making a selection upon which so much depends as regards the future of the home-seeker and his family.

While this publication is not at all interested in exploiting any particular real estate enterprise, nor in increasing the revenues of any special dealer offering residence lots for sale, we are decidedly interested in protecting the health of our readers in every way, in whatever community they may reside. And in keeping with this principle—for the benefit of those who seek unbiased information regarding the hygienic features of this residence section—we say that Knoxville is editorially indorsed by the New York Health Journal and Beauty Magazine, and we heartily commend it to every reader who seeks a healthful location for a home.

ADVISES MINISTERS TO LIVE AS THEY SING

"Live the psalms you sing," was the parting admonition of the Rev. Dr. Robert M. Russell, pastor of the Sixth United Presbyterian church, North Highland avenue, to those in attendance at the closing session of the eastern psalmody convention of the denomination held in his church last night. He made a strong appeal for the revival of the family altar and the use of the psalms thereat.

The Rev. Dr. John McNaugher of the Allegheny Theological seminary, also spoke last evening, thanking those present for the interest taken in the convention on behalf of the general assembly committee. The last day's session opened yesterday morning with devotional exercises led by the Rev. J. Campbell White, after which the following papers were read:

"The Theism of the Psalter," the Rev. J. K. McClurkin, D. D.; "The Doctrinal Completeness of the Psalter," the Rev. H. H. Crawford, Argyle, N. Y.; "The Ethics of the Psalms," the Rev. William J. Martin, D. D., Fall River, Mass.; "The Imprecatory Psalms," the Rev. J. H. Webster, Philadelphia; "Some Popular Objections to the Exclusive Use of the Psalms in Worship," Prof. James A. Grier, D. D., LL. D., Bellevue.

The Rev. J. C. Taggart, D. D., of East Liverpool, called the afternoon session to order and after the song service the Rev. M. G. Kyle, D. D., of Philadelphia, delivered an address on "The Importance of an Exclusive Use of the Psalms in Present-Day Apologetics." Other speakers and their topics follow:

"The Psalms and Evangelistic Work," the Rev. William J. Reid; "The Psalms and Missions," the Rev. Charles R. Watson, D. D., of Philadelphia; "The Psalms and the Young," the Rev. W. W. Lawrence, Bellevue; "Psalm Versification," the Rev. J. C. K. Milligan, D. D., New York, and "The Literary Excellence of the Psalms," the Rev. David Reed Miller, D. D., of Oakmont.

The Rev. Mr. White conducted a prayer meeting prior to the regular session last night. The Rev. Mr. Hunt, a returned missionary from Egypt, told of the late revival there and the encouragement received from it. Other speakers were:

The Rev. W. H. McMillan, D. D., LL. D., of Allegheny; Prof. John A. Wilson, D. D., LL. D., of Allegheny Theological seminary, and the Rev. James Parker, Ph. D., of Jersey City, N. J.

Rev. J. T. McCrory, D. D., presided at the closing session last night. Four interesting addresses were made. The Rev. Robert L. Hay of New Brighton spoke on "Specimens of Eulogies on the Psalms." He was followed by the Rev. Charles F. Wishart of Allegheny whose theme was "The Musical Interpretation of the Psalms." The Rev. Samuel R. Lyons, D. D., of Richmond, Ind., spoke on "The Catholicity of the Psalter," and "The Status and Outlook of the Cause of Psalmody" was discussed by President R. G. Ferguson, D. D., LL. D., of Westminster college.

SHAW AND HERRICK TALK POLITICS IN COLUMBUS

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 2.—This city was the scene of an old-fashioned Republican mass meeting tonight, addressed by Secretary of the Treasury Shaw and Gov. Herrick. Grover Hutchins, president of the Columbus board of trade, presided, and introduced Secretary Shaw.

"I read in the evening paper that the President of the United States was not interested in the election of governor of Ohio," said the secretary. "If that were true, Shaw would not be in Ohio. Political campaigns ought to be campaigns of education, and the time will come when they will be. The trend in political campaigns is upward. I hope the time has arrived when it is unsafe to conduct a campaign with vilification and falsehood."

Secretary Shaw outlined the difference between the policies and principles of the two great parties and made a strong tariff argument which was well received. He was obliged to cut short his remarks to catch a train for Chicago.

Gov. Herrick devoted his time to a discussion of state issues and a defense of his course in connection with the Brannock law. He launched into a strong attack upon the paid lobbies and said the people would do well to drive them from the state house.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

How It Feels to Be Hunted as Though You Were a Criminal.

(By Mr. George Loose.)

Thousands of people yesterday scrutinized me very closely and many remarks were made as I passed by, viz.: "Don't that man look very much like the Elusive Mr. Loose of the Leader Department Store?" These words kept ringing in my ear at every step and every moment I expected to be captured. Now I realize the feelings of a criminal who is trying to avoid capture. You cannot realize these

EXCHANGE DEAL COMES TO $85,000

I. W. Seaman Gets Property at Fifth and Brady for $55,000, Part in Trade.

BIG OFFER IN OLIVER AVENUE

A. O. Deichon, former president of the Union Realty Company, which was lately acquired by the John K. Ewing Company, has just closed one of the best exchange deals of the year. By the transaction Isaac W. Seaman secures from Friedman & Rosenfeld nine frame houses at the southwest corner of Fifth avenue and Brady street, Fourteenth ward, for $55,000. The houses stand on an irregular-shaped lot facing about 100 feet in Fifth avenue, 73 feet in Brady street and having a depth of over 100 feet in the rear. Four of them face in Fifth avenue and the first floors are occupied as stores. The others are five-room dwellings, part of them being on the rear of the lot. The total rental is over $4,000 a year. Friedman & Rosenfeld secured the property two years ago for $25,000, so that they make a very handsome profit by the deal. In part payment for this property Mr. Seaman tendered 10 six-room houses built in a row and facing on the south side of Wooster stret, between Wylie and Webster avenues, Eleventh ward. These are known as 17-23 Wooster street, and the lot on which they stand is 125x87 feet. The houses are rented for about $2,000 a year, and were put into the deal at $20,000. James H. Thompson has secured the renting of both properties.

Big Leases Being Considered.

Some rumors of big leases are going the rounds nowadays and they promise all sorts of investing developments in the downtown section. It is reported on very good authority that E. H. Myers declined an offer this week of $32,000 a year for a 20-year lease on his packing house at Oliver avenue and Book alley. The prospective tenant, it is said, further agreed to make improvements to cost $80,000 and to occupy the place with a mercantile establishment. Mr. Myers has not fully decided yet what he will do with the building, and may lease it if he gets his price. The probabilities are, however, that he will accept some of the plans now being drawn for a four-story addition, let the first floor down 18 inches to the level of Oliver alley and make the building over into a modern store block. It is now five stories high above ground and has two stories below the street level. It is 80x100 feet and was erected 28 years ago.

It is also reported on the best of authority that the building at 346 Fifth avenue, now tenanted by R. S. Davis & Co., booksellers, who will move to Wood street, has been leased for a long period. Two brokerage firms are interested in closing the lease, which accounts for the fact that full details of the transaction have not been made public heretofore.

Another rumor which is given considerable credence by those posted is that Thomas J. Keenan is negotiating with a prominent downtown mercantile firm to lease the 10 or 12-story block which he proposes to erect next spring on his site, 60x88 feet, at the northwest corner of Liberty avenue and Seventh street. It is known that the firm has been looking for a location for months and the Liberty avenue location is one that would be desirable for it, and its moving there would entirely revolutionize the character of the business in that neighborhood.

Elizabeth P. Smithey has purchased from Mrs. E. E. Lusk the residence property at 5819 Wellesley avenue, near Negley avenue, Nineteenth ward, for $18,000. The residence is a 10-room, reception-hall, brick modern in its finish and conveniences and stands on 47.6x107 feet. It was bought for a home.

The Morningside Presbyterian church, which recently sold its old frame building on 99x100 feet in Butler street, near Haight's run, to John Klein for $5,000, and bought a site 100x102 feet in Chislett street, near Hampton avenue, for a like amount, has commissioned Architects Vrydaugh & Wolfe to prepare plans for a $15,000 building. This will be a brick church, to seat 300 or more persons, and it will be started this fall.

E. F. Guthrie has secured title from James B. Graham to a property, 120x150 feet, in Sheridan avenue, Nineteenth ward, for which he paid $15,000.

A big deal in the Second avenue district has been articled for and is likely to be closed in a few days. Another transaction of $30,000 or more in the Swissvale section is booked for an early closing and the purchase will be followed by an important building operation. A third deal, totaling over $50,000, for property below Wood street in one of the lower avenues was reported yesterday, but the brokers declined to give out the details till the deeds were delivered.

Theater Report Causes Comment.

The publication in The Gazette yesterday that the Shubert Brothers and their allied interests will build a $1,000,000 theater in Pittsburgh within the next two years for the independents caused widespread discussion among real estate men. Last year and in 1903 theater rumors were so numerous as to be treated almost with contempt, especially as several of the projects flaunted did not materialize. It has been suspected for some time, however, that the Independent combine was looking for a site in this city and the names of several well-known brokerage houses have been linked up with the deal. When the Real Estate Trust Company located the Nixon theater in Sixth avenue and B. F. Keith in Fifth avenue it was thought the day for big theater sites to be sold was past for several years. Whether the latter site will ever be used for theatrical purposes is doubtful, but it is the opinion of brokers that a deal will be made before spring for one of two other sites similar in value to the Keith lot.

A house famine has struck McKees Rocks, the first epidemic of the kind that has visited the borough for four years. Two reasons are assigned for it. One is that the Pressed Steel Car Company, which is said to have orders for $40,000,000 worth of finished stock on its books, is increasing its force of men and thus rapidly filling up all the available houses in the town. In addition to this the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie yards and the Panhandle yards are sending dozens of new families into McKees Rocks to live. On the other hand comparatively little house building is being done in the borough at present. As a result the dilapidated houses which were covered with "To Let" signs last year are all filled now, even in the face of winter and there is hardly a house of any kind in the borough for rent.

Sales Made by Brokers.

Wylie avenue: James H. Thompson sold to S. Lenschner three frame houses on 40x113 feet at the northwest corner of Wylie avenue and Granite street, for $6,750. They are rented for $64 a month. Mr. Thompson also sold for Walter L. Hays to Sarah Goodman a three-story brick house on 21x70 feet at 2417 Sarah street, Twenty-first ward, for $3,000.

Erin street: The Aronson Realty Company sold for a prominent attorney to John J. Kelly, 115 Erin street, an eight-room brick house on 20x90 feet, for $4,150.

Summit park: Keck, Helle & Daschbach sold for the Summit Park Land Company to Frank Mack 50x140 feet in Library road, near Highland circle, for $375.

East End: James Kuntz, Jr., sold to A. Leo Weil 61x139 feet on the west side of South Highland avenue, near Howe street, Twentieth ward, for $9,500.

Roberts street: David Stern sold to Joseph Goldberg an improved lot, 36x85 feet, in Roberts street, Eleventh ward, for $6,700.

Euclid avenue: S. H. Lloyd sold for W. S. Kuhn to S. Young an improved lot, 25x105 feet, in Euclid avenue, Nineteenth ward, for $6,000.

Upland street: G. L. Farrell sold to W. C. Hornung an improved lot, 25x93 feet, in Upland street, Twenty-first ward, for $2,500.

Hazelwood: D. Jones sold to M. Soisson 24x105 feet in Hazelwood avenue and 20x105 feet in Kansas street, Twenty-third ward, for $2,200.

The only building permit issued yesterday aside from some minor ones for alterations was granted to James Stothers for a two-story frame dwelling in Grant boulevard, Thirteenth ward, to cost $1,500.

The Alan Wood farm, between McKeesport and East McKeesport, on the White Oak Level road, has been sold to D. L. Clark, a McKeesport business man, who is now in California, for $40,000. The property contains about 30 acres of land, improved with residence and outbuildings, and was formerly occupied by the Wood family, when Alan Wood was actively connected with the W. DeWees Wood steel plant at McKeesport. The property was once offered to the city of McKeesport by Mr. Wood's representatives as a site for a poor farm for $30,000, but owing to the fact that at that time the city had no ordinance by which the property could be purchased for that purpose the deal was dropped. Since then the poor farm ordinance has been passed and a new site will be secured.

PISTOL DUEL ENDS FATALLY.

MATEWAN, W. VA., Nov. 2.—(Special.)—A pistol duel occurred this afternoon between Homer Sowards and Freeland Chessman, both of whom were employed on a small boat going up the Tug river.

Sowards was struck by several bullets and was standing so near the edge of the steamer that his body fell overboard. It was recovered later. Chessman leaped from the steamer, swam to the Kentucky shore and escaped. Both men lived in Mingo county.

NOBODY IS EXEMPT.

A New Preparation Which Everyone Will Need Sooner Or Later.

Almost everybody's digestion is disordered more or less, and the commonest thing they do for it is to take some one of the many so-called blood purifiers, which, in many cases, are merely strong cathartics. Such things are not needed. If the organs are in a clogged condition, they need only a little help and they will right themselves. Cathartics irritate the sensitive linings of the stomach, and bowels and often do more harm than good.

Purging is not what is needed. The thing to do is to put the food in condition to be readily digested and assimilated. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do this perfectly. They partly digest what is eaten and give the stomach just the help it needs. They stimulate the secretion and excretion of the digestive fluids and relieve the congested condition of the glands and membranes. They put the whole digestive system in condition to do its work. When that is done you need take no more tablets, unless you eat what does not agree with you. Then take one or two tablets—give them needed help, and you will have no trouble.

It's a common-sense medicine, and a common-sense treatment, and it will cure every time. Not only cure the disease, but cure the cause. Goes about it in a perfectly sensible and scientific way.

We have testimonials enough to fill a book, but we don't publish many of them. However—Mrs. E. M. Faith, of Byrd's Creek, Wis., says:

"I have taken all the Tablets I got of you and they have done their work well in my case, for I feel like a different person altogether. I don't doubt if I had not got them I should have been at rest by this time."

H. E. Willard, Onslow, Ia., says: "Mr. White of Canton, was telling me of your Dyspepsia Tablets curing him of Dyspepsia, from which he suffered for eight years. As I am a sufferer myself I wish you to send me a package by return mail."

Phil. Brooks, Detroit, Mich., says: "Your Dyspepsia cure has worked wonders in my case. I suffered for years from dyspepsia, but am now entirely cured and enjoy life as I never have before. I gladly recommend them."

It will cost 50c to find out just how much Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will help you. Try them—that's the best way to decide.

ATTACHMENT OUT FOR A. C. CHILDS

MARSHALL MAKES HARD FIGHT

Judge Macfarlane, before whom A. G. Marshall is on trial, charged with larceny and conspiracy, issued an attachment for A. C. Childs, one of the directors of the Duquesne Mutual Fire Insurance Company, who was not in court when called as a witness. It is believed he is in a hospital, but as his testimony is highly important for the commonwealth to make out a case, the court was asked to send for him.

C. H. Hayden, who was secretary of the Duquesne Fire Insurance Company, testified he turned over the books to Marshall when he resigned, and was called to identify certain books as those belonging to the company. He could only identify the minute book, the others having been changed since he left office.

F. C. Armstrong, cashier of the Washington National bank, identified a number of checks which were cashed in the bank, and had been drawn by the three insurance companies to Marshall's order. He explained how certain ones were cashed for Marshall and others went through the clearing house. Some were made to Marshall as secretary of the North American Fire Insurance Company and indorsed by him as secretary. This evidence was objected to by Marshall's attorneys, as it was not shown by the witness that Marshall got the money individually. The court sustained the objections, not as to the checks themselves being admitted, but as to the testimony of the witness.

Attorney Kahle said, "How in the world is the commonwealth going to prove these checks, then?" Attorney Kahle offered in evidence all the checks identified with the signature of Marshall, and their face value.

The witness then testified that two checks were drawn, one by the Duquesne Mutual for $1,000, payable to the order of Marshall as treasurer, and the other for $1,000, similarly drawn. They went into the account of Marshall as treasurer. The bank account of Marshall as treasurer of these companies was identified by the witness.

Lindsey Rockwell said he wrote insurance for all the companies as an agent. This, he said, was all the connection he had with the Duquesne company. The witness was a director in the North American and Lafayette companies and held the office in both companies until December 10 last, when he resigned. The minute book of the North American company was identified by the witness, but while he thought another book was the minute book of the Lafayette company he could not positively identify it. Witness identified his signature on page 28 of the minute book, and said the other signature in the book did not look like his writing. The policy register book No. 3 was identified by the witness as the policy register of the Lafayette company. Another book was identified as far as page 4 as the cash book of S. Lindsey Rockwell & Co.

ALMOST BREAKS RECORD.

But Once Before in Its History Have Eleven Cases Been Heard Before Supreme Court.

The supreme court came very close to breaking a record yesterday. Eleven cases were argued. Only once has this been exceeded, and then by but one case. The manner in which the list was handled has made it possible to see the end of the term. All the remaining cases are on the list for today and the court will adjourn tomorrow, holding another Saturday session should it be impossible to hear all the arguments today. The list will be taken up tomorrow morning and court sit until it is finished.

The cases argued yesterday were: Tran & Loeyner, appellants vs. W. L. Sloan & Company, an action on a real estate transaction; J. W. Todd, appellan, vs. J. H. Armstrong, an action on the construction of a will; the S. Jarvis Adams Company, appellant, vs. S. A. Knapp, an action to restrain the appellee from engaging in a certain business; F. W. Bealafeld and others, vs. Milton Shaugenbaupt, appellant, an action to settle a title; Felix and Joseph Michalofski, appellant, vs. the Pittsburgh Screw & Bolt Company, an action for damage arising from personal injuries; the C. L. Flaccus Company, appellant, vs. the West Penn Gas Company, an action in a contract; C. F. Lindberg, appellant, vs. the National Tube Company, an action for damages arising from personal injuries; the City of McKeesport, vs. the Pittsburgh, McKeesport & Connellsville Railway Company, appellants, an action to determine the liability of the company for a street improvement; Mary Rees and others, appellants, vs. L. N. Clark and others, an action on a contract; F. O. Goodwin and Ethel Hunter, appellants, vs. Mary Jane Colwell, executrix, and others, an action on the construction of a will; L. O. Hays, Sr., appellant, vs. the Forest Oil Company, an action on an oil gas lease.

FIRE FOLLOWS EXPLOSION; TWO PEOPLE ARE BURNED

Daniel Dixon and his wife were seriously burned in a gas explosion which destroyed their home, 1508 Nixon street, Allegheny, and damaged the home of John Hannan, 1510 Nixon street, shortly before noon yesterday. The explosion was caused by a gas stove in the dining room. After Dixon sent in an alarm he returned to the house and on opening the dining-room door flames burst out and enveloped him and his wife. The house was totally destroyed by the fire and the loss is about $1,500. The rear part of the Hannan house was badly damaged, the loss being placed at $700. Dixon is at the home of a neighbor in a critical condition.

Klopfer Charges Embezzlement.

J. F. Buckheimer was yesterday committed to jail by Alderman John Groetzinger on a charge of embezzlement, preferred by A. L. Klopfer of 630 Smithfield street, who alleges Buckheimer collected for him $40.25 which he failed to turn in.

TELLS TWO TALES; GETS LONG TERM

Court Makes Example of Prisoner Who Turned State's Evidence, Then Denied It.

COMEDY-DRAMA IS ENACTED

A prisoner who turned state's evidence in a case, then went on the witness stand and denied everything he had previously said, was made an example of by Judge Brown in criminal court yesterday. The offender was Frederick Keiner of Allegheny, a former employe of the National Casket Company, in Beaver avenue, which factory was robbed of several thousand dollars' worth of brass fittings. Keiner was arrested and confessed, implicating Edward St. Clair, Louis Miller and Leonard Wagner. When called for trial yesterday Keiner entered a plea of guilty, and repeated his confession to County Detective Robinson. When St. Clair was placed on trial he denied he had made the confession, and later on the stand said he never saw the man before. St. Clair was acquitted on instructions from the court, who, after hearing Detective Robinson's story, corroborated by a deputy sheriff, gave Keiner three years in the penitentiary. This he afterwards reduced to two years.

The case of W. C. Porter, tried for larceny by bailee, furnished a comedy-drama for the court and spectators. Evelyn Austin, a negress, accused him of keeping $22 she had given him because, after she had been robbed two nights in succession in a Wylie avenue boarding house, "she found Porter the only Christian in the house." Porter repeatedly promised to return it, and always told her it was safe with him, but she never got her money back, she says.

Wants Her Husband to Work.

Dora Wellendorf says if she had to live with her husband, Ferdinand Wellendorf, she would go crazy, in her testimony before the commissioner in the divorce proceedings she instituted against him. She said he is very dirty and filthy in his habits, and that she has known him to go for three days without washing his face or hands. She also alleged he treated her cruelly.

Charles Wright has answered his wife, Annie Wright, in her suit for divorce, denying the charge of cruelty she makes and accusing her of desertion. The master in the suit of Rachel D. Wallace against William H. Wallace, recommends a decree on grounds of cruelty and indignities.

Decrees were granted in the following cases: Irma F. Magyar vs. Balint Magyar, desertion; James H. Baker vs. Emma J. Baker, cruelty. Libels were filed as follows: Alleging desertion, Ernest Ries vs. Nellie Ries, Selma Reed vs. James H. Reed, and Minnie McIntosh vs. Rad A. McIntosh, alleging cruelty; Mary Seik vs. Frederick Seik, alleging indignities; Francisa Dellevechia vs. Antonio Dellevechia, alleging infidelity; Augus. Stiffel vs. Sarah E. Stiffel, and naming Willard Burns, co-respondent.

John Moorhead, Jr., has filed exceptions to the $50,000 bond of the Pennsylvania railroad to condemn his property in Sharpsburg for railroad purposes. He claims the road does not need the property, that it is worth $1,250,000, and that it is being taken to compel him to use the railroads instead of the river for transportation purposes. He says if the land is taken he will be cut off from the river, which is a valuable privilege on account of the new dams.

Judge Buffington heard an argument for the release of John W. Robb from the penitentiary. He was sent up in 1902 for robbing a post office. It is claimed the proper commutation was not allowed because Robb is slightly affected mentally. Assistant Attorney Gibson thought this was a matter for the warden, and the court took the case under advisement.

Suit on a Patent.

The Schmetz Wire Glass Company and the Missouri Wire Glass Company filed a bill in equity in the United States circuit court against the Dunbar Continuous Glass Press Company. They claim that a process by Edmund Schmetz is practically being used by the Dunbar company, and that no accounting has been made to the plaintiffs.

A bill in equity was filed by S. J. Shoemaker and on his petition C. D. Bartean was appointed receiver of the Star Laundry Company. Shoemaker says he owns 74 shares of stock in the company and is a creditor to the amount of $1,200. The city is threatening to sue for $800 water rent, and other debts amount to about $10,000. The assets are worth $13,000. A. G. Myers, president of the company, joined in the bill.

Writs of peremptory mandamus were issued against the Society of St. Josaphat requiring the reinstatement of the following to membership: Martin Kubiak, John Szymborski, Stanislaus Zmudzinski, John Rodziewicz and Stanislaus Winiecki.

Similar writs were issued against the St. Anthony Benefecial society to reinstate Kubiak, Winiecki and Rodziewicz to membership.

S. F. and Mary Sullivan have sued J. W. Neffer for $5,000 damages for alleged malicious prosecution.

JEROME MUST STAND ALONE.

New York's Appellate Division Decides Against Placing His Name on the Republican Ticket.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—The appellate division of the New York state supreme court today handed down a decision refusing to grant an application for a mandamus to compel the New York city board of elections to place the name of William T. Jerome on the official ballot as a nominee of the Republican party for district attorney.

The application was made by William Halpin, chairman of the Republican county committee, who announced after the decision had been handed down that he would accept the ruling without further action. The five justices who made the adverse ruling today were unanimous in their opinion. The ruling was based on the failure of Charles A. Flammer, the candidate chosen by the Republican nominating conventions, to give his declination to the board of elections within the prescribed time limit.

WOULD REDUCE CAPITAL.

Armenia Insurance Company Stockholders Will Meet for That Purpose.

The stockholders of the Armenia Insurance Company have been called to meet December 11 to vote on the proposition to reduce the capital stock from $250,000 to $200,000.

Secretary Robert H. Marshall of the company said yesterday that it has been found that the $50,000 capital can be used by the company to better advantage as surplus, and that $200,000 capital is satisfactory in every state in the country.

The Elusive Mr. Loose Is Still at Large.

By MR. GEORGE LOOSE.

Thousands of people yesterday scrutinized me very closely and many remarks were made as I passed by, viz.: "Don't that man look very much like the Elusive Mr. Loose of the Leader Department Store?" These words kept ringing in my ear at every step and every moment I expected to be captured. Now I realize the feelings of a criminal who is trying to avoid capture. That feeling of distrust which haunts you at every turn. You cannot realize the feelings of a person in my position. I can have no friend to advise or consult with. A man in my position is under great nervous strain and often during the past few nights while I lay awake unable to compose my mind to sleep. I wished that the morrow would mean my capture. I fain would go into further details, but my pen is not capable of picturing my feelings, but I trust that after my capture I may have the pleasure of meeting you and relating to you my experiences as a fugitive.

I will positively remain in the store and vicinity all day. I will not leave the neighborhood bounded by Fourth, Market, Third avenue and Wood street until 5:30 P. M., unless before that time I am caught.

Ferris-Beckeman.

Quite an interesting wedding last evening was that of Miss Jeannette Wilson Ferris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ferris of Hazelwood, and Erle W. Beckeman, which was a home event at 8:30 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. M. Wallace, pastor of the Eighth United Presbyterian church of this city. Miss Ida Niele was the maid of honor, and in the party were also the best man and ushers, James F. Ferris, Thomas Ferris, Jr., and Kenneth Gray. The bride wore a white messaline gown with trimmings of rose point lace and carried a shower boquet of white roses. As jewels she wore a cameo bracelet, necklace and broch, gifts from the bridegroom's mother in Sweden. Miss Niele was gowned in pink net. After the wedding supper Mr. Beckeman and his bride left for the east. They expect to make their home in Wilkinsburg until sailing, in a few months, for a visit to Mr. Beckeman's former home in Gottenberg, Sweden.

Morris-Byers Wedding Day.

The wedding of Miss Caroline M. Morris and John Frederic Byers will take place on Wednesday, December 6, at the bride's home in Arthurs, near Philadelphia. The wedding, although taking place out of town, is of unusual interest to the smart sets of Pittsburgh and Allegheny. Miss Morris, who is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Effingham B. Morris, was the house guest of Mr. Byers' sister, Mrs. J. Denniston Lyon, at her home in Sewickley Heights over the recent horse show. Her family has a summer home in Watch Hill, adjoining that occupied by the family of her fiance. The latter is a son of the late Alexander M. Byers and of Mrs. Mary A. Fleming Byers, of Ridge avenue, Allegheny. He is a prominent clubman and is also well known in golf circles. The hour for the wedding has not yet been set nor have the attendants been selected.

Will Be Wedded Quietly.

The wedding of Miss Alice Glendenning McNair and Wesley Hamilton Kelley will take place very quietly on the afternoon of Wednesday, November 22. The bride is a daughter of James A. McNair at whose home in Arch street, Allegheny, the marriage will be quietly solemnized at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, the Rev. H. J. Giles, pastor of the Arch Street Methodist Episcopal church, officiating. Only the members of the two families will witness the ceremony and there will be but two attendants, Miss Dorothy McNair, the small sister of the bride, who will serve as flower girl, and William Kelley, who will act as his brother's best man. After a short eastern trip Mr. Kelley and his bride will return to Allegheny to keep house for the latter's grandfather, Arthur Glendenning, in Sandusky street.

Mrs. Brooks Is Hostess.

The luncheon given yesterday by Mrs. Frank Fabor Brooks was a beautifully appointed affair. It was conducted at her home in Shields in honor of Miss Ruth Wolfer and Miss Helen Willard Davis, two of the season's debutantes. The other guests were sister-debutantes from the East End, Allegheny and the Sewickley valley and included Miss Elizabeth Hamilton, Miss Evelyn Black, Miss Hester Singer, Miss Helen Ayres, Miss Annabelle W. Baggaley, Miss Inez Warren, Miss Mary Whittier Shields, Miss Euphemia Bakewell, Miss Elizabeth Irwin, Miss Mary Jennings, Miss Katherine Reed, Miss Marion Clapp, Miss Lyda McKnight and the sister of the hostess, Miss Susan Shields Williams. The centerpieces on the two tables were of pink chrysanthemums.

Musicale at "Oak Manor."

The gates leading to "Oak Manor," the magnificent home of the Hon. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kirke Porter, are open once more and Pittsburgh friends of the master and mistress are rejoicing to have them back in their midst after an absence of several years. Mr. and Mrs. Porter will issue cards today for a musicale which they will give at their home on the evening of Monday, November 13, the hours to be after 9:30 o'clock. The host and hostess have not occupied their Pittsburgh homestead for three years, one of which was spent abroad and the other two in Washington, D. C. They have not yet decided whether the entire winter will be spent at "Oak Manor," but both express themselves as well pleased to be in Pittsburgh again.

Card Parties of Yesterday.

Nine tables of six hand euchre were in play at the card party given yesterday afternoon by Miss Idesta Kirk and her sister, Miss Marion Kirk, at their home in Sheridan avenue, East End. Miss Jessie Brown Scott, the bride-elect of Dr. Alric Garland, was the special guest of honor. The rooms occupied by the card tables were prettily decorated with smilax and yellow and white chrysanthemums.

Miss Susan Vallance Tiers, another bride-elect of the present month, was guest of honor at a card party given last evening. The hostess was Miss Helen Hamilton of Oakmont, who entertained with ten tables at which six hand euchre was the game played. Rhododendrons were used to decorate.

They will be at home in Allegheny after December 1.

Johnson-Garrett.

Miss Mary Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Johnson of Homestead, and James Garrett, also of Homestead, were married yesterday afternoon, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. J. H. Laverty, pastor of the Ashley Memorial Methodist Episcopal church. The bride was attended by Miss Ana Johnson, the best man being Benjamin Garrett.

Applying for a Charter.

The board of managers of the Industrial Home for Crippled Children has decided to apply for a charter and a committee composed of John B. Jackson, James I. Kay and George B. Gordon from the advisory board is preparing the papers which will be presented at a special meeting to be held next week. At that time plans will also be discussed for the erection of the new building in the lot at Denniston and Shady avenue, East End, given for the purpose some months ago. The board is anxious to commence the work of building very soon and just how soon will be determined at the meeting next week. The name of the institution has been changed by the addition of the word "Industrial" to the former title, "Home for Crippled Children." The home, which was founded less than three years ago, is located in a house belonging to the Thaw estate in Margaretta street. There the achildren who have been received are given an industrial training as well as a home and some educational advantages. Those who can go have been sent to the public schools, where they come in contact with other children and are thus less liable to become moody and morbid because of their afflictions. Miss Louise Taylor is in charge of the school and kindergarten work in the home, and also directs the industrial training. The home was founded by Miss Mary Irwin Laughlin as a memorial to her father and mother. The officers of the board of managers are the president, Mrs. Alexander M. Speer; first vice president, Mrs. Henry Collins; third vice president, Mrs. John G. Holmes; fourth vice president, Mrs. Frank S. Bissell; treasurer, Mrs. James I. Kay; secretary, Miss Mary Irwin Laughlin. The medical and surgical corps is composed of Dr. William H. Mercur, Dr. G. M. Kelly and Dr. T. G. Simonton.

Annual Suburban Rally.

The suburban clubs of Allegheny county were entertained yesterday afternoon by the Woman's club of Braddock in Calvary Presbyterian church. Nearly 200 women were present, the clubs represented being those of Edgewood, Homestead, McKeesport, Wilkinsburg, Turtle Creek and Braddock. Among the guests were several of the presidents of Pittsburgh clubs. The address of welcome was made by Mrs. E. W. Dean, president of the Braddock club, and then followed the address of the day by the Rev. Fortunato of Pittsburgh on "Italy and the Religious and Moral Condition of the Italian People." Mrs. W. C. Anderson of Wilkinsburg gave a report of the meeting of the state federation at Cambridge Springs, followed by three-minute reports by representatives of each club. Floyd J. St. Clair, the Braddock composer, presided at the organ, and solos were rendered by Miss Bess E. Williams of Edgewood and Mrs. Charles Boax of McKeesport. At the close of the program luncheon was served in the church dining-room.

Those in charge of the affair were: Program committee, Mrs. Fred N. Pilgram, chairman; decorating committee, Mrs. A. M. Scott, chairman; social committee, Mrs. W. A. Schooley. The aides in the dining-room were Mrs. Samuel Hamilton, Mrs. G. L. McGeary, Mrs. A. B. Stevenson, Mrs. A. M. Scott, Mrs. A. L. Petty, Mrs. Paul Holland, Mrs. Fred N. Music at the Loan Exhibition.

An exceptional musical program will be presented this evening at the loan exhibition to be given in the Pittsburgh Conservatory of Music for the benefit of the Lawrenceville wash house and baths. The program will include two piano solos by Miss Martha Groff, "Enchanted Bells," by Haberbier, and a Schubert-Tausig march. Miss Myrtle J. McAteer will sing a couple of songs, "Songs My Mother Taught Me," by Dvorak and "Norwegian Love Songs," by Blough Lighter. A romanze by Svendsen will be given by Miss Grace Summers, while a trio of songs, "I'll Sing the Songs of Araby," W. C. Wills; "I Love and the World Is Mine," Clayton Johns, and "The Sweetest Flower That Grows," C. B. Hawley, will be sung by Ord Bohannon, who has recently returned from study in Europe. There will be music during the afternoon also, while tea will be served in the gallery of the music hall both afternoon and evening, among the women presiding over the tea table being Mrs. Theodore Tennele, Mrs. Reese Lindsay and Miss Kate Smith. The loan exhibition is one of unusual interest, presenting, in addition to its oriental rugs and draperies, one of the finest and rarest collections of miniatures in this country. It is owned by D. C. Clapp. Mrs. D. C. Clapp is the president of the Pittsburgh Baths association, operating the Lawrenceville wash house and baths. Mrs. W. L. Richey is chairman of the committee in charge of the entertainment day, which will be continued from 2 o'clock until 11.

Will Exhibit in Carnegie Galleries.

The Duquesne Ceramic club has secured permission to hold its annual exhibit in the Carnegie Art galleries the third week in March, 1906. The club has been given the entire week and will later announce the days during which its exhibition will be conducted, which may possibly extend through the week. Arrangements are now being made for the display of the traveling exhibit of the league of American Mineral Painters, which will come to Pittsburgh from Detroit to be shown in this city on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, November 16, 17 and 18. The exhibit will include about 100 examples of the ceramic painters' art, the collection being composed of the best work of painters in Chicago, New York, Cleveland, San Francisco, Detroit and other cities in which are located clubs whose members belong to the league. When in Pittsburgh the exhibit will be shown in the windows and store of Hamilton & Clark, Penn avenue, between Fourth and Fifth streets, and nearly opposite the Hotel Lincoln. It will be shown under the auspices of the Duquesne Ceramic club, which is a member of the League of American Mineral Painters.

Conference for Closer Federation.

Greater enthusiasm among the city clubs and club women in the joint civic interests they have taken up is the aim of the conference of the directors of the permanent civic committee of Western Pennsylvania and the presidents of the city clubs which will be held next Tuesday afternoon, November 7, in the chapel of the Methodist building, Penn avenue and Cecil alley. "Hereafter it is proposed," said Mrs. Franklin P. Iams yesterday, "that the quarterly meetings of the permanent civic committee will be conferences with the presidents of the civic clubs, who in this way, it is expected, will become more entrusted with the civic work inaugurated and will carry that enthusiasm back to their clubs. It may be that conferences will be held in other places in Western Pennsylvania, such as Washington, McKeesport, Braddock and elsewhere, where the club women are interested in civic work. But the principal aim of the meeting next week is to draw the city clubs closer together in their work for the juvenile court, the tenement house reform and the public baths. The summer play grounds also would have come before the meeting but for the decision of the joint committee at its meeting last week to become an incorporated body."

The Young Women's Boarding Home, 214 Stockton avenue, Allegheny, has been turned over to the management of the Women's Christian association, and will hereafter be conducted under the name of the Bruno Boarding Home for Young Business Women. Mark Rose, Mrs. Alexander King, Mrs. J. M. Guffey and Mrs. William House.

Card Party for Relief Work.

The Relief club will give a card party the latter part of November to raise funds for its relief work this winter. Plans were made yesterday at the regular monthly meeting of the club and a special meeting will be held November 15 to complete arrangements. The Relief club during July and August sent 250 children to Idlewood to the summer home the club established there, the children each having a two weeks' outing. The relief work during the winter will consist in caring for the sick and destitute, providing clothing, hospital supplies, often medical attention and a nurse's care. The young women in the club make no special occasion of Thanksgiving day, but on Christmas baskets of good things and simple gifts are sent to families where they are needed and will be appreciated.

Water Filtration.

The first monthly meeting of the biological section of the Academy of Science and Art will be held in the rooms of the central board of education, Fifth avenue high school, on Tuesday evening, November 7, at 8:15 o'clock. RURAL FREE DELIVERY ROUTES ARE INCREASING

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—The report of Fourth Assistant Postmaster General De Graw shows that 99 new rural free delivery routes were established in Pennsylvania since June 30, in the same period 111 new routes were established in Ohio and 57 in West Virginia.

While these figures show that the service is being rapidly extended in these states, it does not tell the whole story. In many of the counties of Pennsylvania county service has been recently instituted. This does not necessarily increase the number of routes, but it provides for a more systematic and perfect delivery in the rural district.

Since the work of establishing rural free delivery service has been inaugurated, 3,372 petitions for the service have been investigated by the inspectors in Ohio, 2,504 in Pennsylvania and 298 in West Virginia. There have been 722 adverse reports on these petitions from Ohio, 595 from Pennsylvania and 54 from West Virginia. In Ohio 158 petitions are still pending, in Pennsylvania 122 and in West Virginia 58. The report shows that there was in operation on November 1 in Ohio 2,882, in Pennsylvania, 1,377 and in West Virginia 184.

Mrs. Fiske's Engagement.

Those that missed seeing Mrs. Fiske in "Leah Kleschna" will have much to regret. Too much praise cannot be given to Mrs. Fiske and her superb company. The play has aroused great interest, and the Belasco has been simply crowded at every performance. It has been necessary to place the orchestra under the stage. It is unfortunate that Mrs. Fiske cannot remain at the Belasco for at least two weeks.

Hawley on His Way Home.

Abijah Bead is the Pang-Yanger, a man with a strange and almost weird sense of justice and revenge, who punishes his faithless wife by bringing her son to grow up in the community where she is best known so that his startling resemblance will be a constant punishment to her. BOOM IN READING STOCK UNSETTLED THE MARKET

Advance in Call Loan Rates Also Stimulate the Reaction at the Close—Philadelphia Co Made Another New High Mark in Pittsburgh.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The transactions on the New York stock exchange yesterday reached 1,855,500 shares, the largest total for any day for weeks. The dealings, however, were congested in a few specialties, and there was great irregularity to the course of prices.

The real feature of the day was the boom in Reading common, which carried the stock from 128⅜ to 130. The latter record-breaking price was reached late in the afternoon. Immediately thereafter there was a violent break to 123¾, but the close was at a net gain of 2⅝ per cent. The movement had an unsettling effect upon the remainder of the market, which sold off rapidly, and the lowest prices of the day were reached during the last half hour. There was a recovery from the extreme low point in the final dealings, but the market closed feverish and unsettled.

The street laid much stress upon a statement credited to President Mitchell of the Miners' union that there would be no labor troubles in the anthracite coal trade this winter or next spring; but this would hardly warrant the bidding of the stock up to a price that represented less than 3 per cent on the investment. The thing which apparently frightened traders was that an extensive short interest existed in the stock, and that it was being unmercifully squeezed. There has been a great deal of gossip lately regarding the strong position of Reading, and there have been predictions that the stock would "gross" Pennsylvania before the close of the year. Still, this was not sufficient to warrant the price established yesterday. It is a more reasonable supposition that the stock was oversold, and that the pool in it took advantage of the speculative position. This view is strengthened by the fact that last week the trading in it reached 625,000 shares, an abnormally large total, and all the more so in the case of Reading, which is largely held by Baltimore & Ohio and Lake Shore.

Wall street did not pay much if any attention to the lower quotations received from London or to the reports of revolution in Russia. English consols were 3-16 lower and Russian 4s declined 1¼ per cent in the London market. Foreign quotations for American securities were also lower, and it was estimated that London sold fully 30,000 shares Missouri, Kansas & Texas. Activity in the latter stock was less pronounced than the day before, but much credence is placed in the reports that control of the road is changing hands, and probably in the interests of the Hill system of roads.

The standard railroad stocks were not very active, and the net changes were rather small. Pennsylvania advanced to 146⅝, the buyer being entitled to the 3 per cent semi-annual dividend declared this week, but it closed only slightly higher for the day. The Harriman stocks, St. Paul and Canadian Pacific, closed ⅛ to 1½ per cent lower than on Wednesday.

In the industrial list American Smelting made a new high record and National Lead was again active, but both lost all their advance and closed at a loss. There was special activity in the railroad equipment stocks, and American Locomotive and Steel Spring advanced to the highest prices of the year. Tennessee Coal and Iron was the strongest of its group, advancing to 94¾ and closing at 93¾. The United States Steel issues were moderately active and firm and closed a shade higher.

The reaction in the final hour was no doubt stimulated by the advance in call loans. The rate had declined to 4½ per cent, but late in the day rose to 6 per cent and closed at that figure. The banks have submitted a heavy loss in cash this week as a result of treasury operations, and shipments of currency to the interior have been resumed on a large scale. The weekly statement of the Bank of England made a weak showing.

The activity and strength of Philadelphia Company was again the feature of the local stock market. On sales of 1,176 shares the stock advanced to 51½ and closed at that price bid. Local traders were entirely in the dark as to the underlying cause of the movement, but were convinced that the buying was for account of eastern parties. The object of the latter remains a mystery. The only other active stock was Pittsburgh Coal common, which sold at the uniform price of 75⅞. The preferred closed a fraction lower at 54⅞. River Coal preferred sold unchanged at 24½. Coal trade conditions are steadily improving, but stocks of the bituminous coal companies continue unsympathetic. Ohio Fuel Supply was firm and higher, but Manufacturers Light and Heat remained dull and unchanged at 35¾. Lustre Mining continued weak, declining to 32 and closing at 30 bid, 32¼ asked. The Westinghouse stocks were firm, Air Brake selling at 150 and Electric advancing to and closing at 89¾ bid. Brewing stocks were dull, but there was a good demand for Independent Brewing bonds, and $14,000 changed hands at 107. A small lot of German National bank of Allegheny sold at 530, the highest ever quoted.

National Bank Notes Redeemed.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—National bank notes received for redemption, $732,832; government receipts from internal revenue, $828,819; customs, $1,132,146; miscellaneous, $207,225; expenditures, $1,880,000.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

Reading common, paying 4 per cent on par, has looked as much too nigh at 128 as Northern Pacific common, paying 4 on par, looked too high above 125 in 1901, and the subsequent movement in Northern Pacific, which carried the price to 1,000 and carried the markets of the world to the verge of a panic, has never been forgotten by Wall street. Every time a stock becomes active and gets out of line with its investment yield there is fear of another "corner." That is what happened yesterday when Reading jumped to 130. There was a mild bear panic, and the whole market was unsettled. For the first four days of this week the dealings in Reading on the New York exchange have foot up more than 650,000 shares. Last week the total was 625,000 shares. Here is a total of 1,275,000 shares handled in New York alone. The stock has also been very active in the Philadelphia market. The total issue is only 1,400,000 shares, and of this total it is estimated that more than half is locked up in the treasuries of Baltimore & Ohio and Lake Shore and in the strong boxes of individual interests. From this it is plain that the movement yesterday and for some days past has been speculative. After the close of the market yesterday the bulls were stoutly denying that there is any "corner" in the stock. There will be no "corner" such as was witnessed in Northern Pacific, but there may be enough of one to become a disturbing factor.

The Philadelphia Company did not earn its common stock dividend in the September quarter, but it more than earned the dividend for the nine months, and it has now entered the best quarter of the year, both for its natural gas and its traction business. July and August, which figured in the September quarter, are months of lightest consumption of gas for fuel and electricity for light, and the traction earnings also suffer from the closing of the schools and the absence from the city of pleasure seekers. A director of the Philadelphia Company who has been connected with the property for years recently made the prediction that by the end of the next five or six years the company would be practically a traction property, with the natural gas and electric light departments contributing a small proportion of gross income.

Iron City Trust advanced 1 per cent to 117. Commonwealth Trust was unchanged at 186. Equitable Trust declined to 166 asked.

The continued decline in Lustre Mining and the lack of support during the past two weeks is explained by a bull on the stock. It is said: "Some of the larger holders of Lustre are understood to have been caught in the failure of the Enterprise National bank—not to any great extent, but enough to be unpleasant. Some of these holders have from $10 to $20 a share profit in Lustre at current prices, and they have probably been selling some of their Lustre to take care of any unexpected obligations which may arise. There has been considerable quiet gossip circulating since the Enterprise closed its doors, and I think the weakness in Lustre may be traced directly to that event."

No contrast could be greater than that between the shares of the anthracite coal and the bituminous coal companies. The coal trade is improving, and the coke trade is booming, but there is no life in the market for Pittsburgh Coal or River Coal issues. If the industrial activity continues—and from the recent report of the United States Steel Corporation showing unfilled orders on hand it should continue for another year at least—there should soon begin to be an improvement in coal stocks in this market.

The annual report of the Fidelity Title and Trust Company will show a surplus after the payment of dividends at the rate of 16 per cent amounting to $320,000, of $236,819.92. This shows net earnings of the year of $552,819.92, bringing the undivided profits account up to $1,771,638.61, or a total of $6,711,635.61 in capital, surplus and undivided profits. The earnings for the year increased about $47,000, as compared with the previous year.

Official clearances at the Pittsburgh stock exchange for October were 220,582 shares, comparing with 214,180 shares in September, and 357,895 shares in October, 1904.

A sale of La Belle Iron Works stock was reported in the local curb market at 185, an advance of 20 points over the last previous sale reported this week.

The National Cast Steel stock was acquired by the Truss Steel Tie Company in exchange for a factory site and buildings for the former concern. The Truss Steel Company has recently installed its system of tract construction on the P. & L. E railroad at McKees Rocks and in the New York subway near One Hundred and Forty-eighth street and Lennox avenue, and work is about to begin on the Bessemer & Lake Erie at Euclid, Pa., for similar equipment.

In the statement of the United States Steel Corporation, issued yesterday, there appears the item "specifically set aside for contemplated appropriations and expenditures, $2,500,000." Inquiry of officials of the company has thus far failed in obtaining any response as to what such appropriations and expenditure may be.

The Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic stocks were brought into sudden prominence as a side issue to the long-continued speculation in Canadian Pacific. They were designed as a diversion from the persistent speculation in some of the very high-priced stocks, which is looked upon with disfavor by some of the banking interests owing to the large increase in this class of stocks in the collateral for loans at this high prices to which they have been rushed lately.

In the Philadelphia market Lehigh Valley reached 90, a new high price, and closed at 88 bid.

General Electric closed 1 per cent higher and Westinghouse Electric also advanced and closed at the highest. An official of the General Electric Company says: "The General Electric's business has increased something like 40 per cent within the last year or two and additional working capital will be beneficial. There has been no decision as to the terms of the new issue of stock or whether all the stock will be issued at once or not. At present the General Electric does not contemplate taking over additional properties."

Time money continued very firm in the New York market and foreign exchange recovered from Wednesday's reaction. The Bank of England made a very weak return with its proportion of reserve to liabilities down to the extraordinary low proportion of 38.56 per cent. Open market discounts hardened in London, call money rose sharply and sterling exchange at Paris declined a fraction. New Orleans took another $400,000 from New York by transfer through the sub-treasury.

THE MONEY MARKET.

Commercial borrowers are paying 6 per cent. The comptroller's call for a national bank statement is looked for within the next few days. Clearing house comparisons:

Foreign Money Markets.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—Money was in good demand in the market today owing to repayments to the Bank of England. The anticipated ease of money was delayed. Discounts were slightly firmer.

Trading on the stock exchange opened hesitating, dealers finding difficulty in gauging the Russian situation. The tone improved somewhat later and a fair amount of business was transacted. The market was relieved by the statement that a new Japanese loan has not yet been decided upon. Consols were dull on the firmness of money, recovered a portion of their decline and closed easier. Home rails were strong, stimulated by the latest earnings.

Americans opened firm, relapsed to below parity and rallied to well above parity. The movements were irregular. Prices closed firm but below the best quotations of the day. Erie, Missouri Pacific and United States Steel were the features.

READING ADVANCES AS SHORTS RUSH TO COVER

Russian Situation Makes Market Heavy—Bank Statements Not Promising.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—The Herald this (Friday) morning says:

Stocks were highly irregular yesterday in a very active speculative market. The professional bull party set about driving the short interest to cover, but rather overdid the matter in their chief gambling specialty, Reading common. Partly as a result of the efforts of the shorts to cover, but more in consequence of the utter recklessness of the pool, Reading common was advanced six points to 128. The general list, which had ruled very strong up to this time, broke under the influence of the movement, the danger of which was everywhere recognized. Reading lost some of its improvement with the rest, but closed at a net gain of 3⅜ points. Sentiment was considerably disturbed by the incident, but the pool and clique operators moved up other specialties and the list rallied from the lowest. Dealings showed a marked increase in volume, but continued of a pool and clique character, with business confined largely to old and new gambling counters.

There were no influential developments in the way of news. The Russian situation was much confused, but upon the surface was not wholly reassuring. This resulted in heaviness in foreign markets, but the local professional element gave no attention to news of any character. The foreign bank returns were not favorable and there was a significant recovery in demand sterling exchange to $4 86.70. Money was practically unchanged, but in view of the period of the month, rates were reckoned as easy. There were a number of special movements in specialties in the stock list and these were accompanied by a wide variety of stock jobbing explanations put out by the respective pools and cliques engaged in the operations. The course of the municipal campaign appears to be without influence on the market. The speculative spirit controlled everything.

WHEAT MAKES STRONG GAIN ON RUSSIAN NEWS

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Renewed rioting in Russia caused a strong finish today in the wheat market here. At the close the price of wheat for May delivery was up ⅞c. December corn shows a gain of ¼@¼c. Oats are up ¼@⅜c. Provisions are practically unchanged.

Influenced by the continued serious condition of affairs in Russia, the wheat market opened firm. The May option was up ⅛c to ⅜c at 89⅝c to 90c. December was a shade to ¼@⅜c higher at 85¾c to 86c. Continental houses were active buyers. Many longs who sold out yesterday reinstated their lines early in the session. Decreased receipts in the northwest helped to stimulate demand. Offerings notwithstanding became steadily liberal and the market developed considerable weakness. May declined to 88⅝@89¼c, while December sold off to 85¾c. Selling credited to a leading bull started the decline. Continental houses, however, soon changed and the market again became strong. Additional advices were received telling of fresh disorders in Russia. This was the main reason for the restoration of strength. Some of the firmness, however, resulted from domestic news. The price of cash wheat at all the leading grain centers of the United States was higher and demand from millers was reported active. Export demand also was more animated. During the last hour shorts were active buyers. Several prominent longs added to their holdings. The highest point of the day was reached at 90¾@90⅞c. December advanced to 86¾c. The market closed strong with May at 90¾c. Final quotations on contract grades were 89¼@89⅝c. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 211,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 1,050,000 bushels compared with 1,029,000 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 794 cars against 794 cars last week and 562 a year ago.

After a slight decline early on selling by commission houses the corn market became firm and closed at about the highest point of the day. The easier tone at the start was due mainly to a decline at Liverpool. The market derived some strength from a report made by a crop journal. The report claimed that corn in shock had been damaged by recent rains. Another bullish factor was an improvement in export demand. December opened unchanged at 43¾c and sold between 43¾@44c and closed at 43¾c. May ranged between 46@46¼c and closed at 46⅛c. Local receipts were 189 cars with 11 of contract grade.

A surprisingly large increase in country acceptances had a bearish effect on the oats market early in the session, but prices yielded only a trifle to selling attributed to this cause. Later the market became firm on active demand from bull traders. Cash and export demand was fairly active. The market closed firm with prices at the highest at 28⅞c to 29c, sold between 29⅛@30¼c and closed at the highest point. May ranged between 32¼@32¾c and 32¾c and closed at 32⅝c. Local receipts were 257 cars.

Provisions were firm after slight weakness early in the day. Selling of January products by a local packer accounted for the easier tone at the start. An advance of 5c in the price of live hogs stimulated demand later in the session. At the close January pork was up 2½@5c, at $12 50@12 52½. Lard and ribs were each a shade higher at $6 80@6 82½ and $6 82½ respectively.

Board of trade will be closed Tuesday, November 7, election day.

The leading futures as reported by John D. Armstrong & Co., Farmers Bank building, Pittsburgh, members of the Chicago board of trade, ranged as follows:

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—The market for coffee futures opened steady at unchanged prices to an advance of 5 points on a scattered demand in the absence of selling orders and later showed increasing firmness as a result of bullish private cables from Brazil claiming a less favorable outlook for the coming crop and predicting an advance in prices. OPEN SEASON BRINGS GAME INTO MARKET

Rabbits and Squirrels Are Now Among the Commodities for Pittsburgh Epicures.

The markets were generally active yesterday. Potatoes took another jump and are now being sold at from 80 to 85 cents a bushel. The demand for Irish potatoes is good and the supply of fine quality scarce. Sweet potatoes are also having a good sale and remain rather steady in price.

Apples are still selling well and a good price is being received. The supply of fancy goods is rather limited. The demand for pears is good, with the supply fair.

Fresh game is now making its appearance on the market, as the season is open and hunters are active throughout the country. Rabbits and squirrels are now on sale at reasonable prices. The quotations yesterday were: Rabbits, 8c to 40 cents a pair; squirrels, $2 00 and $2 25 a dozen.

The butter market is still firm, with a heavy demand for fine creamery.

Canned goods of all kinds are finding a ready sale, with large calls for peas and corn.

Sugar remained steady yesterday, as did flour. The expected advance in the price of flour has not yet materialized.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

A dispatch from Bullfrog, Nev., says: Charles M. Schwab, the Pittsburgh magnate, has ordered hoisting machinery to be used for the quick development of the Crystal claims, which, together with John McKane, he owns in Bullfrog, and it is stated on reliable authority that the Montgomery-Shoshone mine here will pass into his hands on the 1st of January for a consideration of $3,000,000. Mr. Schwab's representatives here also announce that reduction mills and machinery will be used by him before springtime, and here will be treated the ores of all mines that are willing to pay reasonable charges. Other companies plan to erect mills in the near future. The smelters at Salt Lake City are using their influence to have rushed to completion the railroad which is now being built from Las Vegas to Bullfrog, and which will give Bullfrog an outlet to Salt Lake City and Los Angeles. Their aim is to get the Bullfrog mines in the habit of shipping their ores to Salt Lake City for treatment there before Schwab can erect his smelting plant on the ground. Some hot competition is promised for the treatment of the Bullfrog ores."

Carstairs, the wealthy Philadelphia distiller, has just purchased a controlling interest in the Denver Mining Company's property, on Bonanza mountain, in the Bullfrog district.

A meeting of the Homestake Extension company has been called in Chicago. The directors and principal stockholders of the company will decide definitely upon plans for the new 100-stamp mill, which is to be erected on the company's property one mile west of Deadwood. The mill will be a complete stamp mill with the cyanide attachment. The work of drifting the tunnel is being pushed, averaging from six to seven feet a day in the face of the tunnel. This is now a point 1,400 feet from the mouth of the tunnel and shows a large body of good free milling ore. The mine is being thoroughly sampled and the new assay office on the property is looking into the ore values with great care.

The Spearfish Gold Mining and Reduction Company has sent out a report of its operations at the mine and mill since the annual report, which was issued last April. The total bullion for the month of September to have been $11,683.65.

A dispatch from Deadwood, S. D., says: "The affairs of the Hidden Fortune Company are being still more complicated. Independent action has been decided upon by the principal Chicago stockholders against this company and those responsible for its present condition. The report of the recent examination, made by Alexander Prussing of Chicago concerning the company's affairs in the Black Hills, The company has claims against it of $127,000, and also a bonded indebtedness of $250,000, which the attorneys for the Chicago stockholders state can be annulled. As a result of the report of the assets and liabilities of the company these stockholders have determined upon a line of action which has in view the further development and reorganization of the company, the cancelling of the bond issue and the operation of the property solely as a commercial venture. Letters have been sent out to all the stockholders concerning the company, its condition and the plan mapped out by the Chicago parties."

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—The coppers had a tendency to drag with the exception of Boston Consolidated, which is being bought heavily by New York interests. There is considerable liquidation in Atlantic, but no new developments in regard to the property to account for it. There was very little market for Arcadian on the decline. North Butte held up well and closed strong. The movement in Boston Consolidated has turned attention to the Utah stocks and U. S. Mining, Bingham and Utah Consolidated were well bought today. Keep in mind that this is a traders market and buy the good stocks on weak days.

The shallow sand territory in Pleasants county presented the best producer in the lower southwest fields. It is located on Mckim creek, Pleasants county, and is the Little Oil Company's No. 10 on the T. J. Little farm. On Sugar creek, Meade district, Tyler county, the American Oil Development Company has drilled its No. 10 on the John Bullman farm into the Maxon sand and has a show for a 5-barrel pumper in that formation. East of Point Pleasant, same county, McCormick & Meloach have drilled their first on the Marshall Van Camp farm into the Maxon sand and it is reported to be good for 12 barrels a day. In the Wick district, Tyler county, the Carter Oil Company's No. 5 on the W. G. Snodgrass farm is holding up at 150 barrels a day. WIGHT CONFERS ON CAR PROBLEM

SEEKING STATION IDEAS HERE

Every possible effort is being made by the railroad officers of the Pittsburgh district to overcome the car shortage. The situation has become such as to command the attention of the executive officers. The shippers continue to call for cars and the heavy coal and ore shipments are expected to keep up until at least November 15. After that period there may be a betterment in this class of equipment for handling coal to distant points and also for taking out of Pittsburgh the immense output of the factories.

C. S. Wight, manager of freight traffic of the Baltimore & Ohio, spent yesterday here in connection with the car problem. He was in conference with a number of the traffic managers of the industrial companies regarding the use of cars. The Baltimore & Ohio recently placed certain restrictions on the use of its cars and conditions were imposed upon shippers so as to get the greatest possible amount of service out of the cars.

The Pennsylvania has also placed restrictions on its cars, with the same object in view. The railroad officers are endeavoring to get the most service from the equipment, but in order to do this the roads must have the co-operation of the big shipping interests, as well as of the smaller shippers.

New Office on Pennsylvania.

The office of assistant to the treasurer has been created on the Pennsylvania lines west. Richard W. Morrison, heretofore paymaster of the Pennsylvania company, has been appointed to the new office for this company and also for the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis Railway Company. John H. Fults has been appointed paymaster of the Pennsylvania company to succeed Mr. Morrison. The new officer will conduct the business of the treasury department under the treasurer and assistant treasurer.

Going to Maj. Byrne's Funeral.

D. F. Maroney, president of the new Uniontown & Wheeling Short Line, left last night for New York to attend the funeral of Maj. John Byrne. Maj. Byrne and Mr. Maroney were closely associated for several years in the management of the Pittsburgh, Shawmut & Northern railroad, of whose board of directors Maj. Byrne was chairman at the time of his death. Mr. Maroney was formerly vice president and general manager of the road, with headquarters at St. Mary's.

Erie Operating Appointments.

The jurisdiction of J. C. Stuart, general manager of the Erie railroad, has been extended over the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton and Chicago, Cincinnati & Louisville roads. A. J. Stone, former general superintendent of the Delaware & Hudson, has been appointed assistant general manager. E. A. Williams, now assistant general manager of the Erie, has been appointed general mechanical superintendent of the entire Erie system. R. H. Bowren, general manager of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton, will succeed George von Neuren as general superintendent of the Erie division from New York to Salamanaca and Buffalo.

Getting Ideas from Local Stations.

The railroad officers of the roads that will use the proposed new Union station in Cleveland are looking about the large cities to get the best ideas for the Forest City. Superintendent A. S. Ingalls of the Cleveland-Indianapolis division of the Big Four, and Superintendent J. K. Russell of the Toledo division of the Lake Shore, both with headquarters in Cleveland, were here to get ideas from the Union, Wabash and Pittsburgh & Lake Erie stations. It is now assured that the new Union station at Cleveland will be built next year. The Pennsylvania will be a party to its construction. As far as can be learned, the terminal will be owned by the Lake Shore in half interest and the Pennsylvania and Big Four the other half interest in equal parts. The site has been secured, it is said, and the preliminary plans prepared.

B. & S. Creates New Divisions.

The Buffalo & Susquehanna Railroad Company has created two divisions of its extended system. They are to be known as the Buffalo division, comprising all that part of the main line and branches north of Wharton, Pa., and the Susquehanna division, comprising all south of Wharton. Headquarters of the Buffalo division were assigned to Galeton, Pa., and for the Susquehanna division at DuBois, where car repair shops are also to be erected. S. P. Henderson was appointed superintendent of the Buffalo division and W. C. Park superintendent of the southern end. The order went into effect November 1. The Susquehanna division extends to the southern terminal of the road at the new mining town of Sagimore in Indiana county.

Fast Service to City of Mexico.

John R. James, central passenger agent of the Missouri Pacific-Iron Mountain route, has just been informed that, beginning December 15, the Iron Mountain will inaugurate semi-weekly limited train service between St. Louis and the City of Mexico. The run is scheduled for 56 hours, the quickest time ever made to Mexico. The trains will leave St. Louis at 11 o'clock on Tuesday and Friday mornings, running over the Iron Mountain, the Texas & Pacific, the International & Great Northern and the National Lines of Mexico, passing through Texarkana, San Antonio and Laredo. The equipment of the service will be new, including an observation parlor car, a compartment sleeping car, a dining car and a composite car.

Police Changes on Lines West.

The following changes have been announced by Superintendent M. F. Bradley of the police department of the Pennsylvania lines west:

J. L. McCain, lieutenant in the Pittsburgh office, resigned, no successor named; C. O. Adams, captain of the Cleveland and Pittsburgh division, transferred to the freight traffic department; D. B. Amos, captain of the Indianapolis division, transferred to the Cleveland division; H. J. Harriman, lieutenant of the Logansport division, promoted to captain of the Indianapolis division; William Strahle, lieutenant at Columbus, promoted to lieutenant of the Logansport division; E. B. Reed, appointed lieutenant at Columbus.

Railroad Notes.

The Panhandle has just placed in service the new block signal system on the Wheeling branch.

W. S. Hoon, baggage master on the Pennsylvania's Beaver Falls express, has returned to duty after a brief illness.

E. H. Gayford, agent for the Pennsylvania lines at Sharon, has returned with his family from a vacation in the east.

D. R. Dunlevy has been appointed Wabash agent at Wheeling, to succeed James Casner, transferred to Terminal Junction.

Edward J. La Roche of the inspection department of the Baltimore & Ohio at Wheeling, has been transferred to Pittsburgh.

On the new schedule of the Baltimore & Ohio Nos. 15, which now leaves here for the east at 9 o'clock, will leave at 9:30 o'clock.

Edward Kestler, a Panhandle conductor, has been appointed night yardmaster at Colliers in place of Patrick McCaulley, transferred to Donnison.

James A. Blair has been appointed master carpenter of the West Penn division of the Pennsylvania, to succeed C. W. Richey, promoted to the Pittsburgh division.

It was officially announced that the electrification of the West Jersey division of the Pennsylvania between Camden and Atlantic City, if made at all, will be the overhead trolley system for local business and not for fast through service.

Pennsylvania coal shipments on the lines east of Pittsburgh and Erie for the week ended October 28 amounted to 1,086,392 tons—715,232 tons of bituminous coal, 253,084 tons of coke and 8,076 tons of anthracite coal. This was the largest week for many months.

A large number of Pennsylvania company employing men will attend the funeral of A. J. Lehout, the veteran baggage master at Leechburg today. A. W. Springer is conducting the Ft. Wayne's Beaver Falls express for Conductor A. T. Stacey while the latter is attending the funeral.

RHEUMATIC PAINS

INVARIABLY YIELD TO DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS

Because the Poisoned Blood Is Made Pure and Inflamed Tissues Healed.

When, with the approach of cold or wet weather, the rheumatic patient feels twinges of pain in the joints and muscles, it is natural to think that the trouble is local and that it is caused by the chill or the damp. The truth is that rheumatism is a disease of the blood, caused by the failure of the body to cast off certain poisons. It is hereditary and often runs in several generations of one family. Cold, dampness and certain localities do promote the development of the disease, but the root of the trouble is always in the blood.

With this fact firmly in mind, it will be readily seen how useless it is to try to cure rheumatism by rubbing liniments on the skin. External applications are of use in securing temporary relief from pain—the cure for rheumatism lies in purifying and enriching the blood. The one remedy that has cured more cases of rheumatism than any other is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and an instance of its power is found in the case of Mrs. Frederick Brown of 40 Sumpter street, Glens Falls, N. Y.

Mrs. Brown, who is now in the prime of life and the mother of a family, was a sufferer from inflammatory rheumatism from the time she was 16. She says: "It first appeared in my knee joints, then in my hips and waist. It became a regular thing that I would be laid up all winter. The rheumatism affected mostly my hands, hips, feet and shoulders. My hands were all puffed up and my feet became deformed. I lost my appetite, couldn't sleep and sometimes I was compelled to cry out, the pain was so intense.

"For several winters I was under the doctor's care and while his medicine relieved the pain for a little while there seemed no prospect for a permanent cure. I was confined to my bed, off and on, for weeks at a time. My limbs swelled dreadfully at times and I was reduced almost to nothing.

"In the spring of 1904, upon the advice of a friend, I began to use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. At that time I wasn't able to do anything and could barely eat enough to keep alive. I felt a change for the better in about a month. I began to eat heartily and I suffered less pain. Of course I kept on the treatment, using care in my diet, and in about three months I was cured. I am entirely well today and do all my own work. One of my daughters was also cured of rheumatism by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and my other daughter has taken them with success for debility. She has greatly improved her strength, appetite and spirits and is a walking testimonial for the pills."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cured Mrs. Brown by driving the rheumatic poisons out of the blood. They don't act on the bowels. They do one thing, and they do it well—they actually make new blood. In that way they root out the cause of most common diseases like anaemia, indigestion, headaches, lumbago, neuralgia, sciatica, spinal weakness and the special ailments of girls and women, who suffer unspeakably when the richness and regularity of their blood becomes disturbed. But you must get the genuine Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, sold by all druggists. If you cannot obtain them readily write the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. A copy of our booklet, "Diseases of the Blood," sent free on request.

Mr. Lawson Was Right--So Are We

When Mr. Lawson first began his attacks on public corporations he was laughed at, but he kept hammering away. How does this refer to us? Only as to the principle that the truth will win in the end. For years, in the newspapers and in the store, we have contended our goods were better and prices lower. Never for a minute have we relaxed. We knew what we were talking about—our public must know it, too. Slowly our stores have grown—slowly, but surely. Today two and one-half acres of floor space—practically an entire city block—is covered with the merchandise we sell. Today, more than ever, we have the public tell us: "Your prices are lower." And we are still growing—will continue to grow, as more people investigate our stocks. More emphatically than ever we state: "Our goods are better, our prices lower." It is true—absolutely true. Comparison is within your power. Compare. The more you compare the more will you become convinced of the advantages in buying here. A dollar saved is a dollar earned. We have gone to some length to tell you what we think you should know, because the end justifies the means. Will you put us to the test? If so, begin at once and cut off a great part of the drain which the holiday season puts on your purse. You can save by buying here—no doubt of it.

This remarkable offer is still in force, until further notice, and hundreds of disappointed Street Car Trading Stamp collectors were sent away from our store happy, having been well started on the delightful path traveled by Security Stamp collectors. There are no dark places or pitfalls in this path, for it is well lighted by the assurance that we, as well as other large and reputable stores, guarantee the redemption of Security Stamps. This means that Security Stamp collectors will never be disappointed.

Street Car Trading Stamps are not worth the paper they are printed upon to us or anyone else (the Street Car Stamp Company having been closed by the sheriff), and this exchange, with the great expense it entails, merely emphasies the generosity and "square deal" policy that has always been characteristic of this great store, and which is responsible for the affection in which it is held by the people of Pittsburgh.

We have always tried to do a little more than is ordinarily expected of a great store, and in turn have been generously rewarded by the confidence of the people, rapid growth and prosperity.

P. S.—Until further notice, we also exchange 1 Security Stamp for 2 S. & H. Green Trading Stamp.
